—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CHINA would like the League of Nations to stop what Chinese call "Russian invasion and Russian massacres."

The Chinese have learned what war through the air means — comparative safety, easy invasion for the enemy, danger, death and helplessness for those attacked.

UNCLE SAM, of course, is invited to interfere and tell Russia what she must do.

It is our business to tell Russia, under the circumstances, exactly as much as we should expect Russia to tell US, if, for instance, we had marines in Nicaragua, or battleships in a foreign port. And we should expect Russia to tell us NOTHING.

RUSSIA'S business is RUSSIA'S business, not ours.

Before we undertake to interfere with a nation making war intelligently and efficiently through the air it would be a good idea for us to learn something about air war on our own account. We don't know anything about it yet.

IN FACT, our Army and Navy aren't quite sure that the airship really amounts to anything, except as an "auxiliary."

We should cure ourselves of that delusion before interfering with any people that understand modern war.

MISS KLINGER, 18, fond of flying, and Mr. Babcock, of Mineola, L. I., were married in the air, far up, the plane going 110 miles an hour.

When the wedding was over, the bride, groom and best man all jumped out of the airplane with parachutes, landing safely.

Interesting, but too much excitement perhaps for one day.

IN OLD days the bride found sufficient excitement in a handful of rice and a shoe tied to the back of a carriage. However, it is better to begin marriage with a jump in a parachute for excitement rather than end it with a jump to Reno or Paris for a divorce.

THE President and some newspapers have asked governors of states what they mean to do in the way of useful work to provide employment. The idea is "what are you going to do to make up for that smash in Wall street?"

W. C. BULOW, governor of South Dakota, replies that South Dakota is not particularly worried about what happens to Wall street. He has observed that when things happen to South Dakota, Wall street takes it calmly.

He says that tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day, "South Dakotans will give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings they enjoy, and be especially thankful for the fact that they are not dependent for their bread and butter upon the wheat grown or cows milked in Wall street."

GOV. BULOW and all the rest of the country is, however, to a great extent dependent on Wall street and what it does.

And the Dakotas might be glad some day to have money and engineers out of Wall street show them how to use those hundreds of millions of tons of lignite now going to waste; that fuel turned into electric power and the electric power used in factories might be better for the Dakotas than raising wheat on land not fit for wheat.

These diagrams usually mean that the man making them is not listening "very hard."

If Rockefeller or Ford called to tell the President of a plan to put 10,000,000 men to work at good wages he would listen and wouldn't do any scribbling as he listened.

When you talk and a man scribbles, make it short. He isn't much interested.

NOT a gay stock market yesterday. A prize ring gentleman who has taken the count of nine is rarely at his best when he rises. But Wall Street has three days of rest ahead, three days to be thankful that things were not worse, three days to remember the wise words written on the Greek Temple: "Nothing in excess."

In Wall Street that means, especially, excess of watered stock.

UNDER ground near the marshy shore of the Bay of Biscay old Clemenceau would be interested to hear that the German newspapers say "we should have won the war, if we had had THE GREATEST FRENCHMAN SINCE NAPOLEON."

NAPOLEON wasn't French as it happens. He was an Italian transplanted in Corsica, never learned to speak or write French correctly.

What would interest Clemenceau is the fact that Germany calls him the greatest warrior since Napoleon.

And he began, not in his youth as Napoleon did, but took charge of the greatest war the world ever saw, when he was long past seventy, and WON it.

Power, Gas, Traction Chiefs Outline Expansion and Improvements Program

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Hoover brought his series of business clinics to a conclusion today by receiving from the powerful utilities kings of the country a highly optimistic report on their 1930 program, which calls for capital and maintenance expenditures of more than two millions of dollars.

The heads of the great gas, electric power and street railway corporations assured Mr. Hoover that not only were they not looking for any retrenchment, but on the contrary were planning expansion and additional projects for 1930.

SLOAN GIVES ESTIMATE

Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company, and also of the National Electric Light Association, acted as spokesman for the group, saying:

"The electric light and power, manufactured and natural gas, and electric railway utilities contemplate the expenditure of $1,400,000,000 during 1930 for new construction and expansion of facilities, an increase over the corresponding expenditures for 1929 of $110,000,000.

"In addition to this amount, they will spend to maintain existing properties $410,000,000."

Obviously, it was pointed out, this program offers assurance of a continued high level of employment for next year, as well as of good business for basic industries such as steel, copper, etc.

The utilities heads were closeted with Mr. Hoover for about an hour and a half and discussed the general situation at length. They could see no reason for envisioning business depressioon.

YOUNG ATTENDS

Among the utilities officials who met with Hoover at the White House were Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company; Samuel Insull, of Chicago, one of the largest holders of public utilities interests in the country, and Sydney Z. Mitchell, of the Electric

P. R. R. OFFERS STOCK RIGHTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Railroad has offered stockholders rights to subscribe for about $72,000,000 in common stock at a par value of $50 a share, in the ratio of one new share for each eight shares held.

The stock is to be allotted to stockholders of record December 7. Proceeds of the new issue are to be used in capital expenditures for improvements all over the system, in co-operation with President Hoover's plan to keep business and industry moving.

The directors also authorized the sale of $18,000,000 of stock to employes, subject to the approval of the stockholders at their annual meeting next April. The stock allotment may be paid for in two instalments, January 15 and May 1. Those purchasing by cash in one instalment will receive the full dividend on February 28.

On the basis of last night's closing price of $83.87 for the stock on the New York Stock Exchange, the rights to purchase the new stock are worth approximately $4 per share. The offer, therefore, is equivalent to cutting a melon of about $45,000,000.

MRS. WALDMAN ASKS DIVORCE

PARIS, Nov. 27.—(INS.))—Mrs. Milton Waldman, the former Barbara Guggenheim, today filed suit for divorce in the Seine Tribunal, charging her husband with desertion. They were married in Paris January 1, 1922.

The filing of a divorce action by Mrs. Milton Waldman, a member of the distinguished Guggenheim family, recalls the tragic incident of October 20, 1923, when her two children, Terrence and Benjamin, were instantly killed when they fell 13 stories from the roof of the Hotel Surrey in New York.

He and his wife, according to reports at the time, had agreed to a "mutual and friendly" separation a few weeks before the children were killed. Prior to that time, the Waldmans had been living in London.

Chilly Thanksgiving With Snow Forecast

Occasional light rains will change to snow flurries. Forecaster W. S. Brotzman predicted. West and northwest gales scheduled to spring up tonight will diminish tomorrow.

The lowest temperature tonight will be about freezing, with somewhat colder weather tomorrow.

DEATH CLAIMS EX-CORONER M'DOWELL

Veteran Political and Civic Leader Dies in Hospital At 72 After Long Illness

Heber McDowell, 72, of 1034 Chislett street, claim agent for the Booth and Flinn Construction Company, and a former coroner of Allegheny County, died in West Penn Hospital at 5:10 a. m. today.

He had been a patient at the hospital since September 10, when he was removed from his home suffering from cancer.

Heber McDowell

He was born on the North Side, in 1857, and for many years was active in Republican circles, being a close personal friend of the late Christopher Magee, William Flinn and many others prominent in political affairs of the state and nation during the last half century.

ONCE POLICEMAN

In his early days he was a member of the city police force and came into public prominence at the time the late Bernard McKenna, who later became mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, was alderman of the old Fourth Ward of this city.

During his term in the coroner's office Mr. McDowell succeeded in having the Legislature enact a bill giving Allegheny County the right to erect a morgue. The present structure, recently moved from Diamond street across lots into Fourth avenue, was built as a result of this bill. Later he became an alderman.

He was a prominent member of Pittsburgh Lodge No. 11, B. P. O. Elks, and served on many important committees of that organization. He also was active in

2 ROB TROLLEY OPERATOR

Patrick McHugh, operator of a one-man trolley car on No. 75 (Oakland-East Liberty - Wilkinsburg) route of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, reported that he was robbed shortly before noon today by two passengers.

They boarded the car, he said, at Franklin and Trenton avenues, Wilkinsburg, near the end of the line. There were no others on the car, he said. One was about 28 and the other 35, McHugh estimated. Both were well dressed.

At Franklin avenue and West street, McHugh said, one of the men asked for three fare tokens and gave a $10 bill in payment. McHugh drew a roll of bills amounting to about $30 out of his pocket to make change. The passenger suddenly produced a pistol, pressed it against McHugh's abdomen, and told him to throw up his hands. McHugh did so. The robbers took the money and fled.

The robbers started to leave. One remarked that his companion had been crude in failing to strip McHugh of everything. He returned and relieved the trolley operator of his fare tokens.

Hoovers to Attend Church Then Rest on Holiday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Thanksgiving will be observed at the White House tomorrow in a quiet, old fashioned way.

In the morning President and Mrs. Hoover will attend church services and then will spend the balance of the day with a few friends.

When evening rolls around, the handsome, mahogany table in the state dining room will be filled with both domesticated and wild turkeys along with the "trimmings" found on the board of most American homes. Mr. Hoover will have no business engagements, and along with all government departments, his executive office will be closed.

Allan Hoover, son of the President, arrived unexpectedly in Washington today, to spend the holiday with his parents at the White House.

It had been announced previously that Allan would remain in Cambridge, where he is attending the Harvard school of business administration.

Herbert, Jr., and his family, will not be here tomorrow, but plan to spend Christmas at the White House.

Six turkeys already have arrived at the White House. So far as the President is concerned, he is looking forward with particular pleasure to the wild gobbler sent by William M. Moody, postmaster of Washington.

3 COMING BACK FROM 'MIRACLE GRAVE' VANISH

Man, Daughter, Woman, All Together, Leave No Trace; Wrote From Harrisburg

On their way home from Father Power's "miracle grave" in Malden, Mass., Andrew Matzie, 39, his afflicted daughter, Cecelia, 9, and a friend, Mrs. Eride Vincent, 30, all of Ambridge, seemed to have disappeared.

They were expected home late Monday, or early Tuesday. The last word from them was a postcard mailed from Harrisburg as they awaited their train.

Matzie took his child Cecelia to the grave, hoping that she would be cured of infantile paralysis which she has suffered for five years.

CHILD REPORTED HELPED

Reports from Boston said the child threw away her crutches.

Mrs. Vincent, hearing they were making the trip and having had an eye affliction since she was a child, accompanied them.

Monday at 10 o'clock she sent two postcards from Harrisburg. Identical cards were sent her husband, Manuel Vincent, 645 Melrose avenue, and Mrs. Miline Matzie, 161 Maplewood avenue, both of Ambridge. The cards read:

"RETURNING ON TRAIN"

"Arrived at Harrisburg 10:30 a. m. Just got off for a little rest. Am leaving in a few minutes. The bus is bum. We will come back on the train."

Her husband's card was signed "Eride," but the one to Mrs. Matzie read "Eride and somebody else."

While no definite mention was made as to whether Matzie and his daughter accompanied them, both families believe the trio reached Harrisburg, the cards showing that postmark. They agree that the trail faded in that city.

The party seeking cures left Pittsburgh on a bus last Thursday, arriving Saturday at the Massachusetts grave. They reported to their families from New York and Harrisburg.

Mrs. Matzie is bed-ridden from rheumatism. She and her three remaining children conduct a little grocery at their address. Mrs. Vincent has been married just nine months. Her two children, Albert and Frank Taffaroli, are by a former marriage.

Biggest Land Plane Crash Fires House

MINEOLA, N. Y., Nov. 27.—(INS.)—The largest land plane in the world, the Fokker monoplane F-32, crashed into housetop near here this afternoon and burst into flames.

At least two men, including M. F. Boggs, an inspector for the Department of Commerce, were seriously injured in the crash.

Flames from the big plane set fire to the house on which it landed and spread to the house next door.

Ambulances, firemen and police battled to extinguish the fire and extricate the injured pilot and passengers.

It had just taken off from Roosevelt Field and before it could gain much altitude it crashed into the roof of the house.

A large crowd gathered and stood powerless and the flames spread and engulfed the plane.

Two figures wriggled from the wreckage of the blazing plane, rolled off the roof and into the street as the crowd stood horrified. One of them was Boggs. The other was not identified.

Yale Student's Death Laid to Poisoning

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Marshall Taylor, of Jacksonville, Florida, a sophomore in Yale College, was found dead in his bed in his Bingham Hall dormitory room this morning, by roommates. The police said death was due to use of a quick acting poison.

ANOTHER FLIER DIES ON ROOF

WESTBURY, N. Y., Nov. 27.—(INS.)—An airplane pilot, believed to be James Pisani, died in Nassau Hospital today a short time after his Fleet biplane went dead over this city and crashed into the roof of a building in the heart of the business section.

The accident paralleled in many respects the crash in which Charles Reid, an amateur pilot, lost his life in New York City last week. Both men were flying identical planes, which had been rented from the Roosevelt Aviation School.

Pedestrians in the streets who saw the plane strike the roof extricated the pilot from the wreckage.

'Mandate of Public' Given As Reason for Resigning; Council to Act Friday

City Controller Henry Oliver Evans tendered his resignation today to take effect immediately, in a letter to James F. Malone, president of City Council. Council will meet Friday at 2 p. m. to act on the resignation.

"Prompt compliance with the expressed will of the people," is primary reason for his resignation, Evans declared in a statement issued with the delivery of letter to Malone.

Henry O. Evans

Evans was elected by Council January 7 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of City Controller John H. Henderson. After a bitter battle in the Republican primary election, he lost the nomination to Councilman Daniel Winters. In the general election, Evans ran as an independent and was defeated by Winters by an overwhelming majority.

In announcing his resignation, Evans said:

LETTER OF RESIGNATION

"I have delivered to James F. Malone, president of council, the following resignation as city controller:

"'I hereby respectfully tender my resignation as controller of the city of Pittsburgh, to take effect immediately. I take this action upon receipt of information that a certificate of election has been issued by the proper authorities to my successor, so that the mandate of the public, as evidenced in the

CONGRESS DRY POSTS BAIL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Rep. Edward Everett Denison, of Illinois, recently indicted on a charge of illegal possession of liquor, appeared today before a clerk in the District of Columbia Supreme Court and posted bail of $500.

John Layne, Denison's former secretary, who was jointly indicted with him, has not yet given bail. District Attorney Rover said today he was investigating a report that a mistake in identity had been made in indicting Layne.

Denison was indicted after the discovery of a trunk, which prohibition agents said contained liquor, at a railroad station here. It was addressed to Layne in care of Denison at the House office building.

Layne after the indictment denied he knew anything about the trunk of liquor and Denison asserted that the trunk had been sent in his care by mistake.

Joan Sawyer, Valentino's Ex-Partner, in Balm Suit

HAMILTON, O., Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Mrs. Joan Sawyer Rentschler, former dancing partner of Rudolph Valentino, the late idol of moviedom, today had been named defendant in a $100,000 alienation of affection suit, which was filed in the courts here by Paul Weigand, prominent Hamilton steel man.

Weigand charged that the internationally-known dancer had alienated the affections of his wife, Mrs. Martha Weigand, which ultimately resulted in Mrs. Weigand filing a suit for a divorce.

He alleged that after their marriage his wife and himself had lived happily until Mrs. Rentschler, a sister-in-law of Gordon S. Rentschler, president of the National City Bank of New York, caused his wife to become dissatisfied with married life by her alleged "enticements, favors and seductive influence."

In her divorce suit, Mrs. Weigand charged cruelty, failure to provide and gross neglect. The steel magnate denied the allegations in a cross-petition and asked that her divorce suit be dismissed.

The ex-dancer is the wife of George A. Rentschler, Jr., who is president of the General Machinery Corporation here. They reside in a "show-place" estate on the Cincinnati-Hamilton pike.

Bond and Share Company, of New York.

C. E. Groesbeck, president of the Electric Bond and Share Company, said his company contemplated the expenditure next year of $241,000,000.

Charles L. Edgar, president of the Boston Edison Electric Company, said his company would spend $40,000,000.

Herbert A. Wagner, president of the Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company, Baltimore, estimated his concern would spend $7,750,000 on new projects next year, an increase of 10 per cent over the present year.

HUGE OUTLAYS

W. A. Jones, vice president of the Cities Service Company, said his corporation planned a $150,000,000 program for next year.

P. A. Gadsen, vice president of the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia, said his company planned $41,000,000 worth of improvements.

George B. Cortelyou, president of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York, said his company would stand for between $90,000,000 and $100,000,000.

And so it went. The grand total was estimated in excess of $2,000,000,000.

Coming on top of earlier assurances from the railroads, manufacturing industries and other groups, the optimism of the utilities leaders completed a national picture of next year's business prospects that was highly gratifying to the President and his advisers.

With the departure of the utilities representatives, President Hoover virtually concluded his personal leadership of the movement to assure the country it need not fear "hard times" because of stock market gyrations. From now on, the various Chambers of Commerce, under the direction of the parent U. S. chamber, and the various trade associations are to handle the business of keeping business booming along.

GRAY TO MEET HOOVER

Chester Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will confer with the President Saturday. He proposes that to further stabilize agriculture, President Hoover recommend to Congress the immediate appropriation of the remaining $350,000,000 for the Federal Farm Board.

Gray also will urge the President to initiate lower interest rates for farmers, contending that the farmers should not be compelled to pay higher rates than the government itself pays, which is around 3¾. Rates of the intermediate credit and farm loan banks now run between 3, 5 and 7 per cent.

At today's conference, Mr. Sloan said on behalf of the National Electric Light Association alone:

"The electric light and power utilities companies of the country contemplate an expenditure during 1930 of $865,000,000 for expansion of their facilities, an increase of $65,000,000 over corresponding expenditures for 1929. This does not include expenditures for maintenance."

"The programs provide for expansion and development in all sections of the United States.

"The electric utilities must maintain themselves in a position to meet increasing demands for service as they develop, and they, therefore, plan their construction well in advance.

"The plans for 1930 are completed, large commitments have already been entered into, and many contracts for equipment and material have been placed. Careful consideration of existing conditions has justified this expansion in anticipation of the growing requirements of industry for power, and consumers generally for increased electric service."

GAS EXPENDITURES

Speaking for the American Gas Association, its president, B. J. Mullaney, said:

"Expenditures for construction by the manufactured and natural gas industry of the United States in 1930 will aggregate approximately $425,000,000, an increase of about 6 per cent over the corresponding expenditures in 1929. An additional $50,000,000 will be expended to maintain existing service facilities.

"The construction estimate is based primarily upon budget provisions already formulated for 1930 by companies representing the major part of gas production and distribution in the United States. The conclusions thus indicated have been checked against the factual experience of the industry for many years, as well as against current observation and information, and have been correspondingly strengthened."

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

The electric railways of the country were represented by J. N. Shannahan, of Omaha, acting for Paul Shoup, who was absent. Mr. Shannahan said:

"A canvass of the electric railway companies of the United States, comprising street car, rapid transit, interurban and bus lines handling approximately 16 billion passengers annually, indicates that 97 per cent of the executives responding to our inquiry do not anticipate that the present stock market situation will affect their capital and maintenance expenditures during the coming year.

"This survey indicates that this industry which during 1929 is spending approximately $1,000,000 a day for maintenance, betterments and extensions, expects to maintain or exceed this rate of expenditure during 1930.

"At our meeting in New York, executives of companies operating in various parts of the country expressed their confidence in the business outlook and their desire to co-operate with President Hoover in every possible way in his effort to stabilize and insure the continued progress and development of business. Analysis of the transportation situation in a number of large cities indicates that as progress is made in bringing about better public understanding of the economic problems involved, improvement in credit will permit considerable increases in capital expenditures to be made for expansion of facilities."

PRESIDENT GIVEN DATA

Thomas N. McCarter, head of the Public Service Company of New Jersey, said after the session that it had been "a highly successful affair."

"What we did after the President had been given the general statement from the utility group was to go right around the table, with the representative of each enterprise present giving the exact sums and program of capital expenditures for his particular company," he asserted.

"That naturally took a little time, but proved to be a matter of considerable interest to all of us. There was no question of wages raised in the meeting today, since the topic did not come into the purposes of the meeting."

SLOT MACHINE TERM DELAYED

Sentence on William Hanson, reputed millionaire slot machine operator, and brother-in-law of Al Forney, fugitive slot machine king, was postponed again today because of the inability of his attorney, Edward Coll, to be in court.

Coll notified the court that he is busy in United States Court and asked that sentence be postponed until the week of December 9. Hanson was convicted last spring of maintaining a gambling device in a South Side club.

After his conviction, a new trial was applied for, but Coll was expected to withdraw his application and to accept sentence. Forney is being sought by city and county authorities. He jumped a $5,000 bail bond some time ago, while awaiting trial.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, Mrs. Morrow and their daughter, Elizabeth, will leave for the United States on December 6 to spend the Christmas holidays at their Englewood, N. J., home.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, will spend the holidays with the Morrows.

After the Yuletide celebrations Ambassador Morrow will sail for London to take part in the five-power naval disarmament conference starting January 21.

R. C. A. RIGHTS ON AIR PERILED

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—There is considerable discussion in official and radio circles here over the possibility that the Radio Corporation of America may eventually lose its broadcasting and communication licenses and face prosecution under the anti-trust law as a result of the ruling handed down a few days ago by Judge Hugh M. Morris, in the United States District Court, in Wilmington, Del.

In this decision, Judge Morris held that the Radio Corporation had violated the anti-monopoly section of the anti-trust laws and entered a restraining order prohibiting the corporation from practices considered monopolistic in the manufacture of tubes and the licensing of them for radio sets.

Ira E. Robinson, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, said that the matter had not come before the commission in any form as yet and that naturally it would not get before that body until the case had gone the full route through the federal courts.

Afghan Monarch Abolishes Alcohol

PESHAWAR, India, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Total prohibition of alcoholic liquor is one of the points in a proclamation issued by King Nadir Shah, of Afghanistan, outlining the future policy of his regime. The king, formerly known as Nadir Khan, drove out Bacha Sakao, the usurper, sometime ago and himself was elected monarch.

Other points are that the principles of Islamic law will be the basis of administration; that a military school shall be established and an arsenal for manufacturing modern arms, and continuance of former King Amanullah's relations with the foreign powers.

BRITAIN READY TO INTERVENE IN CHINA

International News Service.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Great Britain is willing to participate with the other signatories of the Kellogg pact in joint action aimed at a peaceful settlement of the dispute between Soviet Russia and China, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson told the House of Commons this afternoon.

Henderson promised the House he would give consideration to the suggestion of Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign secretary, that Britain initiate action by negotiating with the United States for joint intervention in the Asiatic squabble.

The foreign secretary declared, however, that he thought a preferable course would be to await action by the League of Nations.

PEACE BEFORE LEAGUE

GENEVA, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Dr. Wu Kai-Seng, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, laid the Nanking government's attitude toward the latest developments in the Russo-Chinese situation in Manchuria before Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the league, this afternoon.

Dr. Wu said that he would probably lodge Nanking's appeal for intervention in Manchuria with Drummond during the next few days.

Dr. Wu has just returned from Berne, Switzerland, where he was in communication with Chang Tso-Ping, Chinese minister in Berlin.

SUFFERINGS RELATED

PEIPING, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—While the Chinese government awaited the results of its appeals to both the League of Nations and the individual signatories of the Kellogg pact to take steps to halt the Soviet "invasion" of Manchuria, tales of the privations of residents of the war-torn area poured in here today.

More than 10,000 Chinese and several hundred Russian refugees from the Hailar and Dalainor are now in Harbin where most of them are being cared for by the Russo-American relief committee.

Bombs from Soviet planes terrorized both the civilian population of the invaded districts and the defending Chinese forces. Large areas were devastated by fires resulting from the bombs.

But the refugees suffered their greatest hardships in attempting to get to Harbin. The Chinese Eastern Railway placed all available trains at the disposal of the refugees.

SOLDIERS OUST REFUGEES

Panic-stricken soldiers of the demoralized retreating Chinese army, however, ousted the refugees from many of these trains and hundreds were forced to walk part of the distance to Harbin along the railroad tracks.

Those on the trains suffered other privations. Many were without food during the entire trip of 300 miles. Some were forced to ride on open flat-cars or on the roofs of freight cars and suffered greatly from exposure.

Chinese officers were unable to control their troops, according to the refugees, and wholesale looting by marauding bands of soldiers resulted.

STATE OPPOSES SNOOK PETITION

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—John J. Chester, Jr., Franklin County prosecutor, late today filed a motion in the State Supreme Court asking dismissal of the petition in error filed as of right by counsel for Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State University professor under sentence of death for the murder last June 13 of Miss Theora K. Hix.

He took a decided interest in church work, and was an active member of St. Andrews Protestant Episcopal Church, with which he had been affiliated for many years. He also was prominent in the organization of the Morningside Community Association and served as its president for three terms.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Welsh McDowell, and the following children: Mrs. Mary Schempp, wife of Dr. Edward Schempp; Heber McDowell, Jr.; Mrs. H. M. Austin, of Rosslyn Farms; Miss Gertrude McDowell and Mrs Frances Deakin, of Negley avenue.

Several weeks ago Mr. McDowell's oldest son, Capt. William McDowell, United States Army, died in California. The body was brought to Pittsburgh, where a military funeral was held. He had been awarded a medal for bravery under fire in France.

Hit by Auto, He Says: 'Name's Kelly'—Dies

"My name's Kelly," whispered an unidentified auto accident victim just before he died in St. Francis Hospital today, according to a report to the coroner. The man, about 55, was struck by a truck of the Ward Baking Company, at Forty-fifth and Butler streets, shortly before noon. W. J. Marshall, of 1726 Lincoln avenue, the driver, was turned over to the coroner. The body was removed to the morgue.

Germans Guarantee To Mummify Dead

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Professing to have rediscovered the secret of mummification, a German firm today was advertising this type of mortuary treatment, with a guarantee that the bodies will look identical at the end of 1,000 years as at the time of death. The charges are $100 per 100 years.

EVANS RESIGNS AS CONTROLLER

last election, may become immediately effective.'

"One of the reasons which moves me to tender this resignation is the possibility that the validity of any of the acts which I might perform should be questioned, to the detriment of the city's business.

TO RESUME LAW PRACTICE

"Another reason that seems to me to make prompt action on my part imperative, is my belief that the controller should be an active adviser to the Council in the consideration of the budget.

"Overshadowing these reasons, of course, is the one set forth in my letter of resignation—that of prompt compliance with the expressed will of the people. I should have been glad to have taken this step earlier without awaiting official notice had I felt that I could, consistent with good form, have done so."

Evans, who is a member of the Pennsylvania Bar, said that he will resume the practice of law upon leaving the controller's office.

PROMPT ACTION SEEN

The resignation of Evans will probably be accepted at once. This will leave Winters' place in Council vacant should he qualify for the controllership by filing bond, and has opened up a great deal of speculation as to who will succeed him. Rumor has it that either James F. Malone or P. J. McArdle, both out of the picture as a result of the last election, may be named to succeed Winters.

Evans' resignation was taken in political circles as a move to force the resignation of Winters as a member of City Council and permit filling the Council vacancy before newly-elected councilmen favorable to Mayor Charles H. Kline, take office in January. Evans was on the Malone ticket at the primaries. Winters' place in Council would be filled by a joint vote of Council and the Mayor.

"I didn't expect Controller Evans to resign so suddenly," said Councilman Winters, "as I thought there would be details of the office he would like to finish up before leaving. But if he does I believe the city government will still continue to function.

"As a result of his resignation I will give consideration now as to when I will occupy the office."

MERCY DRIVE SUCCESS IS ASSURED

Flood of Money Brings the Goal Near for Workers; Closes With Banquet

It is raining money in Pittsburgh today. The flood, amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars subscribed for charity, will carry to success the campaign of the Welfare Fund which closes tonight.

With more than 7,000 canvassers still at work and 100 auditors tabulating the contributions, it was apparent early today that the goal of $1,168,055 for 31 Pittsburgh philanthropies would be subscribed to the limit.

SUCCESS ASSURED

Heroic efforts in the closing hours of the campaign have assured the success of the second annual drive of the Welfare Fund. It was forecasted that the final figures will show an increase over last year both in the amount of money subscribed and in the number of subscriptions.

Reservations have been made for nearly 1,000 workers who will gather in Pirate Hall, William Penn Hotel, at 6:15 p. m. today to celebrate the close of the campaign. Arrangements for the dinner were made by Leo Griffith. Augustus K. Oliver, president of the Welfare Fund, will preside. Joseph Dilworth, general chairman of the drive, will present honor emblems to teams in the central division that raised their quota and F. J. Chesterman will perform a similar office toward the teams of the employe division.

PETTY TO SPEAK

The Rev. Dr. C. Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will deliver an address. At the speakers' table will be the leaders in the campaign, but no formal speaking program will be followed, it was announced at the headquarters in the William Penn Hotel, where all activities are turned toward completing the audits and tabulation in order that the final reports for all teams and divisions may be made at the close of the dinner.

The final efforts are being put forth in the house-to-house canvass, under Mrs. John M. Phillips, and among the concerns organized through the employe division.

Edgewood leads per capita in the house-to-house canvass with subscriptions of $1,592. Mt. Lebanon Township shows $1,886 thus far. Upper St. Clair Township, one of the smaller communities, reported $135 with more to come. Reports from others follow: Bellevue, $1,375; Ben Avon, $883; Avalon, $477; Rosslyn Farms, $749; Braddock, $1,563; Oakmont, $761.

PAIR INDICTED AS SLAYERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—True bills charging Samuel Howard Dorr, insurance agent, and Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien, with the slaying of the woman's hard-working husband, William O'Brien, stood against the couple today as the result of a grand jury's action.

While the grand jury was pondering the case of the couple, which allegedly plotted a love conspiracy to murder O'Brien and depart with the proceeds of the insurance policies which Dorr himself had sold the victim, authorities were working on further evidence which, they state, points to an auxiliary plot to slay Mrs. Dorr to make their marriage possible.

Mrs. O'Brien, an expectant mother, and Dorr, were surprised together by the woman's husband one morning last week. O'Brien was shot four times by Dorr, who was hiding in a closet, according to Dorr's confession.

The woman at first admitted shooting O'Brien, charging that he became abusive. O'Brien, however, accused Dorr of the shooting before he died, 12 hours afterward.

Prosecuting attorneys declare they will oppose any efforts on the part of Mrs. O'Brien to obtain a separate trial, stating that they will seek the death penalty for both.

Girl Students Bar Hazing as 'Silly'

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—No more will members of the first-year class of Barnard College be subjected to hazing. By common consent of the girls of both the freshman and sophomore classes hazing has been abolished as "silly, undignified and unworthy."

Hungry Boys Hike Here To Find Mother

Two hungry Belgian youngsters walked into the City Detective Bureau today escorted by a motorist who had given them a lift from Steubenville. The boys—Julian Requilez, 11, and his brother, Edward, 13, of McMechen, W. Va.—wanted to find their mother, ill in a hospital here, but didn't know how. Here is their story:

Their parents have been separated for four years. Several days ago the mother wrote to the father, in McMechen, told of being seriously ill in a Pittsburgh hospital and asked to see her children once more.

The father put the children aboard the train yesterday morning. A few miles distant, at Mingo Junction, they were put off the train because their tickets called for that stop.

They walked. Near Steubenville a farmer allowed them to spend last night in his hayloft. This morning they renewed their hike.

A few miles this side of Steubenville a motorist found them trudging the highway. He brought them in to Pittsburgh.

Hungry, the boys were fed by police and made at home in the matron's department. Police are checking the hospitals to determine if their mother, Mrs. Clara Requilez, is a patient here.

More and Better Church Advertising Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—A report calling for more and better church advertising was adopted by the Religious Publicity Council at its first annual meeting.

The council favored more paid advertising by local congregations and national religious bodies and proposed that a committee work out a plan for co-operative advertising to be submitted at its next meeting. It also suggested that a correspondence course be set up to teach ministers and laymen to handle newspaper copy.

The report was drawn up by a committee of publicity directors of the Northern Baptist News Bureau, the Presbyterian Board of National Missions, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the Home Missions Council, and the Methodist Episcopal Board of Foreign Missions.

COAL POLICE TRIAL PLANNED FOR JANUARY IN VENANGO

GUARDS WIN CHANGE OF VENUE

Date Not Definite; Fourth Week of First Month Is Chosen in Borkowski Case

The three coal and iron police charged with involuntary manslaughter in the killing of John Borkowski, the miner-farmer of Tyre, will go on trial in Venango County probably during the fourth week in January, District Attorney Daniel Goodwin, of Venango County, announced today.

The defendants, Walter J. Lyster, Harold P. Watts and Frank Slapikas, were granted a change of venue from Allegheny County yesterday by the State Supreme Court.

NOT DEFINITE

Mr. Goodwin was not able to promise definitely that the trial would be scheduled for January, when the next term of Quarter Sessions Court opens in Franklin, but he explained that the calendar was not crowded and he saw no reason why the trial should be any later.

The three police won the change of venue with their contention that they could not obtain a fair trial in Allegheny County.

NEW JUDGE AND JURY

They pointed out that after a jury had acquitted them of the murder of Borkowski Judge James H. Gray discharged the jury; that public sentiment was aroused against them.

The change of venue means that instead of an Allegheny County judge and jury, the former police of the Pittsburgh Coal Company will face a Venango County jurist and jury.

The manslaughter indictment also grew out of the killing of Borkowski. The police were indicted on the manslaughter charge the same time they were held for murder. When the jury acquitted them of the murder indictments, Attorney Prichard asked that the manslaughter charge be dropped.

However, Clunk, "shocked" by the verdict of acquittal, refused to agree.

THOMPSON BUSY ON N. Y. DEAL

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 27.—J. V. Thompson, bankrupt coal baron of Fayette County, was in New York today preparing his friends say to close a $7,000,000 coal deal. The profits of the deal they say will be used to help liquidate obligations which resulted in his arrest in Altoona Monday.

When brought to Uniontown yesterday Thompson was arraigned before Judge J. W. Dawson, of Orphans Court, who released him in custody of his lawyer on a charge of contempt of court, and $20,000 bail on a charge of embezzlement.

The embezzlement charge was preferred in behalf of a niece, the Princess of Thurn and Taxis. The amount involved was said to be about $225,000. The contempt charge was placed against him when he failed to comply with a court order.

The coal deal in which he is interested is said to involve 32,000 acres of coal land in Greene County. From this deal he expects to realize funds with which to meet his obligations in the Nicolls estate, in which his niece, the Princess, is interested, and the Emma Messmore estate. The two estates are said to total about $400,000.

Episcopal Primate Outlines Policies

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Bishop Charles P. Anderson, primate of the Episcopal Church in America, today called upon the church to concern itself primarily with spiritual things.

In his first official pronouncement since he was elected primate, Bishop Anderson said he intended to continue the policies of the late presiding Bishop John Gardner Murray and that he would "stand for the whole church," and would hold no "geographical or ecclesiastical prejudices."

Lady Heath Faints At Query on Paying Bill

RENO, Nev., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Lady Mary Heath, British aviatrix, was reported by her nurse to have fainted when she answered the telephone here and was questioned about the outcome of a suit in London in which the court held her liable for a $1,200 dressmaker's bill.

The call was from the New York correspondent of a London newspaper, who inquired whether Lady Heath intended to pay the bill. In deciding the suit, the court held that Lady Heath's husband, Sir James Heath, from whom she is separated, was not responsible for the debt contracted by his wife.

Since coming to Reno, some weeks ago, Lady Heath has indicated that she planned to file suit for divorce.

HOPE REVIVED FOR EIELSON

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—New hope rose today for the safety of Carl Ben Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, missing since they took of. November 9 from Teller, Alaska, on an attempted flight to the ice-locked ship Nanuk, as the result of a report by a native dog team driver that he had seen smoke in an isolated spot near North Cape, Siberia.

The native said the smoke he sighted was about 36 miles from the Nanuk. Eielson carried a a small stove and a large quantity of gasoline, with which it is believed he may have sent up a smoke signaal.

Hope was further increased by the fact that this last report coincided with another by a Russian trapper, who said he heard the drone of a plane motor in the same region on the day Eielson and Borland dropped from sight. Fog hid the plane from his view.

Frank Dorbrandt, a pilot associated with Eielson, took off here yesterday for Teller, where he will await favorable conditions to begin an aerial search for the lost aviator.

SLEUTHS LEAVE TO GET CARREN

County Detectives John Burke and Albert Shedlock were in Chicago today to return Milton Carren, 45, of Turtle Creek, payroll clerk of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, alleged to have absconded with $15,000 of the company's payroll.

The detectives were ordered to Chicago last night after authorities of that city informed Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren that Carren expressed willingness to waive extradition.

Most of the money has been recovered.

Leviathan Seaman Falls Into Sea, Dies

CHERBOURG, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Seaman Thomas McGuckin fell overboard from the liner Leviathan and was lost a few hours before the ship docked here, the liner's officers announced today.

McGuckin lost his balance and went over the side of the ship while working on one of the lifeboats as the liner was off Bishop's Rock. The Leviathan's engines were stopped and a vain search of two hours followed. McGuckin lived at 333 Twelfth street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

HOLIDAY BEER SEIZED

A carload, 120 barrels, of high test beer which arrived on the Manchester Bridge siding of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad today, just in time for Thanksgiving, was seized by prohibition agents this morning.

This is the first seizure in any large quantity, of beer, to have been made by the prohibition authorities in months. An investigation is being made to find out where the beer was shipped from and to whom it was consigned.

French Premier Acts To Draw Tourists

PARIS, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—In the hope of making up for the serious decline in tourist expenditures in France during the past summer, Premier Andre Tardieu today urged parliamentary acceptance of his national development bill, which includes an item of $1,200,000 for "the encouragement of tourists." A recent survey shows Americans alone spent $40,000,000 less in 1929 than during the previous 12 months, a falling off of 20 per cent.

SLEUTHS HUNT GIRL BANDIT

Police today are checking the rogues gallery for enlightenment concerning a pretty girl about 25, smartly dressed. Her outstanding characteristics are a firm chin and a look in her eye that means business.

And peculiarly, her business is pointing a big blue revolver loaded with lots of lead pellets, at people who have ready cash.

She and a big blond youth of 32 or so stopped in the Kroger grocery store at 835 East Ohio street and in daylight robbed it of $40.

"I was afraid of her," B. A. Patterson, manager, said. "While I lay trussed on the floor, gagged, she quietly remarked:

"'Tell me where the rest of that money is or I'll blow your brains out, you so and so.'

"I believed her. I told her, and told her the truth. My wife was just depositing it about that time in a bank. She had left 10 minutes before with $250.

"Her companion I didn't fear so much. He tried to hit me with the butt of the gun, but I ducked. The barrel hit my forehead."

Patterson was bound with ropes, gagged and robbed by the woman and her companion late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Patterson, upon her return from the bank, found her husband in a rear room, unable to free himself. City detectives and police started an investigation.

Farm 'Snitching' Held Bad as Store Theft

"Stealing from a farmer's orchards and fields is just as bad as robbing a store," declared Judge H. H. Rowand, in Criminal Court today in paroling three youths who pleaded guilty to stealing 302 ears of corn from the farm of H. S. Mowry, in Jefferson Township, August 22. He was lenient, he said, because one of the three is a high school student. They were Louis DeBald, 14 Pius street; John Rokicki, 1919 Wharton street; George Goralzick, 165 South Fifteenth street. They must pay costs and $25 to Mowry.

BRACKENRIDGE ASKS BUS LINE

Application for permission to operate a line of buses between Sixth avenue and Ross street, Tarentum, to Lenkers Grove was heard yesterday by Examiner W. E. Best, of the Public Service Commission.

The president of the line, to be known as the Brackenridge Bus Company, is Mrs. M. R. Brackenridge, widow of H. M. Brackenridge, who is also the president of the Tarentum, Brackenridge and Butler Street Car Company, serving Tarentum and Brackenridge. She is the largest stockholder in each line.

The bus line would carry passengers from Tarentum through Natrona Heights, Brackenridge Heights, Birdville and intermediate points in assisting to serve a population estimated at 10,000.

Many residents of the district testified as to the necessity for establishing the bus line. The route would touch the edge of Brackenridge carrying passengers direct to the mill gate of the Allegheny Steel Company.

Prof. O. P. Valentine, superintendent of the Union High School operated jointly by Breckenridge Borough and Harrison Township, which has 650 pupils, averred it would be a great accommodation to high school students.

M. G. Jacobs, one of the incorporators of the bus line and also its treasurer, as well as secretary-treasurer of the street car company, appeared for both concerns. He urged the granting of the certificate, saying the railways line has no objections to the commission issuing the certificate. The street cars make connections with the Allegheny Traction Company, but issue no transfers.

Mr. Jacobs stated that just what the fare would be on the bus line has not been determined, but that the route probably will be zoned. The first zone, he told Commissioner Best, will carry a fare of 10 or 15 cents and the second 10 cents.

Boweryites Await Nickel Turkey Feast

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Bowery wayfarers sniffed the air today, tightened their belts and anxiously awaited the morrow, for Urban Ledoux, known as "Mr. Zero," was stirring the Mulligan stew, reinforced by 1,000 turkeys, which, with 1,000 pies, coffee, bread and butter, will be served to Boweryites on Thanksgiving for the sum of five cents. Capacity is the only limit set upon the diners.

Girls Try to Buy Tickets to Visit Santa Claus

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Too eager to await the arrival of Santa Claus on Christmas eve, Dorothy and Eileen Belt, whose ages are 5 and 4, today were wondering how to obtain a ticket to the North Pole.

They started out on the journey yesterday. Hand in hand they walked into Union Station, strolled about looking at the trains, and when asked where they were going, both chimed:

"We want a ticket to go where Santa Claus is."

Miss Edna Schneider, of the Travelers Aid Society, told them they could not make a trip without their heavy winter coats and mittens, and while she and members of the society were trying to find out where the tots lived, Mrs. Phillip Belt arrived and led her youngsters home.

FINAL TRIBUTE FOR HITCHCOCK

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Veterans of the movie and stage world were to join today in paying their last respects to Raymond Hitchcock, musical comedy star, whose acting had endeared him to the nation.

The funeral services were to be held at 11 o'clock today at the Hollywood Cemetery chapel. Following the ceremony Mrs. Flora Hitchcock, the widow, plans to take the cremated ashes back to Canandaigua, N. Y., for burial in the family plot.

The Masquers Club, in arranging today's ceremony, has chosen the following friends of Hitchcock to act as active pallbearers: Wallace Beery, Richard Carle, Robert Edeson, Taylor Holmes, Ray Hubbell, Jacques Pierre, Jed Proud and Sam Hardy.

Falls on Sidewalk Sues for $25,000

Damages of $25,000 was asked of the City of Pittsburgh in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Pearl Geis, through Attorney Kivie Wolfe. While walking on a boardwalk on Nimick street, Homewood, June 19 last, a plank on which she stepped flew up and struck her leg, causing a fall that resulted in serious injuries, the suit alleged.

AUTO THIEVES SHOOT, ESCAPE

Police early today fought a second gun battle with three men at Carson street and Brownsville road, three hours after the suspects had fired shots at Patrolman Thomas Hullihan, in McKean street, and escaped when he caught them stripping a parked automobile.

The trio escaped over a hillside after they had abandoned an automobile, said by police, to have been stolen from Patrick Coyne, of 236 McKee place, Oakland, brother of State Senator James J. Coyne.

Patrolman Thomas Hullihan first discovered the bandits stripping an automobile at McKean street. When he approached to arrest them, all pulled revolvers and began firing. A few minutes later they escaped.

Three hours later West End police saw the trio, who had been described to them by Hullihan, pass the West End Police Station. South Side police were notified, and Capt. Dennis Hennessey and Patrolmen Louis M. Foster and James McCormick cornered the men behind a hillside in Brownsville road.

Both police and the culprits fired several shots, it was reported, and then they fled when the officers closed in around it. All escaped by running over the hill.

A good description of the trio was given by Patrolman Hullihan and it has been broadcast to police throughout the Pittsburgh district.

SENATE 'PRIZES' TO UNITE G. O. P.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—A reunited Republican senatorial party, fighting side by side on partisan issues in the next session of Congress—once the tariff bill is enacted—loomed today as a probable outcome of the pending shakeup in Republican committee assignments.

The rebellious Insurgents and the bolting Young Turks apparently will be pacified to a large extent by a rearrangement of committee chairmen and new assignments to the most powerful committees.

Out of the welter of conflicting reports, it appeared entirely probable that Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, would resign his post as assistant Republican floor leader to become chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee. This would be the opening wedge for a series of peace moves.

Other changes will make:

Senator Keyes, of New Hampshire, chairman of the Immigration Committee.

Senator Fess, of Ohio, chairman of the Public Buildings Committee.

Chocolate Shoppe Receiver Named

Claims aggregating more than $727 were filed against Margaret S. McGowan, trading as the Old Virginia Chocolate Shoppe, of 505 Market street, in an involuntary petition of bankruptcy filed against her yesterday in Federal Court. The petitioners included the Harmony Creamery Company, United Confectionery Company and the Electric Sign Company. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker appointed Robert C. Sproul as receiver in the proceedings.

Man Vindicated As Slayer Will Wed Kaffir Girl

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—The Mail today prints an interview with Oscar Slater, who was given about $30,000 by the government as compensation for wrongful imprisonment on conviction of murder before he cleared his name, in which he announces his intention of marrying a full-blooded South African Kaffir.

Slater, whose case attracted the help of many prominent persons and was cited as comparable with the Sacco-Vanzetti case in Massachusetts, was said to plan to go to the native land of his fiance in Basutoland in Eastern South Africa.

"My fiancee was born in Basutoland," the Mail quotes him as saying in an interview obtained in Glasgow, "where her parents, who are wealthy, have plantations. I met her more than 20 years ago when staying in Paris. We were at the same hotel and became very friendly. She was then scarcely 20 years of age and had just finished her education.

"We wrote to each other occasionally, but I did not see her for many years, until one day when I was in Peterhead prison she came from Paris to see me. Her faith in me comforted me tremendously. Throughout long years in prison we wrote, and when I was released we met in Glasgow and became engaged She is now stayingg in Glasgow, where the marriage may take place in April."

Slater won his fight to clear his name of the conviction of murder of Miss Mary Gilchrist, an aged woman, in 1908, by a decision of the Scottish Criminal Court of Appeals.

2 MEN GIVEN 9 TO 18 YEARS

Nine to 18 years in jail was the sentence imposed on two men who pleaded guilty in Criminal Court to a highway robbery, a store burglary and the theft of two automobiles all in one breath. The defendants were James King, 121 East Montgomery avenue, and John Chasarik, 1520 Island avenue.

The store robbed was that of Moe Kurtz, 453 Water street, where they took $200, and the men held up were H. Spicler, 214 Ohio street, and John Slatze, 1235 Hope street. Both robberies occurred September 18.

Hurled From Mule, Sues for $25,000

Alleging he was seriously injured when thrown from a mule struck by an automobile, Arthur McGuigan, of North Braddock asked $25,000 damages from W. T. Lewis, of Swissvale, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court. McGuigan suffered a compound leg fracture and other injuries, confining him to a hospital for 128 days, the suit alleged.

Odor Leads Agents To Moonshine Plant

Prohibition agents, detecting an odor of liquor issuing from a garage in Brightwood, Bethel Township, raided the place and seized a 75-gallon still and a small quantity of moonshine, they reported. Anton Cipcic, 34, arrested in connection with the seizure, told the agents he had been operating the outfit four weeks, according to the raiders.

WILKINS MAKES FIRST AERIAL SURVEY

Party Soars Over Crater Of Deception's Volcano; Plane Meets Initial Test

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS,
Commanding the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic Expedition.
Universal Service Special Cable.

DECEPTION ISLAND, South Shetlands, Nov. 27.—Speeding at more than 125 miles an hour, our Lockheed plane San Francisco circled the heart of Deception's volcanic crater in the first flight of our Antarctic expedition this ... son.

Al Cheesman, our pilot, had a thrill that seemed bordering on near disaster to us, but to him it was just another "air break" that he handled successfully.

Cheesman made a takeoff possible only because we have on the plane special large size tires. Crusted snow and moisture-saturated volcanic cinders lined the runway, and ordinary wheels would have sunk beyond a possibility of movement.

ENGINE DIES

Speeding up Hoover Field—named after the President—the San Francisco soared into the air and circled the island. It was Cheesman's first flight in the Lockheed. For five minutes he circled around, and then—we heard the engine die!

With the trained pilot's instinct, he turned the taps of the three fuel tanks. Then, once more the engine took up its steady roar. It turned out that he had started with only one tank on instead of all. But with the full flow of gasoline, the Wright engine never missed a stroke.

After 15 minutes, Al glided to a splendid landing and Cramer, our other pilot, took the plane's controls and climbed to 3,000 feet. There he stunted daringly, putting the San Francisco into all positions. And then to demonstrate the fitness of the plane and his skill at the controls, he glided to a landing on the narrowest part of the runway.

SKY CLOUDED

The sky above was clouded, but far to the South, the clear sunlight shone on Grahams Land, which stood out with crystalline brightness.

Soaring above Deception's volcanic maw, we felt a trifle free of the endurance of snow and sleet that has hampered us since our arrival here until today. The sight of land bathed in sunshine instead of the local dullness cheered us beyond all measure, and we hope to soar above the blankness of Antarctica soon in our first lengthy exploration flight of the expedition.

(Deception Island, upon which Capt. Wilkins has established his Anarctic base, is one of the small islands of the South Shetland group. It is separated from Palmer Land, Graham Land and West Antarctica by Bransfield Strait and is about 1,750 miles from the South Pole in the direction of South America.)

Real Estate

More than 115 realtors attended the regular Thanksgiving luncheon of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board yesterday at the William Penn Hotel. Turkey was a prominent feature in the menu and an act by a ventriloquist furnished the entertainment.

In Wilkinsburg, the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, trustee for the Johanna Carley estate, sold to Mary A. Shannahan 30x123 feet with a business building in Penn avenue near Center street, Wilkinsburg, for $30,000.

Fred A. Sanders has taken over the Aristocrat Restaurant at 6235 Penn avenue, East Liberty, and will open it as Sanders Inn Towne Club. The deal was made through R. Milo McAnulty, Jr.

John W. Cappeau has purchased from Emma F. Shannon, et al, a tract of 5.6 acres at Persimmon and Backbone roads, Sewickley Heights.

A brick residence and garage in Vernon drive, Mt. Lebanon, has been sold by William C. Cline to Henry Arrington. The lot is 50x170 feet.

Two modern homes are planned on vacant property at Jackson street and Heberton avenue, East End, recently purchased by Beatrice Lewis through J. A. Young & Co., Inc.

In Crafton, a brick and shingle dwelling in Mueller avenue, lot 50x100 feet, has been sold by Edmund J. Jublou to M. L. Robbins, for $7,500.

Two frame dwellings in Broad street near North St. Clair street, East End, lot 25x145 feet, have been sold by Patrick Keegan to Payton Rose.

A lot 39x109 feet in Graymore road, Fourteenth Ward, has been sold by Carl H. Nelson to Frank A. Klaus.

Building permit applications included:

Twenty-eighth Ward—C. E. DeMochi, two brick dwellings and garage, 1230-34 Justice street, $13,000.

MUSIC

Mendelsohn Choir
Carnegie Music Hall

The Mendelssohn Choir gave a performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" in Carnegie Music Hall last night that Pittsburgh is likely never to forget. It seemed that Ernest Lunt must have reached in this concert the zenith of his powers as drill master and director, and his quartet of soloists were calling on all their reserves to stand by his chorus.

J. Fred Lissfelt.

It is no wonder that the Elijah" has at times been staged as opera: all the recitatives suggest mighty gestures, the choruses real mob movement, and the superb airs enter under logical motivation both dramatically and musically. Mendelssohn's overtures and symphonies, even most of his songs and piano works have become pitifully archaic in this day of Stravinsky, but the "Elijah" defies age and the spirit of our time, and appears as fresh and vigorous as the day it was written.

The quality of the choir has long been recognized, and last night responded with its best. Frederic Baer sang a most astonishing "Elijah." In voice and manner he approached the music ideally. His prayers were fervent, his accusations disdainful, his exhortations sweeping in their convictions. His music is graded in loveliest nuances and carries the thrill of a big personality. His performance was one of the finest examples of great oratorio singing in our recollection.

Allen Jones will be remembered for his singing in last year's "Messiah." He is the best reminder of the lamented Evan Williams, and has the same style that moved many an audience to tears. Ethel Fox, soprano, is a newcomer, and made a most agreeable impression with her mellow tones. Her early aria, as suppliant, was preferable to the less convincing pleadings in "Hear, Ye, Israel!" Alta Schultz, a Pittsburgh contralto, sang the difficult "O, Rest In the Lord" with repose that was truly beautiful.

It is useless to choose from the many fine numbers the more impressive ones, but surely no one will forget the really celestial quality of the double quartet nor of the trio of sopranos and a contralto. A touch of the spiritual came too in the singing of Robert Bodycomb, the boy soprano.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

78 PIANOS LOANED
FREE

Seventy-Eight Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments), will be placed in homes of Pittsburgh and vicinity and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. We have discontinued eight of our large branch stores, and are placing these instruments in our "Frederick's Annex," located at 915 Liberty Avenue. Instead of storing and holding these pianos for the regular price, we are going to slaughter the prices and take our loss now. If you have ever thought of buying a piano, now is the time. We do not wish to place our instruments in storage and all Pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge For Anything

No cartage, no rent or any expense whatever. You must call at the store to make your selection. There are no strings to this offer, which comes but once in a lifetime.

Victor Radio-Electrola RE-75. De luxe cabinet of classical Italian influence. Employs special oriental walnut; also finest American walnut matched veneers; door-panels in bas-relief. Luxurious, leather-backed, richly colored record albums. Bengalese damask speaker covering, harmonized with cabinet in color and design. Last price, $350; Less Radiotrons.

Surpassing all previous Victor achievements, the new Victor-Radio reaches a new high mark in TONE QUALITY for all time!

Here is a radio instrument that has all the sensitivity and selectivity of sets costing twice as much . . . and, in addition, gives you the breath-taking TONE QUALITY which only Victor's more than 30 years of unrivalled leadership in acoustical science—in tone reproduction—could achieve.

So amazing has been the public reaction to the revolutionary Victor Tone Quality that more than 45,000 of the very first Victor owners have taken the trouble to write voluntarily, "We chose Victor-Radio because of its UNRIVALLED TONE QUALITY!"

They bought Victor-Radio on the basis of the only standard by which Radio should be judged—tone quality. Perfect tone, they reasoned correctly, must also mean mechanical perfection. Only in microsynchronous Victor-Radio could they find that vital balance they sought . . . And only in Victor-Radio could they get freedom from distorting noises without sacrifice of tone quality. That's what direct comparison revealed.

You can have Victor-Radio separately. Or Victor-Radio with the amazing new Electrola . . . that will give you the music you want when you want it, at the mere turn of a tiny knob.

LABOR TO JOIN INCOME TAX PARADE

Green Backs Demonstration To Present Plea Signed By Million to Congress

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Plans are being made today for an income tax reduction parade to be staged December 7 following the acceptance of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, of membership on the advisory committee organizing an Earned Income Tax Reduction Association.

On that date a petition bearing signatures of over 1,000,000 persons urging the reduction will be presented to Congress.

Following a conference at Labor Temple with Maj. Joseph Cacavajo, chief of staff of the parade, President Green Said:

"This is a splendid and necessary gesture to make and it has my whole-hearted indorsement and enthusiastic support. I shall urge all the organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor to participate in this parade and by their presence bear witness to the fact that the movement for a reduction in the taxes and surtaxes on earned incomes has the solid and unqualified support of the working classes.

SERVICE TO PEOPLE

"The Hearst newspapers have rendered the people of this country a wonderful service by conducting this nationwide campaign. The fact that more than 1,000,000 men and women in all walks of life throughout the country took the time and trouble to sign the petitions is a convincing proof that the demand for the reductions is general.

"There can be no doubt that professional and business people who pay high taxes on their incomes add this onto the bills. It is equally true that if people who earn moderate incomes are relieved of some of the burden imposed on them because of the World War, they will have more to spend for food, clothing, recreation and the education of their children.

"Withal, this is a movement in which all unionized men and women should join in a wholesouled way. The bigger the parade and demonstration, the more Congress will be impressed with the fact that the people of the country behind this movement mean business and want legislation for a downward revision at the regular session soon to convene.

DECRIES DELAY

"There should be no long delay. The sensible and just thing for Congress to do is to make the taxes and surtaxes on earned incomes at least 50 per cent less than the rate on unearned incomes derived from cutting coupons or cashing dividend checks."

Maj. Caccavajo expressed his gratification over President Green's enthusiasm and promise of warm co-operation in obtaining the 100 percent active co-operation of working men and women in the unique pageant.

With unionized men and women, veterans, civic, patriotic, fraternal and business groups in the pageant, the participants will number at least 10,000 Maj. Caccavajo said.

In addition to President Green, other members of the Advisory Committee thus far selected include: Isaac Gans, of the Board of Education; Col. Robert N. Harper, president of the District National Bank; Maj. Gen Anton Stephan, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association; Maj. L. E. Atkins, district department commander of the American Legion; Maj. Alex M. Lochwitzsky, chief of staff of the district department of Veterans of Foreign Wars; Capt. C. O. Howard, national adjutant of the Army and Navy Union; Capt. Thomas Kirby, disabled American veterans and Capt. Harvey L. Miller, district department commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Indiana Club, Clergy Ask Income Tax Cut

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Indiana, Pa., yesterday joined in petitioning the government authorities for a reduction of the tax on earned incomes. One of the petitions is headed by two Indiana clergymen, Rev. Robert L. Clark and Rev. J. A. McCancey.

Among the other signers are bankers, public officials, physicians, lawyers and representatives of nearly every line of business in Indiana county.

Volunteer petitioners who seek a fair deal for professional people, salaried men and women and wage earners are signing the petition forms in the Sun-Telegraph and in this manner the number of petitions is increasing daily. The resolution below sets forth the situation which it is desired to change:

To His Excellency, the President of the United States of America;

To His Excellency, the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States of America;

To the Honorable, the Congress of the United States of America:

Whereas, the earned income of an individual is derived from his labor and creative faculties, which are subject to rigid limitations, fluctuations and serious depreciation, while the income from property is a permanent and stable income, it seems inequitable to tax earned incomes on the same basis as incomes from property and invested capital without taking depreciation into consideration; and

Whereas, an earned income is the measure of value of services rendered by the worker to the community and an unearned income is the measure of value of the protection and other benefits received by an individual of the community; and

Whereas, to tax earned incomes heavily is to penalize thrift and industry and is a direct tax on labor and tends to retard enterprise and achievement, therefore

Be it resolved, that we, the undersigned, call these facts to the attention of the President, the Secretary of the Treasury and Congress, in order to secure a reduction of 50 per cent in the tax rate on earned incomes below the tax rate on unearned incomes.

When a White Collar Man "Goes Army"

Perhaps he doesn't learn a few things!

DON'T envy a man who "only has to work a typewriter."

So we were told by Mr. Solon S. Bloom of 3503 Woodbrook Avenue, Baltimore, Md., whose health began to give way because his work gave him no bodily exercise.

"I decided to get away to a military training camp," says Mr. Bloom, "thinking the rough and tumble with the army would do me good for a month. I asked the doctor what to do about my condition. 'I've seen men, I've known men,' he said. 'I know what they eat, drink, and how they live. I know cathartics, physics, and all the ways men try to keep themselves regular—and the only two that go together well are men and Nujol. Nujol soothes and heals the membranes and expels bodily poisons normally, naturally, easily, so that you are regular as clock-work.'"

That was what Mr. Bloom learned when he left his typewriter and went into the army. If you are like most other people, you too will find that Nujol will make all the difference in the world in the way you feel.

Remember Nujol is not a medicine, for it contains no drugs of any kind. It is simply bodily lubrication that everybody needs.

You can get a bottle of Nujol at any good drug store, in a sealed package, for the price of a couple of good cigars. If you will start today and try it for two weeks you will agree that Nujol is the easy normal way to keep well and make a success out of your life. You will be astonished at the results!

BONELLI, IN PITT'S FIRST CAST, TELLS HOW "THE LEPER" TOOK THE TOWN

REHEARSALS have begun at the Pitt Theater for "The Leper," George Seibel's drama of real life, to be produced by George Sharp's Players next week. An interested onlooker at the rehearsal yesterday was William Bonelli, who was in the original cast when this play was first produced at the same theater.

Bonelli is in Pittsburgh this week playing in "Pleasure Bound" at the Alvin. Hearing of "The Leper" led him to the rehearsal at the Pitt, where he has been giving pointers to Robert Fisk, who plays the part of Hobart, which Bonelli took in the first production.

In that production Robert Gleckler was the Doctor and Mary Hall the Girl. The part of the preacher was taken by Louis Kimball and the "heavy," that is the villain, fell to the lot of Bonelli. It is a part that has great acting opportunities and Bonelli made a careful study of it, giving a performance that aroused much favorable comment.

"We were nearly all newcomers in town, and the Pitt Theater had just been made the home of a stock company. After several weeks we still felt uncertain of the future. Miss Hall and Bob Gleckler had friends and admirers in Pittsburgh, but the remainder of the company still were strangers.

New Play Announced

"Then we heard we were going to put on a new play, 'The Leper,' by a Pittsburgh writer. We did not know George Seibel, but knew he was connected with a Pittsburgh newspaper. We knew nothing about the play till rehearsals began, a week or so before the opening.

"Then suddenly we came to realize we six people who formed that cast—that we had a play different from the usual kind. It was more like real life than anything we had come across. Somebody said it was like listening at your neighbor's key-hole, and that was the impression we all got. We knew this much, that the story interested us as no cut-and-dry story of the theater could. We felt like real people passing through a family crisis in actual life.

"Some of us were a little put out when told not to act as if we were acting, just to behave as if we were living through the incidents. It's rather hard on an actor to be told not to act. But soon we found that this was what 'The Leper' required. It wasn't a stage play—it was a chapter lifted out of a family history.

Consulted a Doctor

"We all worked hard. I remember consulting a doctor about some of the business in my part—so I would play it correctly. I don't know whether Louis Kimball called on any preachers, but he certainly made a very convincing clergyman when the curtain went up. I think Hugh Banks will also wear his clerical necktie becomingly.

"Then came the first night. The house was nearly filled. There was more or less applause, but the thing that impressed us most was the intense interest of the audience. The people seemed to be breathless—waiting to find out how everything would turn out.

"Even after the curtain was down, we did not know whether the thing was a success or not. We did not know it when we read the newspaper notices next day. But we soon found it out when we saw the crowds lining up at the boxoffice. The play ran for 24 successive performances in Pittsburgh, which was then a record. In those days the stock company played a daily matinee, and we were almost dead from exhaustion when our Sunday rest came around. But during those two weeks we were buoyed up by the largest and most enthusiastic audiences we ever met. After the third day there was never an empty place in the theater—even the upper gallery was filled to the wall.

Everybody Knew Us Now

"From that day the new Pitt stock company felt at home in Pittsburgh. They had been made known to everybody by 'The Leper.' George Seibel's drama which is to be presented at the Pitt again next week, on the same stage that saw its first production.

"I know that in Detroit, Washington and other places the drama was received the same way. Some scenes have been rewritten by the author, but it remains the gripping story of real life that made history at the Pitt when I was the 'heavy' in the original cast."

Lillian Desmond, a young actress of much beauty and charm, has been specially engaged by George Sharp to play the part of the Girl, originally played by Mary Hall. Others in the cast are Hugh Banks, Robert Fisk, Mabel Kroman, Alice Ann Baker and Harland Tucker, who will play the Doctor, originally played by Robert Gleckler.

Stanley to Give Show at Midnight

A special midnight showing of "Paris" will be held in the Stanley tonight. "Paris" stars the same actress who was featured in the stage production of the play, Irene Bordoni. There will not be a stage production, but the master of ceremonies, Dick Powell, will sing request numbers.

SEIBEL PLAY IN COMING BILLS

"The Leper," by George Seibel dramatic critic of the Sun-Telegraph, which is to be presented by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week, has all the punch and interest that attaches to the best of drama, and it carries with it stern teachings, yet it sparkles with bright lines, pleasant scenes and rich humor.

The seat sale opens tomorrow in the box office of the Nixon for "Pygmalion," comedy of morality and manners by Bernard Shaw. This play is about the transforming of a ragamuffin flower girl into a lady by a professor of phonetics. It will be the fourth

Neville Poco-Mixed Coke Will Give You Clean Heat in Your Home

NEVILLE POCO-MIXED COKE

If you want to enjoy clean heat this Winter phone your dealer now and tell him to send you a load of Neville Poco-Mixed Coke.

No matter what your former experiences have been, you cannot fully appreciate the cleanliness, the comfort and the great satisfaction of coke for home heating until you have tried this better coke.

Neville Poco-Mixed Coke is made of the finest Pittsburgh coal and Pocahontas coal in exact proportions to produce an ideal fuel. It is high in carbon and low in ash. It is slow-burning, gives intense uniform heat, and is free from smoke and soot.

If your dealer can't fill your order promptly phone our city office—ATlantic 2290—and we will give you the name of a nearby dealer who can supply you.

KONJOLA ENDS STOMACH ILLS OF WORST KIND

Misery of Years' Standing Yields in Few Weeks After This Man Began Taking Konjola.

What a wonderful medicine Konjola is when it conquers, time after time, when hope of ever finding the right remedy for those stubborn ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels has been abandoned. But Konjola does that very thing, time after time, as the proven records show.

MR. JOSEPH McVERRY

After all, it is the actual conquests, the actual results, that count, and Konjola can be depended upon for results. It is not a "cure-all," it is a new and different medicine, which goes to the very source of the ailing organs, and starts the battle there. It is not designed to give mere temporary relief, it goes beyond that, stimulating the ailing parts and sweeping the system clear of the accumulated poisons and impurities. The experience of Mr. Joseph McVerry, 1260 Pocomo Street, is not exceptional. It is one of many hundreds of such cases, as the Konjola Man now in Pittsburgh can tell you. See him at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street. He will show you the amazing results accomplished by this new medicine. Let him explain its merits, all proven by men and women in Pittsburgh and vicinity. Mr. McVerry asked the Konjola Man to tell all sufferers what his experience had been. He said:

"For five years I suffered from stomach trouble and constipation. I could find nothing that would give me relief. After every meal I would suffer terribly with cramps and gas pains. Cathartics only temporarily relieved my constipated condition. I lost my appetite, and even when hungry was afraid to put food into my stomach because of the pain I knew would follow. I was rapidly losing weight and growing weaker. I had read a great deal about Konjola in the papers, and decided to try it, although I had little faith anything would help me.

"I can never express my gratitude for this great medicine. I began to improve before I had taken three bottles, my appetite was coming back, my food no longer brought on the cramping sensation in my stomach. I continued to take Konjola, and today I eat all I want of any food I like, with no bad effects whatever. My constipation has entirely disappeared, and I have gained more than eight pounds. My work, which had become mere drudgery, is now a pleasure. All this in a few weeks, and I give all the credit to Konjola."

So it goes: the same splendid story of success, wherever and whenever Konjola is given a chance to prove its merits and its powers.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. Konjola is also sold at all Dow Drug Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

FREE PRISONER ON WRIT

Charles F. Kerr, Jr., of Murray avenue, was ordered released from the county jail by Judge George W. Moore after a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus. According to the testimony, Kerr was walking on Murray avenue near his home November 16 and two men in an automobile having the appearance of an army car arrested him and lodged him in No. 6 police station and the next day he was placed in the county jail, on a National Guard warrant.

A few days later a commitment was lodged in the jail, stating that a hearing was held by a summary court martial of the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery and that Kerr was convicted and given a jail sentence to expire December 5, it was testified. Attorney Ben Lencher contended the proceeding was irregular, that no charge was lodged, no hearing held and the sentence was not approved by Col. Eric Fisher Wood, commanding officer.

offering of the Theater Guild's subscription season.

There will be a special Thanksgiving Day matinee of the revue, "Pleasure Bound," in the Shubert Alvin tomorrow, and another matinee Saturday. Jack Pearl, Phil Baker, Aileen Stanley and Shaw and Lee head the large cast of funmakers.

"SHREW" ON SCREEN

"Taming of the Shrew," Shakespeare's comedy, brings Douglas Fairbanks and his wife, Mary Pickford, to the screen for the first time as co-star. This talk film comes to Loew's Penn, Monday, December 2. Charles King will be the principal feature in the stage show.

"The Sacred Flame," featuring Conrad Nagel and Lila Lee, with Sydney Blackmer and Pauline Frederick, will be the all-talking attraction on the Stanley screen Friday. On the stage Dick Powell will present "Frills and Fancies."

"They Had to See Paris," Will Rogers' first starring vehicle for Fox movietone, comes to the Aldine, Monday, December 2. In it Pike Peters strikes oil and becomes so rich his wife insists on taking the family abroad, where much of the action takes place.

"Disraeli," starring George Arliss, will remain at the Grand for a second week as the all-talking screen attraction, beginning Thursday.

BELLE BAKER IN FILMS

"The Song of Love" talkie, which comes to the Harris screen Saturday, will introduce Belle Baker, vaudeville songstress, to the screen audience. Ralph Graves has the leading male role. There also will be variety acts on the stage.

Dorothy Mackaill comes to the Enright Saturday in her latest all-talking production, "The Love Racket." On the stage Jay Mills will present "Pirate Capers."

The seating capacity of the Sheridan Square has been taxed to the limit during the first showings of Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita," and announcement is made that the production will be held for a second week.

Two extra performances will be given in the Academy tonight. A midnight performance will begin at 12:05 o'clock and will be followed immediately with another show. "Sliding Billy Watson" will be the attraction.

Bessie Love is preparing to go forth into the theatrical spaces of the Middle West on a personal appearance tour. This appears to be another economic racket on the part of the studios. When a player is between pictures, that player is sent forth on personal appearances. Thus earning his or her "salary keep."

Ruth Taylor In Motor Crash

RUTH TAYLOR'S grandmother took her sister for a ride on a Sunday. A wildish driver tore into her car. The speed of the impact overturned it and seriously injured both Miss Taylor's grandmother and her sister. Ruth's grandmother is suing the driver for $50,000. She is confined to her bed with external and internal injuries and Ruth is head nurse and head chef. Mrs. Taylor will recover. But oh, these Sunday drivers.

"Good News" is en route to the silver sheet bearing the M. G. M. banner lion. Hear tell that Charles Kagel will sing the lead. He's a young man imported from New York for "Lord Byron of Broadway" and now we know as much as we knew before.

John Decker, clever cartoonist and artist, has fashioned a novel bust of Paul Whiteman. John calls it "Paul Whiteman in Egg and Olive Oil." The head is actually an egg with face cunningly painted in and looking 100 per cent Whiteman. The shirt front is painted cardboard. The bust is on exhibition in the Braxton galleries.

ROSENBAUM'S

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Holiday Bud Bouquet Is Brilliant

IT IS the day before Thanksgiving, and all through the city everyone is hurrying from one event to another, and making plans for tomorrow. And of all these busy folks, by far the busiest are the debs.

Tomatin Hall Wilson Wright's are presenting their winsome young daughter, Virginia Frew Wright, [illegible] at a dinner dance in the [illegible] Golf Club and [illegible] Reed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hay Reed, will make her debut at a tea dance in the Pittsburgh Golf Club, and Lieutenant Thomas Fitch Gamble, Jr., of Mrs. Chester Marsh Van Kleeck will make her bow tomorrow at a supper, to be followed by dancing for the younger set in the Allegheny Country Club.

And last night the debutantes were guests at a dinner dance Senator and Mrs. David Aiken Reed gave in the Pittsburgh Club for their niece, Frances Reed. Covers were laid for 60, and the tables were decorated with chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bud looked charming in a biscuit-colored transparent velvet gown, moulded to the figure, and fashioned with a very long skirt. Her mother was in black lace.

A NUMBER of informal entertainments have been given for Mary Virginia Felty, of Rowlesburg, W. Va., a debutante of the season who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. W. D. Grimes, South Negley avenue, for the past fortnight. She'll be here over the Thanksgiving holidays, too.

Yesterday Mrs. Frank Follansbee entertained with a tea in her home for Virginia and Mrs. Murray Grimes entertained last week for her as did Miss Helen Grimes. And Sunday the W. D. Grimeses gave a dinner in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club for Virginia.

AMONG those arriving in the city for Thanksgiving will be Miss Mildred Carlisle Burgwin, daughter of Mr. Augustus Burgwin. She's expected here tomorrow, and will be the guest of the George Collinson Burgwins, of Bayard street. On Saturday she'll become the bride of Richardson King Wood, of New York.

AND now the homeward rush for the holidays begins with the arrival tomorrow from the East of Sara Ross, debutante daughter of the John H. Rosses, of Madison, N. J., and Dorothy Dodson, debutante daughter of the Alen Dodsons, of Bethlehem, Pa., who will be guests of the Charles Layng Doyles and their deb daughter, Rebecca, in their home, "Vineacre," on Woodland road, Sewickley. And Rebecca's uncle, Charles Oliver, of Termon avenue, North Side, will give a dinner-dance for all three buds on Friday evening in the Pittsburgh Club.

AND now I want to tell you of another of the numerous Thanksgiving celebrations, a dinner in the Allegheny Country Club on Monday evening, given by James Crossan Chaplin, Jr., of Frederick avenue, Sewickley, in honor of Norman H. Pitcairn. There were 75 guests.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD M. WEST, of Club drive, South Hills, will entertain Thanksgiving evening with a dinner dance in the South Hills Country Club in honor of their grandson, Paul T. Evans, Jr., and Mrs. Evans, who was the former Emma Murray, of Oakland, before her marriage on November 9. Mr. and Mrs. Evans will reside in Malvern road, Avalon.

MISS LOUISE HILL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fulton Hill, of Kinsman road, will become the bride of Harry Wendell McCobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clyde McCobb, of New York, on Saturday, December 7. The ceremony will take place that evening in the home of the bride's parents and then Mr. and Mrs. McCobb will make their home in Columbia, South America.

Miss Hill is a graduate of the Martha Washington Seminary in Washington and later attended Margaret Morrison. Her fiance is a graduate of the University of Michigan and took post-graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh.

A CARD PARTY will be held by the Col. John I. Nevin Circle No. 85, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, this evening at 9 o'clock in Norpa Hall, Collins avenue, East End. Euchre, "500" and Old Maid will be features.

MISS VIVIAN JANICE COHEN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Maier Cohen, of Coraopolis, will leave this evening for Philadelphia to attend the Penn-Cornell game, and will visit Atlantic City and New York before returning home.

THE women of the Benevolent Protective Order of the Elks, No. 11, will hold a card party on Tuesday evening, December 3, in the Elks' Temple, Seventh avenue and Duquesne way. Bridge, "500" and euchre will begin at 9 o'clock.

LADY PARK REBEKAH LODGE No. 486, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will hold a card and bingo party in Mendel's Hall, East Ohio street, on Saturday evening.

THE Pittsburgh Club of Notre Dame will give its annual New Year's ball on the evening of January 1.

THE Alumnae Association of St. Xavier's Academy of Beatty, Pa., will hold a bridge party on Saturday afternoon in the Rittenhouse. Mrs. Helen Donahoe McCrory and Mrs. Margaret Stubbe Henne will be the hostesses.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. H. S. ARMSTRONG, of Cleveland avenue, Avalon, entertained the Azure Bible class of the Avalon Presbyterian Church at their home last night. A program of games and music was arranged for the entertainment of the guests, Miss Ruth Berry, pianist, furnishing the music. Mrs. William Scott and Mrs. Joseph Burns assisted Mrs. Armstrong. Charles Fisher is president of the class; Mr. Armstrong is vice president, and Dr. Joseph Baldridge is teacher.

* * *

MRS. FANNIE SCHMIDT, of Hobart street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ruth Schmidt, to Ralph J. Labowitz, of Pittsburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Labowitz, of Youngstown, O.

CATHOLIC Daughters of America, South Hills Court, No. 623, will hold a card party in Oppenheim-Collins on Saturday, "500," bridge and euchre will be played and will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

* * *

THE Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association will give a dance and entertainment on Thanksgiving evening in the association's auditorium. Reservations may be made at the "Y" office on Bellefield avenue.

* * *

A THANKSGIVING dinner will be served in the Pittsburgh Country Club, on Beechwood boulevard, tomorrow from 6:30 to 9:30 o'clock. There also will be dancing from 8:30 to midnight.

Brazil Will Admit German Refugees

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Brazil has agreed to accept a large percentage of the German-Russian refugees, some of whom already are in Germany while others are awaiting opportunity to leave Russia. The peasants will be given refuge in Southern Brazil where there are a number of German settlements.

Banker Elected Trade Board Head

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

Printed silk in a small and pleasing pattern was chosen for this outstanding design. One could also used printed crepe or satin crepe, or velvet, plain or printed. Asymmetric lines are featured here and graceful fulness is expressed in a group of plaits at the left side of the front. Tiny shoulder tucks trim the waist portion of the front, which is finished with a vestee in V outline, and lapped in surplice effect. The dress closes at the left side of the front. The sleeve is a fitted model.

The pattern for this stylish design is cut in 8 sizes: 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52 inches bust measure and corresponding hip measure for slender hips. To make the dress for a 46-inch size will require 5 yards of 39-inch material. For vestee and belt of contrasting material $\frac{3}{8}$ yard 39 inches wide is required cut crosswise. To finish with bias binding, a pictured in the large view, will require $3\frac{3}{4}$ yards $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide. The width of the dress at the lower edge with plait fulness extended is $2\frac{1}{4}$ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Use of Ferrets For Rabbits Costly

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 27.—It is expensive to hunt rabbits with ferrets in this state. Ben Rutter, of Ellwood City, Pa., and Dean Rutter, of McKeesport, Pa., caught using one, paid fines and costs amounting to $162 when taken before Alderman O. H. P. Green by Game Protector Frank H. Johnston and Deputies Wayne Sines and O. E. Koonse.

Tom Skeyhill Tells About Mussolini

TOM SKEYHILL'S talk on "Mussolini and the Black Shirts" at the forum supper, Central Branch Young Women's Christian Association, last night, ended in a preachment against lax citizenship.

He said in part:

"Learn that for every privilege there is a responsibility. If you want the right to vote, you must exercise that right. Pick out the noblest men and women you can find, put them in office and stand behind them. Once you put laws on your statute books, obey them without quibbling. Bring up your children to abhor autocracy and tyranny and to assume leadership and become the democratic citizens of tomorrow. Italy had a democracy but she failed to educate her young people to perpetuate it, and today those young people are wearing black shirts."

All this followed Mr. Skeyhill's intensely interesting and eloquent sketch of Mussolini's career, particularly since his entrance into Italy's political life. Skeyhill was in the press box when "Il Duce" made his spectacular demand for administration approval, and his description of that occasion was fascinating as well as highly amusing.

So strongly intrenched in power is the Italian dictator that were he to die tomorrow Italy would go on, Skeyhill said. The country has been put back into the middle ages, where autocracy belongs. Mussolini is an autocrat. While he stays in power, he gets what he wants. He takes it any way, Skeyhill tersely remarked, and in speaking of Mussolini's going into the cage of his lioness companion, he observed, "If anything in that cage gets eaten, it won't be Mussolini." The Italians are a race of lovable children, who racial ego Mussolini tickles and upon whose hearts he plays with a mas- and at times something of a charter touch. He is much of a buffon latan, but Mussolini is Italy, Skeyhill declared.

An audience of 250 men and women heard the lecture following supper and a musical program by J. E. McLuckie, who was accompanied by his wife.

OF Ruth Breton, the young violinist who will appear in recital before the Sewickley Valley Woman's Club Monday afternoon, it has been said she is "one of those people who go to bed persons and wake up personages." Emerging three years ago from the background of a southern city, Miss Breton already has won a coveted niche in the capitals of five countries. Receiving her first instruction from her father, she made her first public appearance at the age of 11. Her debut as a mature artist, after having studied with Franz Kneisel and Leopold Auer, was made with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in Louisville. Since then she has appeared with almost every orchestra of note in the United States and has made much-lauded appearances in European cities.

ONE THOUSAND members and friends of Pittsburgh Section, National Council of Jewish Women, gathered in the Y. M. and W. H. A. yesterday afternoon to celebrate the section's 35 years of progress and usefulness. As the chief feature of the celebration there was Dr. Luba Robin Goldsmith's pageant, "Fruit of the Tree," cleverly and entertainingly written, artistically produced and acted with skill. Through the ingeniously arranged episodes, were shown the formation of the council (an exact replica as to lines, these having been preserved in the minutes) and its various activities—religious schools, immigrant aid, scholarship work, service shop—taking the audience up to the year 2,000 with work so completely finished that only a call from Mars gave the members further field for work.

Of especial interest was a Midway Plaisance scene (Council was formed shortly after the Chicago World's Fair) in which some excruciatingly funny lines and equally amusing and authentic costuming. The ceremony of the blessing of the candles was beautifully done and there was traditional music by Mrs. Caroline Himmelblau, Mrs. Edith Canter Bazear and Mrs. Goodman A Rose and instrumental music by Miss Grace Bazell, cello; Ralph Federer, piano, and Miss Florence Solovey, violin.

Mrs. Raymond Kaufmann, president, welcomed the guests. Miss Ruth Schwartz, of the Pittsburgh Juniors, and Miss Minnie Stein, national Jewish Junior president, also spoke.

MANY EVENING GARMENTS TRIMMED WITH RABBIT FUR

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—It is to be hoped that Brer Fox and Brer Rabbit have really buried the hatchet, for they are to be observed together in the nicest places this season. There is no doubt of it both of these furs together with broadtail have emerged as the most popular furs of the season. Times have changed for the rabbit, that it can be bracketed with such aristocratic pelts, and there is surely no more need for Brer Rabbit to "lay low and say nothing."

The short or long coat of lapin has been the choice of many a smart woman for a sports or walking coat, and it has been used in delightful fashion on some charming evening wraps destined to keep many a rosy-cheeked school girl in high good humor during the coming festive season.

AS TO fox, it has been so expensively and extensively used this season both on day and evening clothes that it certainly can speak for itself as the darling of the mode. It has such a clearly defined air of luxury about it, and it adds such richness and distinction to any garment that adorns without overdressing it, so is small wonder that it is so much in vogue. Broadtail is a fur that exudes such an air of breeding and distinction that its very possession is an indication of the good taste and elegance of the woman who dons it.

SHOWN today is a lovely coat expressing its charm through the medium of broadtail. It is from the very distinguished fur house of Heim, and is very much of the mode with its ample cape. The upper part of the coat is of black cloth just sufficient to contrast with the beautifully marked fur that forms the cape and lower part of the coat. The cape has a slight circular movement and there is a suggestion of a slight flare in the lines of the coat itself.

OF COURSE, the fur that embellishes the alluring evening ensemble here depicted is of fox. The frock is of black georgette, over which Lanvin places a two-third coat of emerald green velvet with a black fox collar and huge square sleeves. Matching green georgette makes the shoulder straps colorful, as does the emerald buckle of the stitched belt.

"Pose as my wife— no one will ever know!"

Drawn by Constance Benson Bailey

"MY WIFE is gone!" In despair, Van Fleming confided in the girl who had been his wife's "double" in many pictures. The great Varslanova, the star he had made—the woman he had loved—was headed for the Orient with her lover, Ramon.

Arline listened in amazement. Varslanova gone! "But her new picture," she cried . . . "You've spent a fortune on it."

"That's just it!" Van Fleming answered frantically. "Will you take her place, Arline? You look just like her. You've 'doubled' for her many times. No one will ever know."

"You mean . . . pose as your wife?"

"It's our only chance, Arline!"

What could she say? She loved him—had secretly loved him for months. Dare she pose as his wife when any day his real wife might return? To her it meant wealth—fame—stardom. But it might also mean disgrace if the public ever found out the truth.

What did Arline do? Did she double in real life for the great Varslanova? And was the amazing masquerade discovered? Read this thrilling story of Hollywood, "His Leading Lady" by Jane Littell complete in the November 30th issue of Love Story Magazine.

What is your love problem?

What would you do if your husband should fall in love with another woman? Or if you are single—what would you do if your sweetheart left you? What kind of men do girls like? What kind of women do men fall in love with?

These are the kind of questions that Laura Alston Brown answers every week for hundreds of men and women in her helpful department—"The Friend in Need." Do you want information, help? Laura Alston Brown is ready to aid you at all times.

Many Thrilling Stories of Love in Nov. 30th Issue

"Heartache Garden" by Ethel Donoher is a complete novelette of love and mystery. "It was strange how very calm she felt, Cecily thought, when in another moment she would be dead." This is the opening of an absorbing romance; "The Balance of the Scales."

Don't miss "The Extra Guest," "Second Place," "The Dimple in Patricia's Chin," "The Heart Decides," and "Sally's House," "Swamp Flower" by Vivian Grey and "The Girl Who Had Everything" by Elizabeth York Miller, two serial novels.

Financier's Death Shuts 12 Okla. Banks

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—C. Graves Shull, state bank commissioner, announced today that 12 state banks failed to open their doors today as the result of the unexpected death from apoplexy last night of H. A. McCauley, 55, of Sapulpa, who was interested in all 12. Representatives of the state bank department were placed in charge at each institution. The banks announced as closed were: Sapulpa State Bank, Bank of Mounds, Henryette State Bank, Bank of Commerce, Weleetka; First State Bank, Viano; Citizens State Bank, Webbers Falls; Davenport State Bank; Oilton State Bank; First State Bank, Terlton; Avant State Bank; Keystone State Bank and the Bank of Kellyville.

Learn to Fly, Lindy Advises U. S. Youth

PRINCETON, N. H., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Go up, young man. Col. Lindbergh, interviewed by the Daily Princetonian, has modernized Horace Greeley. A young man will find it enormously to his advantage to learn tofly, the Colonel says. Just as anyone can learn with ease to run a 30-foot launch, although a skilled pilot is necessary for an ocean liner, so one can learn to fly a private plane without the enormous effort involved to become a transport pilot, he says.

SAVE

MONEY has been coming pretty easy. A lot of folks began to think that all they had to do was just stoop down and pick it out of the street---- Wall Street. Easy come, easy go. Everybody was "blowing themselves" like drunken sailors. The big hearted butter and egg men were tipping the entertainers in the night clubs as much as a hundred dollars. Luxuries held the center of the stage. Ritzy stores cashed in on the extravagance of the public. Price was no object. All sense of values was lost sight of.

¶ Then came the morning after! And what an awakening! It was an Arabian Nights party while it lasted. But when we got that badly needed ice cold bath it cleared our minds of dreams and made room for facts. We've been up in the air long enough and we ought to be grateful that we once more have both feet on solid ground. The only way a nation can progress constructively is by hard work and a whole lot of well-meaning people who have been spending their time chasing the pot of gold at the end of a rainbow, have gone back to work and become producers. President Hoover is showing the way: let's all swing in behind him and get back to normalcy.

¶ Now that we're down to brass tacks again, money has a different meaning for us. We are not inclined to throw it away or to spend it as foolishly as we used to. We are for the first time in years thinking in terms of SAVING.

¶ What store comes to your mind first when you begin to think of saving? You know and every other person in this town knows that its FRANK & SEDER. We have never been fancy and we never charged fancy prices. Correctly styled merchandise of dependable standard quality bought at economical prices to sell at economical prices. That sums up the Frank & Seder policy.

¶ Come on, let's all climb down from our high horses: chuck our false pride, act human and be ourselves. Get the Frank & Seder habit. We're real folks, ready to serve you on the friendliest kind of footing. We've been catering all our lives to the average man and woman who have to consider every dollar they spend, and that's a pretty good recomendation for you and every other person to trade here if you want to save.

Talk is cheap but it takes money to buy newspaper space. And when we have courage enough to buy SIXTEEN PAGES of ADVERTISING in tomorrow morning's paper to launch our NATIONAL SALES DAYS for FRIDAY and SATURDAY it proves that we have confidence in the buying power of the public. It will be the greatest THRIFT DEMONSTRATION ever staged in this city, and we are prepared for an overwhelming response to our challenge to SAVE.

FRANK & SEDER

AVIATION Grade means this--The INITIAL BOILING POINT is under 100° Fahrenheit, its END or DRY POINT is 374° Fahrenheit, the last drop vaporizes at this temperature and complete vaporization is the whole thing in winter starting.

Ordinary gasolines have an end or dry point of 437° Fahrenheit and do not vaporize readily -- Such gasolines may be doped with chemicals for anti-knock purposes but possess no cold weather starting value.

The 63° Fahrenheit between end points of 374° and 437° not only slows down vaporization but charges the cylinder with raw unignited gasoline which passes the rings into the crank case diluting and ruining the lubricating oil--Choking only adds to the amount which passes the rings--Start right with NO-NOX--End worry and insure a safe return at night.

THANKSGIVING SPIRIT TO PREVAIL IN RADIO PROGRAMS

TWO FOOTBALL GAMES TO BE BROADCAST

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

RADIO'S contribution to the Thanksgiving Day fun will consist of a sumptuous dish of program material, finally garnished with two football contests and pinnacled by the return to the air of our famous Irish tenor, John McCormack.

The spirit of Thanksgiving is manifest in nearly every concert scheduled today and tomorrow. Locally, everybody will get excited tonight at 11 p. m. when the Penn State Band of 75 men invades the KDKA studio for the annual pre-holiday program.

Two football classics tomorrow afternoon will hold the interest of Pittsburgh grid fans. The Pennsylvania-Cornell fracas will be broadcast here by WCAE at 1:45. At 2:30, with Paul J. Miller at the microphone, KQV will give a description of the Tech-New York U. affair. McNamee will handle the Cornell fray.

John McCormack will be the radio star tomorrow night at 10 WCAE.

Folks who must worship at home will have their pick of several good services on the air. WJAS will have the special Festival Service from Washington Cathedral at 11 a. m.

Bill Munday will be in bounds when he announces the Maxwell concert through KDKA at 9:30 Thursday night, for he has done this kind of work before with praise.

Things here and there that must be mentioned include Olive Palmer's singing of "The Beautiful Blue Danube" through WCAE at 9:30 tonight; the Victor Herbert Medley on Kolster Hour, WJAS at 10; the excellent Stromberg-Carlson concert over KDKA at 10:30; Seth Parker's Old Fashioned Singing School, a WCAE feature at 7:30 Thursday; Artie Oehlinger as the guest star of Lehn & Fink Serenade Thursday night at 8 p. m., KDKA; James Melton and Elliott Shaw in the duet from "The Pearl Fishers," WCAE at 8:30, and a stupendously pleasing arrangement of numbers for the Melody Moments concert through WCAE at 9:30 Thanksgiving Night.

We Now Present

Granted a year's leave of absence from WTAL, Toledo, to study music at Carnegie Tech, Pearl Silverman—blonde and a school teacher—has been added to the WJAS staff as piano accompanist.

Excerpts of "Caveleria Rusticana" will be presented over WCAE at 5:30 today when the story of the opera is told by Robert G. Simms-St. Martini' of the Pittsburgh Grand Opera Company.

Paul M. Land is in town—sans spats, sans cane. We remember him as manager of WCAE in the pioneer days, later program director for KDKA and more recently the manager of a radio entertainment bureau in Wheeling.

THEY BUY TWO NOW:

Homes with two radio sets in Pittsburgh are becoming common, according to Wallace Russell manager of the Standard Talking Machine Company local Sparton distributor, who says that more and more persons are keeping their old sets instead of turning them in on new ones.

"Most of these older-type sets," says Mr. Russell, "are going into playrooms for children in the basement, or in boys' rooms, so they listen to their own favorite programs without intruding their juvenile tastes on the family."

A solid walnut radio cabinet almost six feet high and four feet wide, has been imported by WJAS officials for their reception room in the Law-Finance Building. It is valued at a thousand simoleons.

Sophie Tucker is scheduled to sing over WBBM at midnight.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

Undoubtedly clever is the Homestead schoolboy who turned in this answer—

"First class powers at present time include United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Japan and KDKA."

ALL THE WORK done the day before FOR THIS THANKSGIVING

IT'S all very well to sit back and enjoy your turkey, but it's quite another thing to have to prepare the dinner. For the fortunate woman who has a General Electric Refrigerator much of the drudgery is eliminated.

Entrees, salads and desserts (all the trimmings that take so much time) can be prepared the day before. Then they will be chilled to new goodness and finer flavor .... in a General Electric.

Quietly, automatically, this simplest and most trouble-free refrigerator guards your food from deterioration and spoilage, makes plenty of ice cubes and freezes the delicacies which are now accepted as part of every well-balanced and appetizing menu.

Remember, too, that these are the only refrigerators which have an all-steel cabinet and an hermetically sealed mechanism mounted on top. They also have an accessible freezing regulator. Come in and see the various models. Our convenient payment plan will put a General Electric Refrigerator in your home today.

THIS RECORD STANDS ALONE

There are now more than 350,000 homes enjoying the economy, convenience and health-guarding service of General Electric Refrigerators—and not one owner has ever had to spend a single dollar for repairs or service.

Every General Electric Refrigerator is Hermetically Sealed

Miss Pat by Elenore Meherin

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Mary Patricia Dawn, young and beautiful, is in love with Guy Elliott, handsome aviator. Guy is perfecting a plane which old William Bryce is to manufacture. Pat meets Bryce's widowed daughter-in-law and wonders if Guy is intrigued by Barbara's beauty. Bryce sends Tom Burns, a workman, to jail for attempted robbery. Pat has gay times with Lee Templeton, young college student. Pat's father is stricken with pneumonia. He is dying and the family is called to his bedside.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

LAURA was on her knees. She was praying. She got up quietly when Pat stood there, calling faintly, "Mother—oh, mother!"

She went down the hall like a streak.

They were all in the room now. Richard lay propped with pillows. Now and then his hand flung upward; now and then came a pause in the loud, appalling groan of his breath. But he gave no sign that he was aware of them.

Dying. They were waiting for Richard to die.

Pat, with Dickie pressed close to her shoulder, took a step nearer to the bed. She wanted to see her father's hair—just his forehead and the curls going up so stingily, so boyishly above his ears. These were the same. Like always.

Suddenly up from the garden came a bird-song, clear, inquiring, sweet.

Richard opened his eyes. They turned on Laura. With immense effort he reached a hand to his wife. He seemed trying to speak, to smile. The light of courage of recognition, even as it flickered was gone. Like a physical presence, a darkness went across his features, a look of shock of bewilderment came into the blue, wide-opened eyes.

Richard dropped back against the pillows.

Dead. He lay there—stilled. The word they were straining to hear would not be spoken. He never would speak again.

There was no believing this, and no accepting it. Behind that door they have now closed he is lying. We will steal back to it. He will glance up at us and grin.

Impossible that he is unalterably finished. Pat looked in her father's face as he lay in his coffin. The charm and whim had mysteriously returned; even a vague laugh on his eyes and lips. Just the way he looked on the wedding anniversary when he winked as Pat so debonairly fixed his tie; just the faint chuckle as he stooped with that quick, "Which do you love the most, Pat, your Dad or your Guy?"

It was but two weeks ago. And young ... jaunty as a boy with his first love as he went running down the path, Laura's hand tucked in his. He could not be dead. It was devastating the way this sense of unreality persisted. They thought of him as though he must return soon and happily he would rejoin them.

Yet all the while they were conscious of Richard's unfinished tasks; all the while they knew the bleak threads of a harshly-altered life must now be taken up.

Here was the home he had builded them. The trees in the garden were like persons; the flowers were gay little sprites. They belonged to the Dawns; they were part of the household.

It was shocking that they would now have to walk out of his home, they would have to close doors on all the poignantly tender associations.

But they would. With Richard gone, the lovely place with its old-world garden, its blue larkspur and climbing pink Castilian roses, could not be maintained. It was but partly paid for. A big balance, $16,000, remained to clear. The monthly installments, plus taxes and interest, reached $200 a month. Their total income, from bonds Richard left, was $125. Of this, three dependents could procure only the simplest fare and shelter.

Sell the house; give up college; get down to bare necessities. In this way only they could manage until Pat was earning. This she must now prepare to do.

Very completely Pat realized it. But the moment of severing dear ties is hard.

One afternoon she came home from college. She was finishing the first year since all her tuition was paid. There was a sign on the house. It hung from her balcony and could be seen with plain clearness from the road. Bargain—inquire within.

She cropped mutely to the bench under the great pepper tree. She felt that her father looked down on that placard, wounded and helpless.

Dickie came silently and sitting very close to Pat touched his chin on his feet. "Say, why didn't she tell us first? Say, why we going to sell it?"

"It's too big now."

"Gee! Dad didn't take up so much room, did he? I bet he wouldn't want us to sell it. Gee, I don't see why he had to die, do you, Pat?"

How many times in her own colossal bewilderment Pat had uttered the same bitter cry!

She now got up and went to her mother.

Laura was white. She spoke with suppressed, stormy excitement. "I'm sorry I couldn't have prepared you, Pat. They were not to put up the sign until tomorrow. You see I tried to have the installments reduced, to have them waive payment on the principal for a few months. I couldn't arrange it. So we simply must dispose of the house. And quickly. To maintain it alone takes $75 more than our total income. It leaves nothing for food—nothing for living. I've had to sell two bonds already."

"And if we don't find a buyer for the house?" queried Pat in a small, pallid voice.

"We will. It should be readily salable. We MUST!"

Two months passed; then three. Then it was October. Half a dozen times the house had almost been sold. But a husband or a sister would insist the place was inaccessible and no help would walk these miles from the station; or they needed a fourth bathroom; or those rough dark beams gave the living room an ancient air. It wasn't new-looking, wasn't modern.

Laura listened to comments like this. Her heart grew sick. She went about with imperturbable calm. But she was utterly desperate. And when she was forced, even with the most rigid economy, to sell a third bond she asked herself with fright: "What am I to do? We simply CAN'T keep this up!"

Pat, now at business college, studied relentlessly. She was going to make the course in four months. But even with this hope she couldn't earn enough. She couldn't take her father's gallant place. She grew pale, intent, nervous.

"It's up to me," thought Guy, one lovely moonlit night as he and Pat leaned on the hedge. "I should be the one to meet it. And I will."

He pressed little brown hands against the moist leaves. "Pat, they gave me a notice in the Aero Digest—a dazzling tribute. Here, I've the proofs. You can read it."

Their heads close, they scanned the words. Then he took Pat's face in his hands and looked into the gloriously shining emerald eyes. "Bryce will be excited now. He'll see the commercial possibilities. We'll get going with a flourish. He's got to do it, Pat"—happy, smiling lips closing on hers—"you won't have to wait much longer before you'll be putting papa's slippers at the fire and the seven wonders of the world to bed."

With a deep, thrilled sigh: "You're sure, Guy? You think he'll rush it—oh, like that?"

"You bet! Pat— we can take over the house and its tenants—all live here and make a magnificent go of it."

"Could we—you think we could?" They laughed against each other's cheek and laughed in each other's eyes.

In the morning Guy went to see William Bryce. Nancy Brack gave withering news.

"Not in, ole dear. And not likely to be around for a week or so.

"He seems to have forgotten he has an airplane factory.

"He'd like to forget a good many of his obligations."

"Why? What's up?"

Nancy shrugged. "Nothing up. Everything's down. All his paper profits vanished. Ever hear of the June break? Little Willie pyramided his bank stocks once too often. Dropped a cool three million in one day. Hadn't recovered from that when his copper stocks went down. They demanded more margin. He couldn't get it. They sold him out.

"And the latest is his residence park—about to crash. Notes coming due, no coin to meet them. Nothing left to mortgage.

"So William has gone into seclusion. Takes a nice sunny office in town, hires a cheap little steno, and leaves me out here to stall off bankers and brokers shouting for collateral."

"I guess he'll pull through," said Guy with a great effort at lightness. He's been in jams before."

Nancy gave a careless twitter. "Whistle and wait, love! But if you've any loose change, don't let the old man hear of it. He'd pry it out of Shylock."

Guy went back to his work in a state of fury, of bitter insufficience. Pat would be forced from her home, she would meet deprivation, even want.

That same night Laura Dawn sat in Richard's study. Among Richard's papers she had found a letter. And now with rapid heart she pondered it.

The letter was from William Bryce, sent just before Richard's last illness.

"Enclosing balance of $75 due you. Ad campaign was a bully success, thanks to your work. By the way, have you been following Robnell Copper? If you'd bought when I gave you the tip, your $5,000 would now be $50,000. Crystal Power is going to duplicate this performance. Get in on the ground floor. Your $25,000 will be $75,000 by Christmas."

The letter came like an answer to Laura's prayers. Richard had talked of Crystal Power—had been on the point of buying just when he became ill. If he had—?"

She grew warm and restless. Richard thought highly of William Bryce—a big man—a million-maker. Why not take counsel of this friend of her husband? Why not ask his advice for investing her $22,000?

TURKEY AND FIXINGS -:- Drawn by NELL BRINKLEY

DO THEY somewhere, up in some piney, faraway place, where pumpkins still lie out in the field moonlit evenings, and little girls on the way after "the milk" stop and look at them, fat and golden, and think what a beautiful colour they are out in the stubble . . . as THIS person did when she was a little girl, and as perhaps you, if you were lucky, did, too, . . . do they still really remember to be thankful for things on the day that has turkeys and fixings?

To most of us it is just a party, but, oh a very nice party. And the thankful part comes all through this year, at grateful intervals, when we suddenly remember to be glad we are ourselves and not some other more unlucky human—when we are deeply, poignantly glad that we have as much good fortune as we have.

Thanksgiving Day isn't my only thankful day in the year. I've pretty nearly three hundred and sixty-five of them: That I can have a new dress, that I can sell what I do with my hands, that I have a few delightful "earthly" possessions, that the people I love are with me on this star and not far away on another in another life, for these good things I am humbly grateful. Leave out the new dress, leave out the "earthly possessions," and leave only some luck with the work of my hands and the people I love, and still I'd be hilariously grateful practically every day of the year.

So with the THANKFUL part of the last Thursday in November sort of spread like a sweet meringue all over the year, Thanksgiving Day itself means a long, lovely day with a marvelous dinner, all the family down and up and around the golden-brown farmhouse table . . . . a bran' new bride and groom added THIS year . . . . the man I love home all day, and the little boy I ditto doing the honors like a grasshopper, and me with no drawing to do!

For a young chap sometimes it means just "turkey and fixin's," and the fixin's is just a pretty girl to eat the turkey with him in town. Well, that's not so terrible a party when you are young and in love.

I hope YOU will be happy, too, tomorrow and have no troubles, and have plenty to eat, and the people you love home with you.

NELL BRINKLEY.

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

Make This Holiday One of Joy and Health

AS I WRITE this my ears are made glad by ripplings of a beautiful stream. Here I am in the back yard of the home where all my young days were spent.

It takes some weeks for these articles to get to the printer and then to you. For this reason they are prepared in advance of the time you read them.

DR COPELAND

So here I sit and project my mind forward to the frosts of November and the joys of Thanksgiving Day. You will get this message on the day preceding this, our first national holiday.

It is easy for me to picture what will take place on Thanksgiving, 1929. In Michigan the weather will be cold and blustery by late November. I have known this stream to be frozen over before Thanksgiving. Many a time I have adjusted my skates right where I am writing.

In imagination I can hear the gobbling and grumbling in the barnyard around the hill. The brothers and sisters of the head of the turkey flock are wondering where their kingly brother has gone.

But I am not wondering! I can catch the tantalizing aroma of that baking turkey! As mother opens the oven door to baste the bird the perfume rushes out to fill the air with appetizing fumes.

What a day Thanksgiving was! If the family gathering was not in the house up the hill it was held at grandfather's farm, two miles away. I can never forget those glorious holidays. Uncles and aunts, cousins by the score, and grandmother beaming on the group! What a memory!

We need these days of jollification. Life must not be too staid and stupid an experience if we are to be happy and glowing with health. As I view it, it is a sad mistake to make such a business of life that a holiday seems a "waste of time."

The race is not to the swift always. But even though the goal is a fortune, what difference does it make if you miss it?

As a matter of fact, however, you are more likely to win if you conserve your precious body. Each of us need and must have an abundance of recreation.

The very word "recreation" means "re-creation." We must have time and leisure to permit the muscles and nerves to store up new strength. There must be frequent re-creations if we are to live long and have the physical endurance to fight life's battle.

Then, on the spiritual side: We should stay our earthly affairs long enough to offer up to Almighty God sincere thanks for what He has given us.

Thanksgiving Day is a day for thanks to the Creator and a day to permit nature to do her work of recreation. I trust you will live up to the highest ideals of what this day should be to you and yours.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. R. J. E. Q.—Will you kindly advise whether or not it is wise to use a two per cent solution of ——— in the nostrils every day (being careful not to swallow it). I find it helpful for a sinus condition, using just a drop or two at a time.

A.—No, I do not advise it. If you have sinus trouble your doctor will outline the necessary treatment. A catarrhal condition can be relieved by a cleansing spray.

Horoscopes

Thursday, November 28

A DAY of improved and interesting developments may be looked for, according to the lunar aspects, with favorable conditions generally prevailing. All matters should prosper and bring gratification.

Those whose birthdays it is may prepare for an active and satisfying year, with business, employment and affairs generally bringing gratification after a long congested state.

A child born on this day may be versatile and capable and should make a success of its undertakings through industry and efficiency.

Friday, November 29

THE predominant influence of the major benefics, Venus and Jupiter in today's planetary chart betoken many pleasant and profitable events and circumstances. The strong position of Uranus promises sudden, if not spectacular developments; these may affect business contracts.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of unexpected developments in many directions, but pleasure, progress and prosperity are certain.

A child born on this day may be brilliant and ingenious—well equipped for success and happiness.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Christmas Cards

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct to use abbreviations on Christmas cards, whether they are engraved or written? E. J.

NO. The use of abbreviations indicates haste, and haste isn't attractive, nor is it good form. Whether your Christmas cards are engraved or written by hand, you should refuse to use any abbreviations that are not absolutely necessary. Mr. and Mrs., are, of course, necessary abbreviations.

So often on greeting cards we use the expression "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year" that we must be especially careful to write out the "and," and not to use the hasty abbreviation ("&").

And never should be abbreviated that first beautiful syllable of Christmas—it should be written out, and not abbreviated into "Xmas."

In other words, give to your Christmas cards the best appearance that you can. Make it an expression of your very best manners and of the very best form. If your cards looks as if you had written it hastily, or addressed it hastily, if you abbreviate every word that it is possible for you to abbreviate, surely, this spirit of haste and untidiness and unconcern will "get across" to your friend, and you will not make a pleasant impression.

Make a very definite determination when you are sending your Christmas cards to have every detail as perfect as you can make it. For, after all, your Christmas card, like your visiting card and your letter paper, stands for you, means you.

The Phrase 'In-Law'

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Should I introduce my husband's mother as, "I want you to meet my mother-in-law," or "I want you to meet John's mother?"

2. Should she, when introducing me, say, "My daughter-in-law," or should she say, "John's wife?" D. J. M.

SINCE the words "in-law" are traditionally rather frigid, it is better to use only the words "mother" or "daughter" when making introductions of this kind. "Mary, this is my mother," or "Mother, this is Mary Allen." Usually this is enough of an identification. But, if you wish to make a more definite introduction, you may, if you wish, say, "Mary, do you know John's mother?"

In the same way, your mother-in-law would say, "Mrs. Andrews, this is my daughter." It's all very much nicer and pleasanter than adding the "in-law."

Madge, at Dicky's Insistance, Invites Edith to Aid Dinner

EDITH FAIRFAX played up to my telephoned invitation beautifully, but I could hear in her apparently cordial voice a strained note which told me that she liked the situation Dicky had thrust upon us as little as I did.

"I'll be over there inside of half an hour," she said. "And I am at your service, although I can't imagine your ever being in need of anyone."

It was an adroit way of calling me a self-sufficient snob, I told myself, but let no hint of my belief tinge my tones as I answered her.

"You overrate me," I told her, with a little laugh. "But I'll wait until you get here to let you know what you're in for. Goodby."

I turned from the telephone to meet Dicky's eyes still watching me with the look which I at first had deemed inscrutable, but which was no longer puzzling. It told me that he quite fancied himself for adding Edith Fairfax to the personnel of the party, which already included Philip Veritzen, although my employer had not accompanied us to our floor, but was engaged in driving a patient hotel manager to distraction in the endeavor to find rooms which suited him.

"How soon will she be here?" he asked, and when I told him he rose and stretched his arms.

"I'll just go over to our shack and get my things put to rights," he said, and looked at me with what I knew was an appeal to help him with his unpacking. But Lillian intervened quickly and decidedly.

"Then Madge will stay here if she has any regard for her sanity," she said. "I'd as soon be in a canoe in a maelstrom as in a room where any he-man is unpacking and settling his things. Come over here, Madge, and tell me what to do with these curtains."

It was the flimsiest of excuses, but it served, and Dicky took the hint and his departure. Lillian took me by the shoulder and swung me around facing her as soon as the door closed behind him.

"If you let that—that 'boonch of soup greens'"—she quoted Katie with evident relish—"put anything over on you in this I myself will see that you have your back against a brick wall tomorrow at sunrise, eyes blindfolded if you prefer. Here's the idea: You can't get out of the hotel. Therefore, you need an errand girl. Of course, we won't put it quite so crudely as that, but don't you dare follow the Dicky-bird's naive suggestion that she help you plan the dinner. Now, you go off in a corner and think out your dinner scheme while I get my room settled. And when dear Edith arrives you let me have first crack at her, will you?"

"With pleasure!" I made my voice emphatic. "But what excuse are you going to give her for my not being able to leave the hotel?"

"The truth! She's developed into a cat and I think she possesses no particular scruples as to the methods by which she hopes to snaffle the Dicky-bird away from his present cage. But she's discreet, and the secrets of our menage here are perfectly safe with her. So I'll tell her the whole story. Now go into the silence."

She walked into her own room and closed the door, while I curled myself up in an armchair, smiling at her injunction, but obeying it. I went over the inadequate background which I had for the dinner. Lillian's living room would have been far better, but with Mary and Princess Olina housed in her apartment it would be impossible for me to keep from the Princess the fact that I was planning a double announcement party. Both she and Prince Georges were still in ignorance of the other's betrothal. I wanted to preserve that ignorance until the night of the announcement, for I had counted upon the psychological effect which the surprise would have upon both of them.

I had seen the unattractive big table belonging to our suite which I would have to use, and therefore decided upon a heavy damask cloth, instead of a lace. Knowing that we would occasionally entertain in our rooms, I had sent in a barrel of my best china and glass to the hotel a few days before, and it now awaited my unpacking. Rapidly I took a mental inventory of my resources and decided that I would have to trouble Edith Fairfax with the purchase of flowers, candles, bonbons and favors. For the dinner itself I knew I could depend upon the head of the hotel restaurant, a man who had engineered some of the most notable banquets of the city and whose preference for ease over strenuous action was the sole reason for his presence in the Kelsey dining room.

But my color scheme was still undecided, for it hinged upon something as yet unknown to me. With the knowledge that I must decide it before Edith Fairfax arrived, I went to the door of the room to which Lillian had ushered Mary and Princess Olina and knocked lightly.

Fat Girls! Here's A Tip For You

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts at all May's and Laggett's Drug Stores all over Greater Pittsburgh, or any drug store. (Lasts two months) with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

WOMAN KILLED, HUSBAND HELD

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 27.—Michael Pages, 48, Aliquippa, is held in the county jail here without bail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, Susan Pages, 46, killed when the automobile, driven by Pages, ran off the road and upset in a ditch.

Pages was charged with driving the car while intoxicated and involuntary manslaughter. Justice M. J. Kane fixed bail at $1,000 on the intoxication charge. The pair had 10 children, eight boys and two girls.

Pages said he was blinded by lights of an approaching car. Witnesses testified he was driving down the hill at a fast speed, and that he had been drinking.

A Bank that Believes in Boys

Not very long ago many of our largest depositors were boys. They found out how to earn money, how to get what they wanted with part of it, and how to save some, too. By learning young they got along faster. Their industry was rewarded by promotion.

In years to come, old men will be succeeded by younger ones. New concerns will spring up, giving opportunities to those who are prepared. Believing in boys, we want to do all we can to help them along. They are the future property owners and business men of Pittsburgh.

Most boys want to earn money. This Bank has prepared sixteen "Prosperity Handbooks," one of which is entitled "How a Boy can Earn Money."

Of course, our many boy depositors have first claim on these books. But any other boy ambitious to earn money—and save it, may ask at Window No. 7 for a copy of "Number 13". Perhaps at the same time, he would like to make a savings deposit and thus establish his banking connection.

We will have an announcement shortly for Girls.

P.S. In the back of your copy of "How a Boy Can Earn Money" is a list of "How to" handbooks for every member of the family. Show it to the folks at home.

Daylight Delivery of Milk

Will Commence next Sunday

THE undersigned Dairy Companies will inaugurate DAYLIGHT DELIVERY of milk and cream commencing next Sunday morning, December 1st.

We believe the new arrangement will enable us to offer a better product, improve our service to customers and provide more desirable working conditions for our deliverymen.

Heretofore, milk has been delivered in the Pittsburgh district during the early morning hours. Half the time, our deliverymen do their work in darkness. Milk generally remains on the doorstep for hours before the customer uses it; freezing in Winter and heating in Summer.

Hereafter, our men will do their work in daylight and will hand you a bottle of milk fresh from our cooling rooms ready to place in your refrigerator until needed.

The new system will allow direct contact with deliverymen. Delivery mistakes will be eliminated, complaints can be instantly adjusted, extra phone calls and notes in bottles will be unnecessary. Losses on account of stolen or spilled milk will cease. Empty bottles can be collected with greater certainty. Extra milk procured more easily. Contamination from any source can be eliminated. Collections can be made at more convenient periods.

Commencing next Sunday morning and every day thereafter, our deliverymen will leave the various plants at 7:00 o'clock in the morning and will commence delivery on their various routes as soon thereafter as is possible.

If THERE is any doubt about your milk supply being adequate for your needs until the milkman arrives next Sunday we respectfully suggest, while this new arrangement is being effected, that you place an additional order Saturday Morning.

THIS from George Connell: "Patrons at a downtown restaurant 'Plaza' the other night were treated to a cabaret act not on the program. A young woman from Wilkinsburg dined there with her two little nieces. One is bashful, the other quite the contrary. The bolder miss called upon Mr. Tracy and Mr. Brown to play 'Honey.' As the orchestra swung into the strains of the popular song, the little girl mounted a chair and sang both verse and chorus. For reward she got a great big chrysanthemum. Turning to the shy sister, she announced to the world at large: 'See there, honey, if you weren't so bashful, you'd have got a posy, too.'"

The soloist was Miss Ruth Potts, of Homewood.

Thanksgiving Prayers For Pittsburgh Homes Offered by 3 Clerics

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Thanksgiving prayers for Pittsburgh homes tomorrow are printed as suggested by these three representative clerics at the request of Sun-Telegraph readers.)

Thanksgiving prayer by Dr. J. W. Claudy, executive secretary, Pittsburgh Council of Churches:

"Create within us, O God, the spirit of true thankfulness in all things. For Thy love we give Thee thanks, ceaselessly does it brood over us like a guardian angel. For Thy gifts from field and stream, we give Thee thanks. Daily do they satisfy our hunger and serve our need. For our friends we give Thee thanks. Faithfully do they cheer our loneliness and support us by their affection. For our dear ones we give Thee thanks. Unwaveringly do they love us unto the end. For all these things accept our thanks in the name of Thy Son. Amen."

Dr. Claudy

Thanksgiving prayer by Rabbi Benjamin A. Lichter, B'Nai Israel Congregation:

"O, our Heavenly Father, who art the fountain and source of all human blessings, we turn to Thee with hearts full of gratitude and humility on this great Day of Thanksgiving. We thank Thee for the love and peace and joy that dwell within our homes. We thank Thee for the life and health of our dear ones. We thank Thee for the prosperity, the liberty and the security we enjoy in our blessed country, America. We pray Thee, O gracious and merciful God, to send down upon us from Heaven the light of Thy countenance, so that we may know and understand how to make a proper use of Thy manifold blessings, both material and spiritual, that we may direct them not only for our own selfish purposes, but that we may share them with others to bring sunshine and joy and enlightenment in their lives. As Americans, we ask Thee to give us a true vision of our great destiny, that we may consecrate our mighty resources for the hastening of that glorious day when all the nations will live together in love and peace and brotherhood. 'Let the graciousness of the Lord our God be upon us. Establish Thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands, establish Thou it.' Amen."

Rabbi Lichter

Thanksgiving prayer by the Rev. Lawrence A. O'Connell, pastor of Epiphany Roman Catholic Church:

Almighty and Eternal God whose loving Providence religion doth reveal running through man's life, weaving out of all its tangled threads, a web of beauty! How fitting we realize it is, that a people who have received untold blessings, like those dwelling in our nation, should set apart one day on which all should recall these mercies—count them one by one—thank Thee as the Giver of all, and express our grateful feelings in words of high sounding praise.

Father O'Connell

This call to praise sounding from every page of Thy Holy Workings Commands everything animate and inanimate, to praise Thee for the countless blessings that flood our day with sunshine and veil our nights with stars.

Grant, we beseech Thee, that this annual Thanksgiving Day now grown to be a national festival, remain always a day of great rejoicing, ever summoning all to gratitude. Amen.

In Emsworth, the Rev. Dr. John W. Springer, of the United Presbyterian Church, will speak at union service in his church at 10:30 a. m.

The Avalon United Presbyterian Church will hold a special service from 10 to 11 a. m., with the pastor, the Rev. Dr. O. H. Milligan, as the speaker.

Members of the West View Methodist Episcopal Church will join in a Thanksgiving breakfast in the church at 8 a. m. tomorrow, to be followed at 10 o'clock by services in the auditorium when the Rev. O. B. Emerson will speak.

CHEF EXPLAINS CARVING ART

No longer will husbands tear off to the delicatessen to buy Thanksgiving dinner. Chef Camille Mouclair, of the William Penn Hotel, a recent Paris importation, has told the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph reporter just how a turkey is carved.

First, says Monsieur Mouclair, "one carves ze—what you call it? —ze leg, yes

HOW TO CARVE

"Zen, ze breast. Infinite pains, ze skill of ze master—zat is all zat is necessaire. One cuts down, like ziss. Yes." And he did it!

"But ze white meat—ah, ze white meat!" exclaimed Mouclair. "Zat is ze real test. Coupez up, toward ze breastbone, after you have coupe down toward ze wing.

"Serve everyone of ze white meat and of ze dark meat. Coupez, if you must, ze upper leg from ze—ah, ze—what you call it—ze drumstick—ah! yes.

"And serve it like zat. With cranberry, and zweet potatoes, and gravee, and petite pois."

Warming up to his subject, Camille, who has served for many years as chef in famous American hotels and abroad, made public his idea of a good Thanksgiving dinner. This is what he proposes:

IDEAL MENU

Coupe of Fruit Seville
Cream of Tomato, Nicoise
Supreme of Sole Montrouge
Roast Virginia Turkey Americaine
Giblet Sauce, Cranberry Jam
Cauliflower Dubarry, Candied
Sweet Potato
Pearl Onion in Cream
Heart of Romaine Chiffonnade
Dressing
Pumpkin and Mince Pie
Demi Tasse

Camille says that Pittsburgh will be hungry before dinner Thanksgiving Day. After dinner, "ah! zet is ze differend storee!"

NEW RAIL PLAN STUDIED HERE

The general traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday held a closed meeting in which, it was said, the proposed Pittsburgh-New York short line railroad was discussed. The project, backed by L. F. Loree, president of the Deleware and Hudson Railroad, would cost $225,000,000. By constructing a link between Pittsburgh and Easton, the line could be hooked up for direct entry into New York, cutting off 83 miles from the distance between Pittsburgh and the eastern metropolis.

The new road, known as the New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago Railroad, recently made application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to construct the link.

Thanksgiving Observance Here to Be Varied

Thanksgiving—the nation's national feast day—will be observed tomorrow. And the turkey will get the worst of it.

With the majority of the celebrations centering in the home, the city's football fans will adventure to the Stadium where Pitt will meet Penn State in their annual tussle. Parties and dances are on the night program.

Churches will observe the day of thanks in the morning, while today, social agencies of the district will distribute baskets with full-course dinners to some of the aged and poor.

AID FOR NEEDY

The Salvation Army, between 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon, plan to give away 125 baskets, mostly to the aged. Other organizations will do the same.

The Goodwill Industries, 2801 Liberty avenue, will give their employes a dinner, tomorrow at 5:30 p. m.

Many of the Pittsburgh churches will combine tomorrow morning in the observance of Thanksgiving and will hold union services.

The Sixth Presbyterian Church will be host to the Squirrel Hill churches. The Rev. Dr. R. W. McKenzie, pastor of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church will preach the sermon at 10:30 a. m.

SERVICES IN CARRICK

"The Joy of Thanksgiving" will be the sermon which the Rev. Herbert Messner, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, will preach before an audience composed of several congregations of the Carrick district. The union service will be held in the speaker's church at 10 a. m.

The annual Thanksgiving Day service will be held at Emory Church at 10:30 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. W. Wofford T. Duncan, will preach on "A Nation's Thanksgiving." This sermon will be in exposition of President Hoover's Thanksgiving proclamation.

The Rev. Clarence Edward Macartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will speak on "I Will Take the Cup" at the Thanksgiving service at 10:45 o'clock.

The Shadyside Protestant Churches will hold a community service at the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Roup and Friendship avenues, at 10:30 a. m. The Rev. Dr. Norman C. Milliron, pastor of the First Evangelical Church, will be the speaker.

CITY'S ELECTRIC BILLS CUT

Effective December 1, electric light bills for the smaller city buildings and public schools will be 10.7 per cent lower than the present rate, Council has been told by F. R. Phillips, president of the Duquesne Light Company.

The reduction will save city taxpayers $8,650 annually on bills for police and fire stations and for the recently installed downtown traffic signal system.

The reduction also will result in a saving of $16,640 a year on bills for city schools.

Phillips announced yesterday that the proposed reductions are the second to be made by the Duquesne Light Company during 1929 and the third in the last 22 months.

Previous reductions have affected other consumer groups including homes, stores, industrial plants and street lights.

PERMIT ASKED FOR BUS LINE

Mathew Cesario appeared before the Public Service Commission yesterday and asked permission to operate a bus line between Punxsutawney in the groundhog country and Jefferson.

The only means of transportation beteen the points are two trains a day each way, over the Bessemer, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad. Many boys and girls living between Punxsutawney and Jefferson wish to attend the former's high school and the earliest they can get there by train is 11 a. m.

Cesario has been in the bus business in Punxsutawney for 11 years.

Druggist Convicted On Narcotic Charge

William Whitman, part owner of the Soho Pharmacy, 2200 Fifth avenue, was convicted in Federal Court of violating the Harrison narcotic act. A jury found him guilty of unlawfully selling 10 grains of morphine on October 27, but acquitted him on two other counts of an indictment alleging sales of morphine on October 20 and October 24. The jury recommended extreme mercy of the court.

Church Heads Urge Dr. McEwan to Stay

Officials of the Third Presbyterian Church, Fifth and Negley avenues, were to confer last today with the Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan, pastor, who recently resigned after 35 years' service, in an effort to have him reconsider his action. At a recent meeting the congregation refused to accept the resignation.

Roselia Hospital To Hold Card Party

The annual Christmas miscellaneous sale of Roselia Foundling and Maternity Hospital will be opened Friday night with a card party in the reception rooms of the hospital, Cliff and Manila streets. The card party, at which "500," bridge and other games will be played, is being sponsored by the Roselia Training School Alumnae.

Boy Loses Foot Under Street Car

Frank Maraldo, 11, of 421 Warrington avenue, lost his right foot while riding a street car in Warrington avenue near Estella street last night, police said. He was hurled from the car and the rear wheels severed his foot. A motorist took him to South Side Hospital, where his condition was regarded as critical.

ROCHESTER, Pa., Nov. 27.—Burns she received Sunday morning when her nightgown ignited from a gas stove at her home in Monaca caused the death of Mary Seery, 5, daughter of Mrs. Mary Seery.

U. S. Waterway Head To Confer With Lang

Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, chairman of the Federal Internal Waterways Commission, was to arrive in Pittsburgh from Washington today to confer with Director Edward G. Lang in connection with the rail-river terminal. Representatives of groups interested in the project will take part in a discussion and luncheon in the Duquesne Club at noon.

Downtown Store Held Up As Scores Pass By

A city-wide search was being made by police today for a robber who held up the Tucker & Tucker hat store, at 546 Smithfield street, while scores of pedestrians were passing the place early last night.

Martin Schugar, of 2508 Beechwood boulevard, a clerk, alone in the store, was forced under the counter by the man, who carried an automatic pistol. After rifling the register of $48.50, he asked Schugar if he had any money.

"No I haven't, but if you'll leave now I'll not call the police until an hour after you've gone," was the clerk's reply.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Do you think that weather conditions, such as rain and snow, or heat and cold, affect human sleep?

ANGELO LA QUATRA, North Side, clerk: "I don't think weather has a whole lot to do with human sleep. It depends on the amount of work done by the human being, whether in summer or winter, spring or autumn, whether one can sleep well or not. I know that the harder I work the better I can sleep. I also know that the bed sure feels good in the morning."

A. La Quatra

JAMES T. SHEA, Brookline, store room manager: "In my opinion, weather conditions do affect sleep to a great degree. Can't you picture yourself dozing off on a rainy night when the drops are beating a tatoo on your roof? Or when you look out on a snow bound city on a cold winter morning, don't you feel like staying 'tween the blankets? I know I feel that way. In summer the average human requires less sleep than in winter."

James T. Shea

LILLIAN JEX, North Side, typist: "The weather doesn't make any difference to me as far as sleep is concerned. I can sleep just as well in winter as I can in summer. The covers feel good anytime, especially in the mornings. However, I think that the work done by the average human being is a big factor in determining the amount of sleep one should have. I once read that Bruce Barton, the writer, said sleep, especially that last five minutes in the morning, was one of the greatest pleasures of life. I agree with him."

Lillian Jex

THOMAS DICKINSON, Oakland, clerk: "Sleep is the same to me any time, any place, and any way. The weather doesn't affect me one bit. I can sleep just as well in the summer time as I can in the fall or winter, although I'll have to admit that the bed does feel a whole lot better when rain is falling or two or three feet of snow is on the ground outside. Sleep is one of the greatest pleasures of the human race."

T. Dickinson

PHILLIP ENGELMEIER, North Side: "Boy, I'll say the weather affects sleep. No one knows it any better than myself. On a cold, wintry morning, I can sleep a hundred times better than I can when the birds are singing and the sun is shining. I think most people are affected the same way. Nearly everyone feels drowsy when the day is dark and dull. Other times it's the direct opposite."

P. Engelmeier

WILLIAM REISMEYER, North Side, stationery clerk: "No, I don't think weather conditions have a whole lot to do with human sleeping powers. I do believe the weather exerts some influence on one's sensibilities, though. I know I like to sleep better on a snowy or a rainy dismal morning than I do when the sun is shining brightly outside. Cold weather and rainy days seem to fill my bedroom with a substance that wants to make me keep on snoozing. That's the way I feel about it."

No comedian of our generation but has profited by seeing the old master, Raymond Hitchcock, work. Such ease, and originality. Knowing and admiring you for years Hitchy, I believe you would like this on your headstone:

"Here lies a cheerful soul who spent a lifetime creating fun for others. Yet in doing so he has never copied any man's methods. He lived, was loved, and he died, just 'Hitchy,' unlike nobody."

And to make the day entirely obituary, I read of the death of Captain Cudahy, our crack Navy pilot. Just three weeks ago he spent three days at my ranch, along with Secretary of the Navy for Aviation Ingalls (whom he was piloting), a fine chap, and a great pilot. It just looks like the good ones go and us bum ones stay.

HOEY'S CHARGES DISCUSSED BEFORE BAR COMMITTEE

LAWYERS WAIT HEARING FOR POLICEMAN

Single Case Considered by Meeting; Two Complaints Held Involving No Wrongs

Little developed at the meeting between the committee on offenses of the Allegheny County Bar Association and Police Inspector James N. Hoey and Police Magistrate A. D. Brandon yesterday beyond a "pulling of teeth" out of some of Hoey's recent charges of improper alliances between police and lawyers and apparent inaction of the Bar Association.

While the meeting was not public, it was explained afterwards that the discussion finally centered on what course may be pursued by the committee in one case cited by Hoey. In that instance he accused William Flaccus, cell sergeant at No. 1 Police Station of refusing to summon a lawyer asked by a prisoner, calling another lawyer instead.

HEARING POSTPONED

No action was taken by the committee pending the outcome of the hearing of Flaccus before the Police Trial Board.

The case today was postponed a second time by the trial board because of the illness of the complainant, Tony Mazzo, of McKeesport.

Attorney Allen H. Kerr, secretary of the committee and its attorney, stated that a record of this hearing will be procured and will be considered at a meeting of the committee probably within a week.

Two other cases, arising some time ago, which figured in Hoey's charges, were discussed at the meeting. The cases were considered by the committee at the time they arose and Hoey was advised by members of the committee of the steps taken in each case to disprove his assertion of inaction.

The two cases appear to have been dropped through failure to establish any violation of law or ethics. In one case a lawyer was accused of improperly obtaining excessive sums from three women accused of shoplifting, though held as suspicious persons.

The three women live in another state, decline to appear and cannot be summoned as they are beyond the jurisdiction of the association. In the other case a lawyer created a scene in Brandon's court and was disrespectful toward the magistrate. Opinion is that while he acted ungentlemanly, it was not sufficient upon which to base any action.

SHRINERS PLAN TO BE SANTA TO ORPHANS

Christmas Surprises Arranged for 6,000 Western Pennsylvania Children

Here is a story for the kiddies!

A story about Santa Claus, or rather a whole group of Santas comprising the Syria Shriners committee who are planning some 6,000 or more Christmas surprises for underprivileged children throughout Allegheny, Fayette, Beaver, Westmoreland, Washington and Butler counties.

SECRET IS OUT

Of course Santa Claus and his helpers usually keep their secrets to themselves at least until Christmas morning, but it was the privilege of this reporter to sit among this generous group of holiday elves yesterday and listen in on their plans and here they are:

There will be sleds, skates, redtop boots, jackknives or most anything a boy's heart could wish for; there will be dolls, pretty dresses, cook stoves, sewing sets and sundry other frilly little things in which little girls delight. Every boy and girl on the Shriners' list will receive a present of his or her own choosing.

SANTA NAMES AIDS

Santa's chief aids, Potentate Robert M. Weisbrod, and his chairman, Uriah W. Tinker, outlined plans for obtaining a list of some 6,000 or more names together with their requests to Jolly Old St. Nicholas. A careful survey of 67 orphanages including institutions of all faiths and creeds throughout Syria's disbursement district. Matrons and officials in charge will be asked to submit lists of their charges together with their ages and desires and this record will be turned over to the committee which, in turn, is divided into groups the aim of each being to supervise the distribution.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Members of the Santa committee include: Eugene L. Connelly, vice chairman; Albert Darragh, secretary; George A. Dutton, treasurer; J. Leonard Cook, J. W. Phillippbar, George H. Matz, Col. W. R. Dunlap, Tom M. Reed, Emory P. Ebbets, Earle Gosser, J. Howard Martin, Harry F. McLain, Edward Hardie, Charles M. Burgoyne, Joseph N. Succop, John L. Walker, Charles J. Nieman, William B. Robinson, Lewis H. Hicks, E. Z. Wainwright, Jr., J. Milton Ryall and Edward M. West.

THREE DEAD, 4 HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Unknown Woman Killed In Bigelow Boulevard Girl Dies of Injuries

Three persons were dead and four injured today as the result of automobile accidents in the Pittsburgh district.

Efforts were being made at the morgue to establish the identity of a woman, about 70, killed last night when struck by an automobile at Bigelow boulevard and Herron avenue. C. C. King, 24, of 1424 Coal street, Wilkinsburg, alleged driver, was arrested.

GIRL'S HURTS FATAL

Esther Shotwell, 17, daughter of the Rev. E. V. Shotwell, of Irwin, died last night in McKeesport Hospital from a fractured skull suffered November 15 when an automobile driven by her father upset on the Lincoln Highway between Irwin and Circleville.

In jured in an automobile crash at North Negley avenue and Rippey street, Monday, Leon Friss, 18, of 5420 Avondale street, died last night in West Penn Hospital. He was riding in a truck deputy coroners said was driven by Samuel DeFran , of 6331 Joseph street, which collided with an automobile operated by Hazel Proger, of North Fairmount avenue, and then crashed into a pole.

THREE MEN HURT

Three men were slightly injured when a truck in which they were riding plunged down a 50-foot embankment on the Becks Run road, near the South Pittsburgh Water Company plan, last night. They were Earl R. Adams, 48, of 322 Warrington avenue; John Frantz, 25, and William H. Swartz, 50, both of Beck Run road.

Struck by an automobile which ran onto the sidewalk at Fifth and Wylie avenues, Mary Galonas, 5, of 510 Lamont street, suffered severe body bruises and lacerations last night.

TWO RIVER-RAIL SITES VIEWED

Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, U. S. A., and Wilmer N. Jacoby, chairman and member, respectively, of the Inland Water Works Corporation of the United States, accompanied by city officials, today inspected sites for the proposed river and rail terminal.

The party first visited the proposed site on the north bank of the Ohio River west of Manchester Bridge and later the site on the south bank of the Monongahela River at Hays Station.

The former site is said to be generally favored by Pittsburgh interests and Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, is expected to send to Council next week a tentative lease for the land, which is owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. The terms of the lease have not been announced.

Gen. Ashburn recommended the appointment of a competent supervisor for the terminal and advised "keeping it out of politics." Charles M. Reppert, chief engineer for the city, advised Gen. Ashburn that the city has been in touch with the Chamber of Commerce and the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange to determine the best structure and its management.

Million Sealed With Body of 'King Ben'

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Nearly $1,000,000 in cash is sealed in the "diamond house," one of the chief buildings of the House of David, in which still lies the mummified body of "King Ben" Purnell, according to a petition filed in the Circuit Court at St Joseph by "Queen" Mary Purnell, consort of the late cult leader.

The petition asks that the House of David be dissolved and its property distributed among the members. Mary's petition is an answer to injunction proceedings brought by Judge H. T. Dewhirst, leader of opposition to Mary in the cult. Dewhirst sought to have the "Queen" restrained from participation in colony affairs.

$60,000 ASKED FOR INJURIES

The Dairy Cartage Company, of Kinsman, O., was named defendant in a $60,000 damage suit filed in Federal court by F. C. Ritzel of Todd street, Wilkinsburg, and other members of his family. Their statement of claim avers that an automobile in which they were riding, August 11, 1927, on the William Penn Highway, was struck by a truck owned by the defendant concern. Mrs. Hanna E. Ritzel asks $20,000 damages; Jane and Mary Elizabeth Ritzel, daughters, 14 and 17 years, respectively, asks $10,000 each, and F. C. Ritzel, $20,000.

SLEUTHS HELP STRANDED TRIO

City detectives helped the stranded family of Paul W. Barclay to reach their home in Detroit last night.

Barclay called at detective headqua rs and told detectives how his wife and 3-year-old daughter had been wandering in the city without funds since Sunday.

"I was in Canton, and hearing that work was plentiful in Pittsburgh I decided to come here with my family," Barclay related to the detectives. "I was unable to secure a job, and appealed to several charity organizations, but without results," the stranded man continued.

$50,000 ASKED IN PLANE HURT

In the first lawsuit arising in an airplane accident to be filed in the courts of Allegheny County, Earl C. Dean and Mary L. Dean, his wife, of 3487 Beechwood boulevard, asked $50,000 damages of the Hinaman Aircraft Corporation, an Eastern concern, for personal injuries suffered by Mrs. Dean, in an action filed in Common Pleas Court.

The aircraft corporation made use of Bettis Field in its business of transporting passengers, the suit averred. On July 1, 1928, Mr. and Mrs. Dean went up for a pleasure flight from Bettis Field and the plane landed with great violence, throwing Mrs. Dean to the floor and breaking her leg, the statement of claim alleged. As a result, one leg is longer than the other, it averred.

Man Confesses Part In $10,000 Holdup

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—The police said that Carl Wilson, Decatur, Ill., confessed to participation in the robbery of the Henry H. Harris home on the night of the Army-Illinois football game November 9, when 60 guests were held up and robbed of $10,000 worth of jewels and currency. He named two companions who escaped. One of the holdup men was slain by police.

FOLLERIN' THE BAND

WHO hasn't "follered" the band up Main street, or up Broadway or Michigan boulevard? Heart pumping joyously, feet beating the ground in time! Grandly intoxicating moment of childhood!

Minstrel band, Sousa's band or just a little German band, what difference did it make? One felt inspired to dance, turn handsprings and join the circus.

And—later in life—who hasn't felt a thrill as the conductor lifted his baton for the overture to begin? A moment pregnant with the glamour of the theatre! Music casts its spell throughout all the Ages of Man.

Is it wise then, in this enlightened and prosperous day to countenance substitution of a shadow of music for the real thing in the theatre. Music is an emotional art and therefore loses an important element when delivered by a third party.

Imagine the Irish following a Music Box on St. Patrick's Day! Or fife and drum music by a Machine on Memorial Day! Incongruous? Of course, but not more so than a mechanical overture in the theatre.

Talking pictures—a new dramatic form; the radio—which transmits music directly and does reflect the artist's mood of the moment; the phonograph in the home—where living music usually is not available—are not at issue here. We are discussing only the substitution of Mechanical Music for Real Music in the theatre, in consequence of which Real Music is being eliminated in theatres.

Music has always exercised a powerful influence over the gentler nature of man. It is a universally beloved art. Would it not be deplorable if any development should diminish musical appreciation and discourage musical education?

SLEUTHS INVESTIGATE HOMESTEAD VOTE FRAUD CHARGES

GARDNER SCANS ALLEGED PLOT ON ELECTION

Conspiracy to Involve Eight Men Cleared at Hearing Under Official Scrutiny

County detectives today are investigating charges that eight Homestead politicians were the victims of a conspiracy when they were charged with having violated the election laws and with paying repeaters to vote illegally at the primaries last September. When the men were discharged by Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan Monday, after being arraigned on the charges preferred against them, their attorney declared that they were the victims of a conspiracy.

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner has stated that he has sufficient grounds for investigating the charges of a conspiracy.

AFFIDAVIT OFFERED

The Homestead politicians had been arrested by county authorities after Richard Durant and Joseph Bennett, Negroes, are alleged to have admitted voting illegally at the primaries in Homestead. At the hearing Monday, however, they repudiated their confessions and cleared the men.

Gardner's additional grounds for ordering the investigation may be based on an affidavit which reached him yesterday. The affidavit was made by Herman Shanklin, a Negro, before Notary Harry Markley, who is secretary of the Homestead borough council.

ARRESTS THREATENED

In the statement Shanklin charges that a Homestead man, whom he names, met with Durant and Bennett and gave them the names of the eight men who were arrested last week. On the list beside each name was the amount of cash Bennett and Durant were alleged to have received for repeating, Shanklin charges. The list was then turned over to the district attorney and Bennett and Durant then confessed to receiving money for voting illegally, Shanklin charges in his affidavit.

PEAL OF BELLS OPENS SEAL SALE HERE

Letters Mailed 128,768 Pittsburghers Asking Co-Operation in Drive

The twenty-second annual sale of Christmas seals, under the auspicies of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh, was opened today with the ringing of church and school bells throughout the city this morning. The bell ringing was suggested by the design of the 1929 seal—that of a medieval bell-ringer sending out health greetings to the countryside.

Promptly at 10 o'clock downtown churches and the cathedral as well as in residential sections, ushered in the drive when chimes and bells rang out their music of Christmas carols and joyous music.

The sale of seals will be called to the attention of Pittsburghers again late today when Mayor Charles H. Kline speaks over Radio Station KDKA at 5:10 o'clock. Mayor Kline will officially call the attention of Pittsburghers to the sale, and he will then introduce Dr. C. Howard Marcy, medical director of the Tuberculosis League Hospital. Dr. Marcy will tell of the league's work.

Letters, numbering 128,768, each containing $2 worth of seals, were mailed out to Pittsburghers this morning. In addition to the seals, each letter contains a stamped envelope for returning remittances and unused seals. The sale will continue until Christmas, with the mail sale being supplemented by a booth sale from December 9 until December 21.

BUDGET MEETS SCHEDULED IN NEAR FUTURE

Garland Aims to Fix Tax Levy in Time to Begin Collections on January 2

Chairman Robert Garland, of Council's Finance Committee, has indicated he would call meetings in the near future to consider the 1930 budget with the objective of fixing the tax levy in time to permit the collection of taxes beginning January 2.

Garland yesterday presented to Council the budget totaling $27,593,350 in department requests that would require a levy of 26 mills on land and 13 mills on buildings.

The current budget totaled $25,594,600 and the present tax rate is 25 mills on land and 12½ mills on buildings.

Mayor Charles H. Kline, in submitting the budget to Council last Monday, declared the $1,938,750 excess in this year's over last included $1,342,000 for salary increases for policemen, firemen and other city employes whose pay is not fixed by act of Assembly.

Were it not for the pay increases, the 1930 tax rate could be cut to 24.2 mills on land and 12.1 mills on buildings, a reduction of .8 of a mill on land and .4 on buildings, it was said.

REQUESTS SLASHED

The Mayor stated he had recommended other increased appropriations in addition to the salary raisers, that approximate $600,000.

Mayor Kline explained that he had cut other department requests to the extent of $1,839,000 before sending the budget to Council.

NURSERY HOLDS INSPECTION

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Allegheny Day Nursery, Perrysville avenue, attended the annual Thanksgiving tea and inspection day yesterday.

Nearly 100 visitors were shown the quarters, and recreation facilities, where 40 children are cared for. Mrs. Jessie B. Coventry is matron. Mrs. M. J. Simpson is president of the auxiliary.

The nursery was organized in 1889. State aid, together with donations, provide for the upkeep of the place, which is non-sectarian.

Thirty-six of the boys and girls go to day school, while four others, under school age, spend all of their time at the nursery. They are Sonny Boy Spielman and his brother, Donald Spielman, and two other brothers, Malcolm and James Gerlach, all orphans.

Woman Saved After Attempt at Suicide

Mrs. Margaret Hoffman, 38, of 414 Borland street, is recovering today in the Pittsburgh Hospital from the effects of suicide attempt in her home yesterday, according to police at the Frankstown Avenue Station. Neighbors called police who found the woman on the floor of her bedroom. She had attempted to end her life by slashing her throat with a knife and drinking her poison, according to the police report.

What Price LAZY APPETITE

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S. S. S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy . . . purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

With a successful career of association with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company behind him, Mr. T. H. B. McKnight is well able to speak of thrift and saving. Since the time when as a young man he entered the Treasury department of the Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh, he has devoted his best efforts to the careful use of money. He became Treasurer of all the corporations composing these lines in 1891, and continued in that position until recently, when the Treasury department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was consolidated in Philadelphia. Mr. McKnight remained in Pittsburgh as Vice-President of some of the subsidiary roads.

In presenting these editorials by Pittsburgh's leading business and professional men, the Union Savings Bank hopes to prove the value of thrift and saving by the recognized authority of men who themselves have won success by thrift and saving.

What Mr. McKnight says about saving something regularly is important. A Savings Account opens the door for opportunity. It is easy to save if you set aside a certain amount regularly and plan your expenditures accordingly. The Union Savings Bank will be glad to help you with any of its banking services.

Save Something Regularly

by

T. H. B. McKnight
Vice-President
The Pennsylvania Company

THERE is an old proverb that opportunity knocks once at the door of every man. The important thing is to open quickly when the knock comes, and invite the opportunity to enter. Such an invitation cannot generally be given unless funds are available to entertain the guest—and this makes clear the value of saving. The boy or girl who begins regularly to put away something out of every pay envelope is establishing a habit that will persist and provide before long for the welcome and proper care of any opportunity that may present itself.

LIONS ARRIVE TONIGHT

SPORT COMMENT

Stars Ending Careers. — Indians in Meet Here.
Dukes Pressed Tonight. — Notre Dame Grid Diet.

ONLY HUGE UPSET COULD SAVE STATE

WITH the playing of the annual Turkey Day game between Pitt and Penn State at The Stadium, the curtain will be lowered on the college football season in Pittsburgh tomorrow afternoon. The Dukes will wind up their schedule tonight against Waynesburg at Forbes Field, and though Carnegie Tech will still have one number to perform after its clash with New York U. in Gotham tomorrow that event is to be staged out on the Coast against Southern California two weeks from next Saturday.

Only the greatest upset and form reversal of the year could prevent the Panthers from ending the campaign with a perfect slate by downing the Lions tomorrow. In the case of a team like State, and in such an uncertain sport as the gridiron pastime, it might appear that the Center Countians, after falling down here so often when they looked like possible winners, would reverse the order of things and turn out to be most dangerous when they seem to be hopelessly outclassed, but the chances are all against any such development. The Sutherland attack looks far superior to that of Cooper French, Frank Diedrich and their mates, and the dope points to a victory for Pitt by a comfortable margin.

Frank Diedrich.

TEN years have gone since the Mt. Nittany lads last defeated Pitt. That happened in 1919 Hugo Bezdek's first season as coach when the Lions won, 7 to 6. Scoreless ties were played in the next two years, and Pitt has since won seven times in a row. Thirty-one meetings have resulted in 17 wins for the Panthers, 12 for the Lions, and two ties. State has not scored since 1926.

Six seniors will be playing their final game for the Blue and White tomorrow. They are Capt. Martin, Ricker, Eschbach, McAndrews, Panaccion and Stahley. The Panthers will be hit much harder by graduation, as the men making their last home-field appearance tomorrow will include such stars as Uansa, Parkinson, Montgomery, Donchess, and Capt. DiMeolo, together with Rooney, Edwards, Barnes, Wilps and Corson. State has a Pitt Freshman player of 1927 on its roster this fall in Ventrone, of Hazleton.

ASSISTING in the coaching at Penn State this year are two former All-American players and a third who was only slightly below that ranking. Bob Higgins, picked by Walter Camp as an end in 1919, and Joe Bedenk, selected as a guard in 1923 are the men who won all-America places, and the other is Larry Conover, center of the 1919 eleven.

Bob Higgins.

Conover has been on the staff for three seasons, and Higgins became assistant coach last year. Bedenk this fall replaced Red Griffiths, who is now head coach at Dickinson, and was made an assistant coach for the 1929 season. The others are on the permanent staff.

PENN STATE has figured in the scoring of four safeties this season. In each of the first two games the Lions registered two points against their opponents, Niagara University and Lebanon Valley. In the Syracuse game, two two-pointers were charged against the Blue and White, one of them being deliberate. After the Orange had downed French behind his own goal line early in the first quarter on a fumbled pass as he was getting ready to punt, the Lions came back to score a touchdown. With the game almost over and State having the ball in its possession on its own three-yard line, French purposely downed the ball to protect the four-point lead. Kicking out from the 20-yard line, the Lions were able to hold Syracuse at bay for the remaining few minutes.

THERE is a good prospect that Pittsburgh will come out of the 1929 football season with the very unusual distinction of having two undefeated college teams. For in addition to the likelihood that Pitt will defeat State tomorrow, there is a chance that Duquesne will down Waynesburg in the final arc-lamp game at Forbes Field tonight.

Like the Panthers, the Dukes have not been defeated this season. In nine games to date they have beaten Haskell, Geneva, Catholic U., Loyola of Chicago, Westminster, Slippery Rock, Edinboro and Albion, and tied with West Virginia. They will be facing a tough opponent in Waynesburg, the latter having shown unusual strength by defeating Bethany, Grove City and Geneva in a row in mid-season, but with a clean slate in sight the Bluffites will not be easily stopped.

WITH such stars as Strong and Lasaman missing, the New York U. team encountered by Carnegie in the metropolis tomorrow will not be as strong as the eleven that beat the Skibos 27 to 13 here last year, but at the same time the Violet is a foe to be feared.

New York has been beaten by Fordham and Georgetown this fall, but has offset those defeats by trimming Penn State, Missouri, Rutgers, Georgia, Butler, West Virginia Wesleyan and Vermont. There is no soft job ahead of the Skibos.

Wilson Charles, Jr.

PITTSBURGHERS will have another chance to note the athletic prowess of two of the Haskell Indians who played in the football game here last Saturday against Duquesne. But next time it will be in a different branch of sport. Wilson Charles, fleet-footed halfback, and Walter Johnson, star fullback of Haskell, will return to Pittsburgh next summer to compete in the A. A. U. National championship track and field meet at The Stadium. Charles will be a sprint and decathlon entrant. He has done 100 yards repeatedly in 9.9 seconds and 100 meters in 10.7. He took third honors in the A. A. U. National championship decathlon this year. Wilson holds the high school records for the State of Nevada in the shot-put, discus-throw and javelin-throw, and will compete in those events here.

IN a speech before the Stanford Mothers' Club touching on the recent Carnegie Foundation investigation, Pop Warner said "Stanford has higher ideals athletically, and offers fewer inducements to obtain outstanding athletes than any other college with the exception of Cornell." Warner expressed the belief that the Foundation's end had not been best served by bringing out the report in the middle of the football season.

"The frenzied seasonal interest in football worked against sane consideration of the charges contained in the report," Pop said, "many people taking the attitude that an athlete is entitled to all the advantages he can get. If the report had been made in the spring, when interest in athletics naturally lags, the desired effect of stirring up thought on the question would doubtless have been produced.

JACKETS AFTER CONFERENCE CROWN

The dashing Dukes, victorious in eight out of nine battles and strong enough to get a tie in the one they did not win, will attempt to hurdle the last obstacle between them and an undefeated season by playing the ambitious Yellow Jackets of Waynesburg at Forbes Field tonight.

JACKETS AFTER TITLE

The contest, Pittsburgh's third nocturnal collegiate encounter, is a Tri-State Conference tussle, and should the Jackets batter out a victory over the Dukes, to them will go the Conference championship for the year. On the other hand, a win for the Dukes cannot bring the title, inasmuch as the locals play only three league games. So far, they have taken Geneva and Westminster.

With his leg bandaged from ankle to hip, Frank Wolf, head coach of the Jackets, accompanied his team here and will direct it in the game tonight. Wolf was severely burned Monday morning when his clothing caught fire in his residence in Waynesburg.

A year ago, on Thanksgiving morn, Duquesne won its first football victory in history over Waynesburg, scoring a decisive 35-0 triumph over the Wolfpack. It is believed that the locals have a fine chance of repeating that triumph, possibly not by such a long score, but by a clean cut margin.

Waynesburg has defeated Geneva, Grove City and Bethany this year, the victory over the Crimson being one of the major upsets of the tri-state campaign. In DeMoise, Owens and Costello, Waynesburg boasts a fine trio of backs, and with the capable LuFrano at end and Capt. Sammy Smith, an extraordinarily fine punter, on the line, may develop the punch and power to record another upset.

DUKES IN TRIM

Duquesne is in good trim for the fight, especially in a mental way, as the 7-6 victory snatched from the Haskell Indians last week in a game in which the locals were generally outplayed has served to cast aside any over-confidence that may have found lodgment in the makeup of the Duke warriors.

The contest is slated to begin at 8:15. The probable lineup:

Duquesne.		Waynesburg

ROSIES DEFEAT CELTICS, 18-11

By Special Correspondent.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 27.—The Rosenblums showed a complete reversal of form to defeat the Celtics, 18 to 11, before 4,300 fans here last night. The Rosies showed an attack far superior to the Celtics' with Lapchick and Husta leading the way. Lapchick's three goals were made from center, side center and directly over big Stretch Meehan's extended arms. Although Dehnert's injured ankle bothered him considerably, he managed to cover more territory than in the first contest. Holman was seldom in the picture.

The losers had 31 shots, and all were distance shots so well did the Rosies cover up. Skurnick and Banks were removed early in the game for mixing it up. The lineup:

Celtics.		Rosenblums.
Holman	R. F.	Husta
Banks	L. F.	Beckman
Dehnert	C.	Lapchick
Gruber	R. G.	Cooper
Barlow	L. G.	Meehan

Celtics subs and numbers for Banks—Skurnick, Rosenblums subs for Cooper—Fogel, Dehnert, Fields goals, Rosenblums 8 (Husta 3, Dehnert 1, Lapchick 3, Barlow), Celtics 3 (Holman 1, Banks 1, Beckman 1). Fouls, Rosenblums 2 out of 4 (Husta 1, Lapchick 1), Celtics 4 out of 5 (Skurnick 2, Dehnert, Gruber, Barlow). Referee, Leo Lucas. Scorer, Fred Lambert. Timekeeper, Ed Sweeney. Time of periods, 11 minutes, 6 20-minute periods. Professional rules. Referee, Pete Barrett.

Illini Not to Have Grid Captain in '30

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—University of Illinois football regulars have voted against a football captain for 1930.

Out of the 18 letter men entitled to vote for captain at the annual banquet, 15 wrote "no captain" across their ballots and none was chosen.

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Carnegie Tech's varsity football machine, which has been the disturbing element in more than one gridiron occasion in the past, was de-Pullmaned here today and will be fed to the regenerated Violets of New York University in the Yankee Stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Just how the Violets, who have been moving along at a right peppery clip of recent, will take to the embattled Tartans remains to be seen. Certain it is that the Tartans will not submit to furnishing the Nieu Yawkers with fresh fodder without a fight. Despite the just so-so showing of the Skibo eleven to date, there is a hunch jumping about in what I laughingly use for a mind that the Pittsburgh boys will give the Violets a very tough Turkey Day afternoon.

PLEASANT JOURNEY

The Tech squad arrived here after a very pleasant journey over the Alleghenies. The only mishap of the trip occurred just as the train twisted about the Horseshoe Bend. The entire line rolled out of their bunks, falling with a tremendous crash in the middle of the aisle and causing Buddy Overend to awaken in a furore and exclaim:

"What did we hit? That Pitt line again?"

Both of the competing elevens have tasted the gall and wormwood combination sandwich of defeat this year—twice Fordham and Georgetown took New York over the bumps, causing Mr. Chick Meehan, the diminutive coach of the Violets no little anguish. Notre Dame and Pitt socked the Skibos, and Wash-Jeff drew the next best thing in its meeting with the Plaid, a tie.

New York's record is more impressive to date than that of the Pittsburghers. Vermont, West Virginia Wesleyan, Penn State, But-

154-GAME CARD FOR A. A.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—The American Association of Professional Baseball Clubs yesterday adopted a 154-game schedule for 1930, opening April 15 and closing September 21.

The schedule has 14 games less than that of 1929, opens a day earlier and closes a week earlier.

Western clubs will open in the East with Minneapolis at Toledo, St. Paul at Columbus, Milwaukee at Indianapolis and Kansas City at Louisville.

Because of doubleheaders, the league owners decided to trim the schedule next season and allow more off days. Whereas, the season opened April 16, and closed September 28 in 1929 for 168 games, the new one will be only eight days shorter for a 154-game schedule.

PIRATES LOSE TO CANADIENS BY 9 TO 2

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—The Montreal Canadiens found the way through the Pittsburgh defense in the last period last night to run up the second largest score of the National Hockey League season. The flying Frenchmen scored five times in the final frame for a 9-to-2 triumph. The best score was Pittsburgh's 10 goals.

The two right-wingers for Les Canadiens, Wasnie and Larochelle, led the scoring, the former with three goals and Larochelle with two. This position was considered the weak spot in the French lineup in the pre-season calculations.

The Pirates made a good showing only in the latter part of the second period and at the start of the third, and then Goalie Hainsworth stopped their attacks. The lineup:

Pittsburgh.		Canadiens
Miller	G.	Hainsworth
McKinnon	R. D.	S. Mantha
Smith	L. D.	Burke
Frederickson	C.	Lepine
Darragh	R. W.	Wasnie
Milks	L. W.	Joliat

Pittsburgh spares—Lowry, White, Briden, Jarvis, Barton, McCaffrey. Canadiens spares—Morenz, Mondou, Larochelle, Deduc, Fraser, G. Mantha.

Referees—O'Hara and Sauve.

First period—Scoring: Canadiens, Wasnie (Joliat), 2:25; Pittsburgh, Darragh, 1:19; Canadiens, Mondou (Morenz), 7:51. Penalties—MacKinnon, 2, Mantha, R. Smith and Frederickson.

Second period—Scoring: Canadiens, Joliat, 5:54; Canadiens, Wasnie (Deduc), 3:41; Pittsburgh, Lowrey, 2:45. Penalties—Milks, Frederickson, Joliat and Mantha.

Third period—Scoring: Canadiens, Morenz (Joliat), 4:53; Canadiens, La Rochelle (Mondou), 2:10; Canadiens, La Rochelle, 2:4; Canadiens, Wasnie, 7:53; Canadiens, Leduc, 1:55. Penalties—Mondou, Lowrey, R. Smith, Morenz and Fraser.

Walter Levine

Wash-Jeff and West Virginia hook up tomorrow in Morgantown in their twenty-eighth annual tussel, and one of the young men expected to take part in the ball game, for Wash-Jeff, is Walter Levine, husky left tackle. The Prexy-Mountaineer struggle figures to be a better ball game than the Pitt-State affair here, the other ranking contest of the day. Therefore, the doings of Levine will come in for some attention.

Levine played a fine game at tackle on last year's President team, and this year, has been one of the bright stars of the season. He put up a great battle against Pitt here in the Stadium, and so far, has not failed to perform with credit against all Wash-Jeff foes.

LOCK HAVEN STAR

Levine captained the Lock Haven High eleven in 1925, which defeated the Oak Park High team of Chicago for the national high school championship. He matriculated at Syracuse, where he exhibited great promise on the Orange freshman team. He transferred to Wash-Jeff in '27, played a year of freshman ball for Andy Kerr and then stepped into a position on the varsity last year and made good—and trouble for all and sundry President opponents.

STATE HERE TODAY

Penn State's varsity squad is due to arrive in this city tonight in charge of the tender hands of Coach Hugo Bezdek. Coach Bez will keep a watchful eye on some 40 athletes and his handsome staff, including Larry (Virginia Beach) Conovore, Deutchland Uber Alles Hermann, Joe Bedenk and Robert Wesleyan Higgins. The Lions were scheduled to leave Bellefonte on the Lehigh Valley Express at 3 o'clock and will debark at East Liberty at 7:19 tonight.

Penn State has been coming to Pittsburgh for a long, long time for the Thanksgiving Day game with the Panthers. Some of the jaunts made here by the Lions have been successful, others have not. It's been a long time since one was blessed with any great degree of whoopee.

The chances of State's ending the long reign of the Pitt forces are considered slight this year. Pitt is unbeaten, while State has been knocked down and jumped

IRISH TO CONSIDER POST-SEASON OFFERS

ROSES TOURNEY TILT MAY BE ACCEPTED

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—The Rev. Michael Mulcaire, vice president of the University of Notre Dame, said yesterday the athletic faculty will determine next week whether the football team will play a post season game this year.

The announcement followed published reports that Notre Dame had decided to disband its squad after the game with Army in New York Saturday afternoon The Rev. Mr. Mulcaire did not state the date of the meeting to consider the matter.

He indicated that a post season game, particularly at the Tournament of Roses New Year's Day at Pasadena, Cal., might be accepted if Notre Dame was invited.

"Officially," he continued, "we have not as yet received any invitation to the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's Day, and we are by no means seeking to invite ourselves to that affair, but we do have some other offers of post-season games to consider. Possibly by next week an invitation to the New Year's Day contest will have reached us. Then only will we consider such a game."

SLATTERY GIVEN MAXIE'S PLACE

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—In consequence of Maxie Rosenbloom's defeat by Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo Monday night, Rosenbloom has been dropped from championship consideration in the light-heavyweight division by the New York Boxing Commission and Slattery named in his place. The commission suggested that Madison Square Garden submit a new contract for its December 9 show, naming Slattery as Yale Okun's opponent, in which case the board promised to recognize the bout as a championship elimination test. Rosenbloom originally was named as Okun's opponent. According to the local list, Slattery, Okun, George Courtney and Lou Scozza now constitute those eligible to compete for the title left vacant by the resignation of Tommy Loughran.

MILLERS LOSE

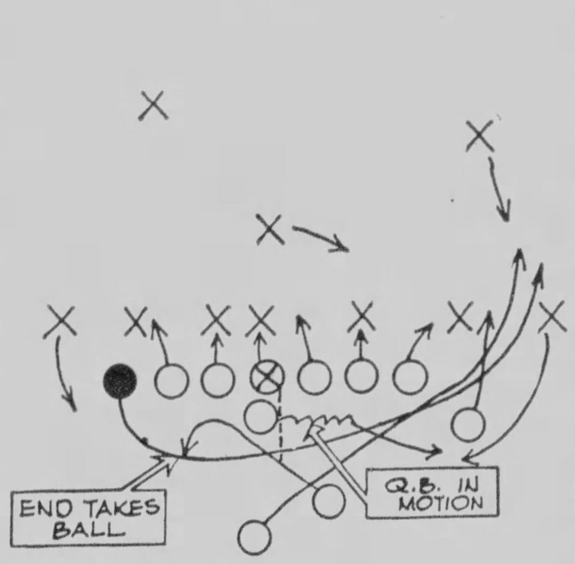
The North Side Bulcks defeated the Ray Miller Club, 43 to 29, at Javor Hall last night in a Greater Pittsburgh League basketball game.

Football Strategy

By Howard Harpster

All-America Quarterback, 1928

(Note.—Harpster, as the quarterback of the Carnegie Tech eleven last fall, gained national recognition as one of the most brilliant leaders of all time in the football realm. Experts hailed him as "the player with the mind of a coach." He captained the All-East team that defeated the All-West team in California at the end of the season and was generally picked as captain of the mythical all-America selections.)



NO. 26—THE END-AROUND PLAY

DEMPSEY'S BENEFIT SHOW PROVES DUD

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—There won't be much of a Santa Claus for the poor Chicago children Jack Dempsey intended feeding for Christmas from the profits of his charity boxing show involving heavyweights at the Coliseum last night.

A slim crowd of 3,500 with receipts at $8,000, turned out to see Les Marriner, former University of Illinois collegian, and George Hoffman, of New York, former National A. A. U. heavyweight champion, fight a grueling 10-round draw.

Les Marriner, laid up for five months with a broken right hand had the misfortune to break it again in the third round. Marriner showed the effects of his long idleness, but put up a courageous battle, holding Hoffman fairly even until the last round. Hoffman weighed 193¼, and Marriner 191¼.

MAXIE STRUB WINS

McTIGUE BEATEN

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Jeff Carroll, 190, Biloxi, Miss., won a close 10-round decision here last night over Mike McTigue, 175, twice holder of the world light heavyweight title. Carroll's youth and weight showed to advantage, although some believed the veteran should have had at least a draw.

TECH ARRIVES IN EAST

ler, Georgia, Missouri and Rutgers have been beaten by the Violets. Tech has slipped back Bethany, Thiel, Western Reserve and Washington University. Tomorrow's contest is the finale for Meehan's charges, while Tech has the game in Los Angeles with Southern California yet to be played.

Carnegie is making its headquarters at the Pennsylvania (a bit of state loyalty), and will work out in the Stadium this afternoon at two bells. The rest of the day will be spent in eating, sight-seeing and some more eating.

TO WORK OUT

The Tartans' starting lineup is again in doubt, as it was for the Notre Dame and Pitt games. Following the Pitt debacle, Coaches Steffen and Waddell made a shift or two on the line and revamped the backfield—for practice purposes at least. Whether these changes will survive until kick-off time tomorrow remains to be seen.

Carnegie is one of two out-of-town elevens here to furnish Gotham fans with Thanksgiving Day entertainment. Lou Andreas and his Orangemen of Syracuse also arrived in town this morning. They play Columbia as a counter attraction tomorrow afternoon.

TECH GAME ON BOARD

Several hundred Carnegie Tech gridiron fans unable to accompany the Tartan team to New York will view the Tech-New York U. game in the Yankee Stadium tomorrow in the Tech gymnasium. A scoreboard has been erected on which the progress of the game will be shown by Rollin Davis. The board also will be in operation for the Tech - Southern California game on December 14.

year, Coach Knute Rockne also keeps a careful eye on their food. Diet is an important cog in his system.

"Through the week," said Rockne in explaining that item to Frank Graham, "the players' food is about the same as that of the other students at Notre Dame. That is, a plain, well-balanced diet, plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables, rye or whole wheat bread, with meat every day except Friday.

Knute Rockne.

"ON Friday night they get a lot of sugar to generate the energy they need on the gridiron. Instead of giving them raw sugar, we give it to them in dried figs and raisins, preserved fruits, jams and what not. On Saturday morning they have steak for breakfast at 9 o'clock. At 1 o'clock they have tea and toast. Some of them are at a pretty high nervous tension about that time, and it wouldn't do to put any heavier food in their stomachs. After the game they must wait at least two hours before eating, because when a man is very tired his digestive organs do not function well. The players usually have chicken for their Saturday night dinner. On Sunday morning they have sausages and wheat cakes, with plenty of syrup. The sugar is to restore the energy they used up on Saturday."

MALCO MAKES LATE START AS BOXER

By HARRY KECK,
SPORTS EDITOR.

Here's a fine study in contrasts. Jack Zivic last Monday night lost to Tiger Joe Randall in a "comeback" stand at Motor Square Garden, failing to show the form that earned him wide fame several years ago. The end of the trail looms close at hand for him. Zivic is 26 years old.

Tom Malco

On Friday night, at the Moose Temple, Tom Malco, of Soho, makes his first appearance in a main bout. He has been boxing as an amateur and a pro for five years and now is past 25 and seemingly just on the threshold of great things. He will be carrying into the ring with him against Hans Roberts, his foe at the Moose Club, a record of 17 consecutive bouts in which he has not been defeated and the reputation of being one of the best body punchers in the district, as well as one of the most pleasing fighters.

LATE START BEST

The difference between Zivic and Malco is that Jack started in boxing as a youngster, in his mid-teens, while Malco was close to 21 before he donned a glove. When they start later they generally last longer—that is, provided they don't start in too late. Malco appears to have struck the happy medium.

In his most recent start, in the Motor Square ring Monday night of last week, Malco knocked out Joe Dinger, of New Castle, in six rounds. Other recent victims have been Jackie Murray, Jack McCarthy, Cowboy De Luca, Marty Simmons, Howard Williams, Young Penno, Georgie Kerston and Joe Corelli. In his first appearance at Motor Square Garden, last season, he won over Tiger Joe Randall in a four-round bout, and, strangely enough, it was Randall who won from Zivic last Monday night in the same ring.

Young Corsey, of Canton, O., and Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, featherweights, have been matched to box the semi-final at the Moose Club.

Between Rounds

Jules Beck, Motor Square Garden matchmaker, returned home today from a trip to Cleveland and Canton, made in an unsuccessful attempt to sign Dick Ramlee to oppose Tommy Freeman, of Erie, in the Garden's main bout next Monday night. He now has wires out for Canada Lee, of New York, and Sam Bruce, of Buffalo, as foes for Freeman. Ramlee boxes Paul Pirrone at Cleveland a week from next Monday.

Pete Zivic, local bantamweight, has been signed to box Benny Gershe in the main bout of a card of six-rounders at Cleveland December 19.

Kid Chocolate boxes Eddie O'Dowd in their postponed bout in New York tonight. Johnny Freeman meets Murrie Hicks in the windup of a show at Bradford, Pa.

Benny Bass and Joe Martinez will box the main bout at the Arena in Philadelphia next Monday night. Martinez recently boxed great bouts with both Kid Chocolate and Pete Nebo.

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, and Romeo Pacelli, of New Castle, have been signed for the main bout at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, next Monday night.

Star tackle of the Duquesne University eleven for the last four seasons, who winds up his playing career in tonight's game with Waynesburg College at Forbes Field. His home is in Beadling.

BIG BANQUET FOR MULDOON

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—The boxing world will rise on Friday night to pay homage to William Muldoon at a testimonial banquet in the Biltmore Hotel here.

The 85-year-old member of the New York Athletic Commission will be the guest of 850 friends who will pay $85 apiece for the privilege of paying their respects. Each reservation for the dinner will include a ringside seat for the bouts at Madison Square Garden where Al Singer and Pete Nebo will entertain the affluent as well as the ordinary fight fans after the feast.

Famous sport figures from all sections of the country will be grouped around the board. Following the dinner, which has been promised as "practically speechless," Muldoon will be presented with a life-sized oil painting of himself. The picture fund already totals $4,000.

West Virginia Grid Teams in Finale

WESTON, W. Va., Nov. 27.—All collegiate football teams of West Virginia will close their seasons tomorrow except Davis Elkins. The Senators play Oklahoma City in December.

Glenn Warner Visitor Here Tonight

Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, former Pitt football coach, who is now at Stanford University, will pay his respects to old friends here tonight. Warner, en route East to scout the Army in its game with Notre Dame in New York City Saturday, is scheduled to arrive shortly after 8 o'clock. He will be met by Floyd Rose and other members of his staff while here.

Warner's stay will be short. He will leave at 11 o'clock for Philadelphia to attend the Cornell-Penn game tomorrow and then will go on to New York.

The Old Fox, who threw the Pacific Coast Conference into confusion last week when his Cardinals decisively defeated the California Golden Bears in one of the major upsets of the season, plans to return to the West immediately after watching the Cadets and Rockets. Stanford will then start work in preparation for its battle with Army at Palo Alto, Cal., December 28.

WEST PENN CUP GAME TOMORROW

GAMES TOMORROW.
West Penn Cup.
Beadling at Heidelberg Eagles.
Other Games.
Monongahela All-Stars at Gallatin.
Central A. C. at Union Switch.
Lewis S. C. at Pittsburgh Rovers.

The Thanksgiving Day soccer card is nothing over which to go in a frenzy, and the fans only have one game of any account to take in for their afternoon's sport. This will be the West Penn cup tie at Heidelberg, where Beadling meets the Heidelberg Eagles in a local championship.

It only will find two junior teams doing their stuff, but plenty of hard soccer will be on tap.

Heidelberg is naturally a cup tie town, and folks go there to see the games. The fact that the club is the Eagles will not detract from the attendance. It will be in the nature of a local derby because Beadling will bring along plent of the rooting element. Beadling is another town that has played quite a part in cup tie soccer for many years, and Heidelberg Eagles will have an hectic afternoon.

At Gallatin the fans will see a benefit contest. This might be devoid of any thrills, but interesting soccer will be served. And then, it is for charity.

WEST VIEW TO BATTLE BURNS

McChesneytown at Hope Bartley Majestics.
West View at Burns A. A.
Pleasant Valley at Monessen.
Millvale Annex at Brentwood Traders.
Beltzhoover Scholastics vs. Hoover. Odds to Dopmont.

By TOM BIRKS.

Fans following the footsteps of the independent eleven who have a good record comes to watch tomorrow when Burns entertaining West View at Parnassus, McChesneytown hopes to clash with the Hope Bartley Majesties at Exposition Park over the Monongahela Valley way. Pleasant Valley visits Monessen, it appears some splendid fists are on tap.

AFTER GOOD RATING

Dick Gallagher is anxious to give Burns a good rating when the season ends and is out to stop the West View club which scored a sensational interstate victory over the Majesties last Sunday. And seeing that it is the first visit of the famous West View club up the Allegheny Valley, it is expected a record crowd will be on hand.

Fans will see two great plunging fullbacks in Roddy Cole and Sharkey. Two of the best lines in the district will be opposing each other. West View is keen to repeat its victory over the Burns club as of last season at West View Park. The game is scheduled for 2:30 and is going to be a real fight.

The fans will see a fighting Majestic machine keyed up after its stunning loss of last Sunday. This time a club of the college type, with plenty of trick plays, will be opposed to that heavy Majestic line. Manager Kennedy knows that making holes in that line is out of the question, so open field football will be the order against Andy Cutler and his mates.

WOULD STOP MACS

The Majesties want to beat McChesneytown, to have the credit of beating the only club to stop West View. The fans will see Chappie Johnson, who ran the 95 yards against West View for a touchdown, and watch his running skill against Levy. Art Rooney's wonderful ball carrier. Again, the fans will see Dwyer, possibly the best interference runner in this district who is playing a great part in Levy's success.

At Monessen the Olympics oppose the Pleasant Valley Smilers and the appearance of the North Siders in the Monongahela River section means the Mier team will be extended. The Olympics are going great and expect to finish the season without another defeat. The victory over East Pittsburgh put the boys on good terms with themselves, but they had better watch the Smilers, for Dunsky has a good ball club.

Vincent Elected Yale Grid Leader

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Yale today had upheld its custom of selecting a lineman to lead the football team.

At the annual dinner of the gridiron squad last night Francis Thomas Vincent, of Torrington, Conn., right tackle, was unanimously chosen captain of the 1930 Blue eleven. His election came as no surprise, even though he was serving his first year on the team and did not receive his Y last season.

Yale's new leader prepped at Hotchkiss and captained his freshman team at Yale.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Errett Van Nice, speedy halfback of the University of Chicago football team today has been elected captain of the 1930 football team. Van Nice had never played football until he went to college.

CHAMP LOSES

BASKETBALL RULES QUIZ

PLAY NO. 3.

Colerick, of Notre Dame, is fouled by Hildebrand of Butler while in the act of shooting for a field goal which hits the net successfully.

What is the correct ruling?

ANSWER.

The field goal counts and Colerick is given two free shots from the foul line and then the ball goes to center to be tossed up. This is one of the chief changes in the rules this season. Had Colerick missed the field goal the old rule would have applied with the ball being in play if the last free throw is missed. Under this new rule it is impossible for a player to make five points when fouled in the act of shooting for the basket. By this it is meant that he can not get a follow-up shot if he misses his second free throw, provided he made his field goal when fouled.

on by New York University and Bucknell. Besides, the triumphs scored over Lafayette and Syracuse were not the sort that tend to make one set up a cheer. The Lions beat Herb McCracken's club by three points and topped the Orangemen by two. Such stuff.

Pitt wound up hard training for the game yesterday with a brisk workout on the Stadium gridiron. State will practice there briefly this afternoon, with the Panthers working out later.

CRIMSON HOPEFUL

Thiel and Grove City are all hot and bothered over their annual battle in Greenville tomorrow. The clubs have tied for the last two years, with the Lutherans making desperate stands against the favored Grovers each time. It is the hope of Charlie Berry's eleven to batter out a decision over the fighting Lutherans.

They ought to do it—but will they?

Graham Appointed Shady Side Captain

Coach Howard Harpster, Graduate Manager of Athletics W. Don Harrison, of Pitt, and Graduate Manager of Athletics Clarence (Buddy) Overend, of Carnegie Tech, were the principal speakers at the annual football banquet of Shady Side Academy, held in the campus dining room, last night.

BOOL, PIRATE ROOKIE, LONG HITTER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

An interesting curiosity surrounds every new baseball player who reaches the majors, in this connection it is not strange that Pirate followers are anxious for something definite on Catcher Al Bool, Baltimore star, who is slated to fight it out with Rolly Hemsley for the first-string job on the 1930 club.

John O'Connell.

It will be difficult to get a line on the new receiver before the spring training season, yet some first-hand information is available through Johnny O'Connell, of Verona, who also is a member of the Buccaneer catching division.

O'Connell, it will be recalled, was loaned by the Pirates to Baltimore for several weeks near the close of the season. The native son batted very well and made a big impression with the Orioles, who probably would like to get him back, but that is another story.

A LONG HITTER

"I am of the opinion that Bool will make quite a hit in Pittsburgh," observed O'Connell. "If he catches many games you can wager that he will hit more than one ball over the leftfield wall, and he will drive them into the rightfield stands, too."

"Al is a powerful fellow," continued O'Connell. "I was with him only a short time and cannot talk with much authority, but he showed me plenty in a couple of departments—he can sock the ball for distance, and he is just about the best throwing catcher it has been my fortune to see.

HARD ON RUNNERS

"He lifted me up one afternoon with a throw. We were playing Reading and had a comfortable lead as we went into the ninth inning. Reading put a man on base, and our first baseman was instructed to leave the bag to play for the hitter. The baserunner, accordingly, had a big lead, and he thought it would be an easy matter to go down on the pitch, inasmuch as the firstsacker was not holding him. He seemed to be almost at second when Bool let fly with a wonderful throw that stopped him. That's all he had to show me in that line."

O'Connell and George Susce are two local maskmen of major-league clubs who will welcome the arrival of another season. The Oakland strong boy is employed on a job that provides plenty of exercise. O'Connell, who was a caddie at the Westmoreland Country Club, finds time to shoot a round occasionally. Few performers of the diamond could take the measure of John on the links if he were to get back to his caddie stride.

WILLIAMS UNDER KNIFE

Josh Williams, Pitt halfback, yesterday was operated on for his twisted right knee in St. Francis Hospital. The member was injured in the Nebraska game, October 19. The Mars star was reported to be resting easily this morning. The surgeons cut away the cartilage dislocated when the joint was twisted.

STATE ALUMNI REUNION TONIGHT

Penn State Alumni from the Tri-State District as well as from points as far west as Chicago will gather tonight in McCreery's dining room for what promises to be their largest annual Thanksgiving Eve smoker and reunion. For nearly 20 years it has been the custom of the alumni in this district to gather in Pittsburgh on the eve of the Pitt-State game and this year the Pittsburgh Penn State Alumni Association, a body numbering over 2,000 members, expects to have the largest Penn State alumni gathering ever held outside of State College.

A special effort has been made by the committee in charge to have all former Penn State lettermen attend the smoker this year. Pete Mauthe, former captain, will be master of ceremonies and will be assisted by his teammates who graduated at State in 1912.

HIGGINS, BEDENK SPEAKERS

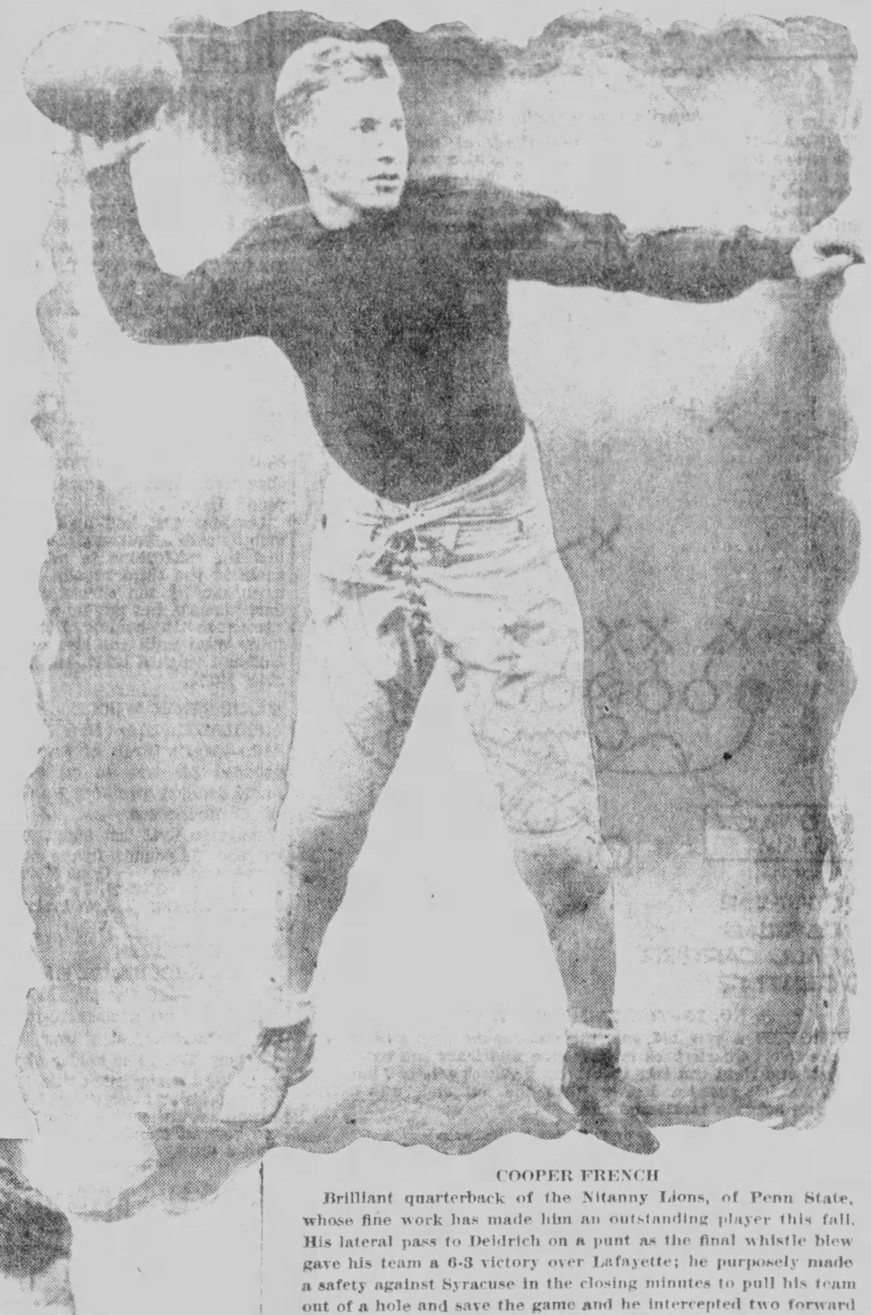
The alumni will shares the evening's program with the present student body and will act as hosts to the entire football squad. Hugo Bezdek, head of the coaching staff at State, has written the committee that the does not believe it will be possible for him to attend on account of his physical condition, but Bob Higgins and Joe Bedenk, former captains of Penn State football teams and now assistants to Bezdek, will be on hand to address the alumni and their friends.

BAND TO ENTERTAIN

There will be several acts of vaudeville as well as music by the Blue Band of Penn State.

The Pittsburgh alumni will also hold their fifth annual dance and reception tomorrow night at the Schenley Hotel. The Penn State football team is expected to be at this dance and reception.

BEZDEK AND HIS HOPE AGAINST PITT



COOPER FRENCH

Brilliant quarterback of the Nitanny Lions, of Penn State, whose fine work has made him an outstanding player this fall. His lateral pass to Deidrich on a punt as the final whistle blew gave his team a 6-3 victory over Lafayette; he purposely made a safety against Syracuse in the closing minutes to pull his team out of a hole and save the game and he intercepted two forward passes for scores against Penn, while he has been uniformly capable in other games. Bezdek looks for great things from him in the game with Pitt here.

HUGO BEZDEK

Head coach of football at Penn State College, who leads his charges against Pitt in the annual battle at The Stadium tomorrow. He has beaten Lafayette, Syracuse and Penn, among others, but lost to Bucknell, 27-6, and to New York University, 7-0.

LEAGUE GAMES TO BE PLAYED IN DUKE GYM

By JULIUS LEVIN

Negotiations for the use of Duquesne Garden's ballroom for Allegheny County League games having fallen through, the management of the Fintex team has succeeded in closing with the officials of Duquesne University for the rental of its gymnasium for all home contests this winter. As a result, the Fintex team will inaugurate its home campaign next Monday night in the Bluff gym, opposing the Charleroi Lions.

The downtown passers have signed several prominent players who should add considerable strength to the club. The Fintex squad includes Sammy Klateman, former Somerman and Y. M. H. A. star; Nate Lippe, Johnny Serbin, Bill Miller and Wy Paris, of the old Enoch Rauh Club; Harvey White, former Carnegie Tech flash; Eddie Losman and Whitey Siljander, the last-named a former all-scholastic star at Schenley High. Judging from the form shown by them in practice to date the Fintex team should be in the thick of the running for the County League title.

While little is known of the Charleroi quintet, the Magic City team is said to be one of the best ever turned out from that section. Several former collegiate and scholastic veterans are wearing the Charleroi colors and Fintex is not taking anything for granted.

Dribbles

Kingsley House will open its home West Penn League season tonight when Coach Yetter sends his passers against Kennedy's Knickerbockers on the Kingsley floor. Kingsley House lost its first game to the Schneiders last Monday.

Dr. L. G. Beinhauer, president of the first Allegheny County League, has been chosen to head the recently-organized South Side Catholic Lyceum League.

Killefer Re-elected Mission Club Head

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Wade (Red) Killefer today was re-elected president and manager of the Mission Baseball Club of the Pacific Coast League for three years and given an increase in salary. He is en route East on a quest for new talent for his club, and negotiating for the sale of several of his star players.

SPLIT SEASON FOR EASTERN

ALBANY, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Eastern League baseball owners in annual meeting here were divided on a plan to name an advisory council to function next year in place of the resigned president, Herman J. Weisman, of Waterbury, Conn. Weisman's resignation is effective at the end of the year.

Adoption of the split season for 1930, by unanimous vote, was the principal business transacted. Filling the gap left by Weisman's resignation and important decisions on most other matters were postponed until after the annual meeting of minor baseball leagues in Chattanooga, next week. A meeting in Springfield, Mass., for December 28, also was decided upon.

$10,000 Bid for Ice Star Is Refused

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Frank Patrick, manager of the Vancouver hockey club of the Pacific Coast League, announced today that he had refused an offer of $10,000 from the Windsor (Ont.) team of the International Hockey League, for Bill Phillips, crack right winger and captain of the Lions.

Patrick said he also turned down an offer from the New York Americans for Phillips, including a cash consideration and a trade in which Clarence Boucher, defense man, now a holdout, would come to Vancouver.

HOOVER PLANS DISREGARD BONUS

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—In attempting to modify the business cycle, President Hoover has set out upon a bold economic experiment.

Now that the conferences are over, it is well to visualize clearly the possible boundary lines of accomplishment. Unless this is done, the public is likely to generate extravagant hopes which are incapable of fulfillment. If the President accomplishes what he has set out to do, it will be a noteworthy achievement. It would be unfair to expect what he himself clearly recognizes is impossible.

On the negative side, the President is unconcerned with bolstering up the late lamented bull market. On the business side, the Chief Executive has no intention of trying artificially to perpetuate boom conditions. As a matter of fact, he is opposed to booms as well as to depressions. He is in favor of rational economic balance, which assures the multitudes of working people stable opportunities for uninterrupted employment.

QUICKEN BUSINESS

As an engineer, Mr. Hoover envisages construction activities, public and private, as an instrument for quickening business at a time when ordinary consumption is likely to slump. In the conferences with leading trades, Mr. Hoover has stressed the desirability of speeding up construction programs in the transitional period that lies immediately ahead. He has received pledges of co-operation. Fulfillment of such pledges will tend to offset the depressing influences, which were set loose by the terrific decline in stock values.

Mr. Hoover contends that the customary depression which usually follows speculative cataclysms need not come this time because the economic setting is unique. The main safety valve lies in the superabundance of credit, which is available for the financing of all prudent projects. Moreover, the inventories in the hands of distributors and manufacturers are neither unwieldy in size or inflated in price.

Accordingly, the President believes that the human will, intelligently directed, can modify the business cycle, and to some degree mitigate the consequences which will follow from the recent speculative debacle. Mr. Hoover hopes also that out of the emergency meetings will emerge a permanent economic council, which can act as a liason officer between government and business, and in the future meet situations while they are in the making, instead of awaiting for them to become accomplished facts.

SETS NEW FASHION

Thus far, Mr. Hoover has succeeded in setting new economic fashions, which he hopes will catch on. He has tried to make it unfashionable to cut wages, lay off men, strike for higher wages, to hold off and wait for the other fellow, and has made it fashionable for public and private institutions to initiate permanent improvements. In the past, when anarchy, rather than organized co-operation, existed in business, periods of watchful waiting followed great market breaks, and in human terms hesitation meant widespread unemployment and a reduction in purchasing power. Under the blind working out of economic forces, the prosperous hoped that by waiting they might be able to buy more advantageously, but socially the waiting program resulted in the loss of labor, a most perishable thing.

Doubtless bankers used the revival of optimism, which followed the Washington conferences, as an occasion to lighten up somewhat on their holdings of support stock acquired during the sessions of hysterical liquidation.

Well-informed investment trusts, expecting a further decline in interest rates, have been increasing rather than curtailing their commitments in bonds.

BANKERS LOSE PRESTIGE

Irrespective of the merits of the situation, bankers and security dealers have suffered a great loss of prestige with the public since October 24. If letters from readers and conversations in Pullman cars are a criterion, the public feels that bankers were guided in recent weeks only by the profit motive, and showed no sense of larger responsibility. With few exceptions, the great banking houses themselves contributed to the undigested security situation which superinduced the crash by continuing to exploit up until almost the end the public appetite for speculative stocks. Investment bankers with few exceptions, forsook their time honored traditions, and became speculative bankers. They did little or nothing to conform to the federal reserve program for placing the brakes on the bull market. Though they have by prudent conduct since saved their necks, they have lost something in public good will. It is perhaps significant that, in summoning economic groups to the White House, Mr. Hoover has overlooked, if not snubbed, the creators and distributors of securities. As a class, the commercial bankers came out a little better, for of necessity they were somewhat responsive to federal reserve leadership.

Call Money Renewal Rate For November Lowest Since April, 1928.

FURTHER relaxation in money rates experienced coincident with heavy security liquidation found reflection in an average call money renewal rate for November which was the lowest since April of 1928. The average for the month was 5.38 per cent compared with 6.355 per cent in October and 8.530 per cent in September. The average rate fixed for the renewal of standing loans in November last year was 6.578 per cent. The highest rate for day loans fixed during the current month was 6 per cent and the lowest 4½ per cent, these rates comparing with a high of 9 per cent on October 1, and a low of 5 per cent for that month in the closing days.

Wall Street did not take kindly to the contraction in revenue freight car loadings reported for the week ended November 16, last, as compared with the previous week and with the corresponding week a year ago. Such loadings showed a drop of 66,152 cars from the previous week and were 72,797 cars under the total loaded in the same week of 1928, though exceeding the corresponding week of 1927 by 15,271 cars. The falling off was partially explained as due to the fact that the week included the Armistice Day, which is observed as a holiday in many parts of the country. This reasoning, however, would not of course explain the falling off from a year ago, inasmuch as the figures for that period also covered the holiday.

FINANICAL news of the day was mixed, developments bearing on industrial activity being disappointing, while corporate items generally were favorable. Activity in the steel industry has receded further, with average operations now below 70 per cent of capacity for the first time this year, compared with 71 per cent in previous week and 83 per cent a year ago. Freight car loadings for week ended November 16 fell 66,152 cars below the previous week and 72,797 cars below the same week of 1928. This reduction appears to be considerably larger than warranted by the normal seasonal decline and probably can be attributable in large part to the fact that Armistice Day, which was included in the total, fell on Monday this year and on Sunday in 1928. Companies joining the movement toward higher dividends during the past day made an impressive list and included representative concerns of a wide range of industries.

After today's session a four-day holiday will intervene before trading is resumed. The money rate of today will carry over until Monday, and due to the feeling of tenseness still prevailing with regard to the ultimate effect of the stock collapse on general business a sustained upward movement is not looked for by those who have been correct in their analysis of market movements in the past. At best a period of dullness and much irregularity is expected by this element. They point out that even moderate weakness in the standard issues could easily produce marked weakness in isolated issues which still face forced liquidation.

THE business conduct committee of the New York Stock Exchange has notified members that it no longer requires the submission of any further reports concerning borrowings, loans and failures to deliver listed stocks. The curb market did likewise. The findings of the committee were not made public, but the committee stated that "the co-operation from members upon this subject has been gratifying."

Among the companies which is likely to profit in lean years as well as in good times is Sears, Roebuck and Company. It has been estimated that sales this year will run as high as $440,000,000, an increase of $93,000,000 over the gross business done last year. In the first 10 months, sales showed an average monthly gain of above 17 per cent over the corresponding months of a year ago. Reports are that the company will enjoy a record-breaking volume of business during the holiday season.

Pacific 'Phone to Spend Huge Sum

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—New telephone construction on the Pacific Coast, totaling more than $65,000,000, was announced for 1930 by H. D. Pillsbury, president of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

A program has been mapped for total expenditures of $333,000,000 in the next five years to meet the growth of Pacific Coast communities, Pillsbury said.

Of this amount, $100,000,000 will be spent in the company's new long distance network on the Pacific Coast, increasing wire capacity 2,000 per cent according to Pillsbury. More than $120,000,000 has been allotted for land and new buildings.

Additional Blaw-Knox Expansion Planned

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE Blaw-Knox Company is entering a period of increased expansion. The company has the largest volume of unfilled orders in its history. A comprehensive improvement program is under way both in this district and in Chicago.

Expansion is made necessary by the fact that manufacturing facilities are booked beyond capacity. The company has exceptionally good prospects for the coming year. The marked revival which is expected to take place in road work and in public building will greatly increase sales of Blaw-Knox equipment.

The company makes road building machinery, steel concrete forms, clam shell buckets and other equipment essential to the operations of road and building contractors. Cheaper money rates will release a large amount of construction work which power companies have delayed. This will help the sale of transmission towers, another Blaw-Knox product.

One eastern utility company has placed an order for $250,000 worth of towers which will be shipped within 60 days. The building of subways in New York City has stimulated the company's sales of forms and buckets.

Subsidiaries Busy

THE new subsidiaries which Blaw-Knox acquired last September have shown substantial gains in business volume. Lewis Foundry and Machine is booked for four months in advance. Its plant is being expanded.

Union Steel Castings has more than doubled its business in the past two months. Its output has been increased from 1,100 tons a month to 2,500. Officials expect to reach 3,000 tons a month within a short time.

The improvements being made at the plant at Blawknox, Pa., will cost about $250,000.

New Products

AN active market is being secured for new products. "Floor Guard" which consists of a steel grating set in concrete to prevent the wear of heavy trucks on pavements in industrial plants is selling in good volume.

A more recent product is expected to achieve a large volume next year. This is a new machine for excavating and dumping which takes the place of more expensive steam shovel equipment on small jobs. Arrangements are being made to make these both here and in Chicago.

Record Earnings

A NEW high record in earnings will be established this year. An official estimate placed net profits for 1929 at $3,700,000 after all charges. This would be equivalnt to $2.81 a share on the 1,310,738 shares of stocks now outstanding.

In 1928, the previous record year, $1,672,162 or $1.90 a share was earned on 880,270 shares outstanding at that time.

Blaw-Knox has retired all of the capital liabilities of the subsidiary companies so that its own stock represents the only claim on earnings. The current financial position has been vastly improved during the recent year. The company has current assets of about $8,700,000 against current liabilities of only $750,000.

BEYOND JUPITER'S WRATH

"The Elder Cato invested his capital in business that was safe and sure. He required his followers to form a large company; and when there were fifty partners and as many ships for his security, he took one share in the company himself. In this way his entire security was not imperiled but only a small part of it, and his profits were large."

—PLUTARCH'S LIVES.

The ancient Romans knew that the wrath of Jupiter might touch one ship, or two, and send them to the bottom of the sea—but an investment that was divided among fifty ships was safe and profitable, because only a fraction of each investor's capital was risked in any one ship.

Diversified Trustee Shares, Series C

divide what trace of risk exists among fifty widely diversified railroads, public utilities, industrials, oils and mines. Improbable as it is that disaster could come to any one of them, it becomes a practical impossibility that an investment divided among the fifty can fail to produce impressive security, marketability, income and appreciation. A certificate for five Shares, involving a small total investment—or one for thousands of Shares—places the investor's capital "beyond Jupiter's wrath."

The Decline in Security Values Suggests the Need of More Life Insurance

The recent decline in stocks will affect seriously the value of estates if owners of securities should die before the market makes a substantial recovery.

Obviously, an increase in the amount of life insurance carried—at least to the extent of the impairment—would be an act of sound business.

We suggest that you obtain from your life insurance representative the cost of the additional amount of insurance necessary to protect your estate.

Think of the YEARS THAT WERE LOST

The cost of the recent speculative debacle has been figured in billions of dollars.

But there is an ever greater loss—the loss that is reckoned in years.

Years of future health impaired by strain and worry.

No man can afford to risk his capital—the accumulated surplus which alone can provide comfort and happiness, during the years ahead, for himself and his family.

No promise of profit can compensate for the possible loss of years that cannot be replaced.

Systematic investment in sound income-producing securities offers the one sure and straight road to financial independence—to permanent comfort and happiness.

Stock Prices Rally — Local Share List Dull

STOCK RALLIES TURN LOSSES TO GAINS

Covering Helps Change Course of Pre-Holiday Market; Sales Moderate

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP.) Sharp rallying tendencies developed in today's stock market after an opening flurry of selling had carried many issues down 1 to 6 points. Most of these early declines were made up, and a wide assortment of active stocks were marked up 1 to 10 points, with larger gains in a few specialties. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume.

Short covering played an important part in the rebound of prices. The opening decline had failed to bring out any extensive liquidation of stocks, and "bear" sellers, who had accumulated substantial paper profits in the last few days, converted them into cash by buying in their stocks. The low prices established by some of the high grade dividend paying issues also attracted some investment buying, which was reflected in the increased demand for stocks through the odd lot houses.

PROMISE EXPANSIONS

The announcement that representatives of public utility corporations had informed President Hoover they would spend approximately $1,500,000,000 in improvement and expansion programs during the coming year had a cheerful effect on speculative sentiment. Another flock of increased and extra dividends was announced during the day, most of them by small industrial corporations.

Weekly steel trade reviews called attention to a further slowing up in demand, but this was attributed, in part, to the retarded recovery of the automotive industry and approaching year-end inventories.

Steel Corporation subsidiaries were reported to be operating at 68 per cent of capacity, as against 72 to 74 per cent a week ago. The F. W. Dodge Corporation also reported a falling off in construction contracts east of the Rocky Mountains in the week ended November 22, as compared with the same week last year, although the total showed a substantial gain above the previous week. The Pennsylvania Railroad announced the offering of new common stock at $50 par in the ratio of one new share for each eight shares held.

WIDE GAINS MADE

American Machine and Foundry was the spectacular individual feature, rallying from a low of 190, off 3 points, to 210¼. J. I. Case ran up 9 points, Auburn Auto B and Johns Manville, Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western, American Home Products, Calumet and Arizona, Standard Gas and Electric, Westinghouse Electric, American and Foreign Power and International Business Machines sold 4 to 6 points higher.

There were a few soft spots. Persistent liquidation of Fox Film brought about sympathetic heaviness in other amusement shares. Baldwin Locomotive also was under pressure.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Unexpected upturns in Liverpool quotations, together with larger export demand for North American wheat, led to higher prices early today on wheat future deliveries here. Cash premiums for United States wheat shipments by way of the Gulf of Mexico were stiffer. Opening at ⅛ off to ¾ up, Chicago wheat afterward continued to average higher. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, with corn starting at ¼ decline to ⅝ advance, and subsequently gaining in strength.

Wheat traders here took their cue largely at times today from unlooked for advances in wheat values at Liverpool. These advances were in turn ascribed to adverse crop reports from Argentina and to better spot demand for wheat abroad. Meanwhile, a moderately good volume of export business overnight, both from Canada and the United States gave additional encouragement to buyers.

News from various sources telling of a peculiar blight affecting wheat in Buenos Aires Province, Argentina, was generally taken here today to refer to stripe rust, which has been recognized as having developed elsewhere in Argentina. Stripe rust was described as black stem rust. However, Argentine weather today was reported to be checking increase of the rust area.

U. S. Shipping Blossoms Into New Prosperity

—By B. C. FORBES—

INDUSTRIES, like mortals — and stock markets — have their ups and downs. One important industry, long down, which is now on the up and up is shipping. Its prospects have undergone transformation.

ONE simple rule which long has guided experienced investors familiar with economic history is to accumulate common shares of leading companies in basic industries which are temporarily flat on their backs. No basic industry remains forever in the doldrums because if it does not yield living profits month after month and year after year, the weaker concerns engaged in it are driven to the wall, new capital and new competition are not attracted, and, in time, the survivors find themselves able to enjoy a rational measure of prosperity.

That old-as-the-hills law applies to basic, permanent industries, but not necessarily to industries which may spring suddenly into vogue and, after perhaps a brief dazzling period, recede into the background.

CONSIDER the history of our more notable fundamental industries.

The cotton textile industry assuredly has had its ups and downs. Since rayon became fashionable, the majority of cotton manufacturers have fared poorly, partly because they failed promptly and aggressively to adapt themselves to the change in consumers' taste and buying power.

It was Andrew Carnegie who coined the phrase, "The steel industry is either prince or pauper," meaning that it was either enjoying extreme prosperity or extreme adversity. Another old industry, oil, has been notorious for its ups and downs. It has been afflicted by disastrous overproduction during recent years, but, like the cotton industry, is at last hopeful of bringing about better conditions. Time was when our woolen manufacturing industry made fortunes for many families; it long has been unprofitable. The vast shoe industry has been no exception to the rule.

The rubber industry has alternately been either prince or pauper. For a generation or more coal mine owners waxed rich, in more recent times the coal industry has had less happy days. The far flung building industry—among the most important and many-sided of all—has had its lean years and its fat years. So with the copper industry, the lumber industry, the cement industry, the paper making industry, the packing industry, railroading, the fruit industry, the canning industry, the railway equipment industry, the sugar industry.

MOST of our newer industries have experienced drastic changes of fortune within short spaces of time. Consider the triumphs and the turmoil of the motion picture industry, of the automobile industry, of the radio industry, and of the infant aircraft industry—downs and ups, ups and downs, tragic failures and shining successes.

THE shipping industry enjoyed a phenomenal boom during the World War. Fantastic prices and rates, combined with the abnormal requirements of war, fostered production of tonnage on a scale beyond all previous imagining. The signing of peace signed the doom of the shipping boom. Since then few industries have suffered so acutely.

Now a new chapter is opening. The mortality among ships hastily built during the years 1914-1918 is necessarily very heavy now and will continue rapid until the last of the tonnage of the war era has passed from the sea.

Therefore, the world's supply of shipping must be replaced.

COMES the news from Washington that the government is ready to invite bids for 13 ocean mail routes involving the construction, within 10 years, of 40 new ships costing $250,000,000. It is stipulated that 17 keels must be laid within six months.

Mail carriers on these routes will receive $10,000,000 a year, it is announced, contrasted with $5,000,000 heretofore.

Said Postmaster General Brown:

"American mails must go on the fastest vessels afloat, and this means that we cannot give our Atlantic mails to American vessels simply because they are American vessels, but we must require that they be able to compete with the fastest vessels in service in the North Atlantic. That means, when the Leviathan has become unable to meet the increasing competition in ocean speed, that the United States must require other vessels for the route which will be as fast as any vessel on the run."

Under the Jones-White act three-quarters of the cost of new vessels for service on prescribed routes is supplied out of the governmental revolving fund.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A substantial rally set in on the curb market, carrying leading shares up 1 to 10 points, after further liquidation at the opening today. Trading remained dull, however, with interest at a low ebb, just before the four-day closing beginning with Thanksgiving. Operators for the advance, however, were encouraged by the drying up of liquidation after the first half hour, which seemed to indicate that the pre-holiday liquidation had been largely completed. Shorts hurried to cover their commitments. Renewed selling appeared before the close, however, and the extreme gains were not held.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

JUST FOR THE RECORDS

WHEN Equity opened that can of peas about snooty box office help somebody might have been thinking about the late Fergus McCusker, who used to stand behind the bars at the old Forrest Theater in Philadelphia. Ask Tommy Brotherton, of the Ziegfeld salesroom. He will agree Fergus was hard to handle.

Several seasons ago a lady stepped up to Mr. McCusker's work-bench and asked about a pair of seats for "Ben Hur."

"Two in the eighteenth row," said Fergus.

"What about tomorrow night?" said the lady.

"Eighteenth row," replied Mr McCusker.

"The night after that?" said she.

"Madam," said the treasurer, "if you are going to see this show at all, you are going to see it from the eighteenth row; my mind is made up."

AND—

DURING the run of the same opera another woman approached the box office and tried to talk business with Mr. McCusker. It seems that she couldn't get the sort of tickets she wanted and she spoke to that gentleman these lines:

"I suppose I can get good seats if I go over to the swankey Bellevue-Stratton ticker brokerage."

"Lady," said Mr. McCusker, smiling his best, "anybody who wants to see this show doesn't know where the Bellevue-Stratford is."

BY WAY OF REPORT

It now may be told LaGuardia's charge during the mayoralty campaign that Mayor James J. Walker borrowed $2,000 from the Central Park Casino was over a mistake. It appears that Jimmy didn't borrow it, at all. They returned his $2,000 when they checked up and discovered that he had only coffee and not a steak.

AFTERWARDS

And at the end your lips were cold,
Your words to me were lies;
You did not even try to hide
The boredom in your eyes.

How could I have adored you when
Your love for me was dead?
And kept on hugging to my heart
The stones you gave for bread?

—Estelle Hagedorn.

NO WONDER!

TO hear Harry Reichenbach, the toastmaster, tell it, the reason those lions didn't eat Daniel in the den is that Danny whispered to them: "After dinner you guys have to speak."

NEWSPAPERMAN STUFF

Walter Hoban's pappy, Peter J. Hoban, once was sent to Washington to see President McKinley. That was before the days of the "White House Spokesman," and Peter had no trouble crashing the executive mansion and getting his interview. After that Mr. McKinley staked Mr. Hoban to a cigar, and they gabbed a while.

It was well known that McKinley was not a rich man, and, somehow, it leaked out that Hoban was no Croesus.

With all the originality for which the Hoban family is noted, Peter made some crack to the effect that money isn't everything. He suggested that the nation had awarded Mr. McKinley the highest office in the land. "What do you want with money?" asked Peter. "What would you do if you were rich?"

To which the President of the United States answered: "Mr. Hoban, if I had a lot of money I would have a separate pair of suspenders for every pair of trousers I own."

SEPARATION A LA MODE

If you were here, or I were there,
Re-living the thrill of fond embraces,
We'd crush the specter of cold despair
Now haunting our empty places.

But you are there, and I am here,
And our lanes appear to have no turning.
Let's each get someone else. My Dear,
And cease this useless yearning!

—Harry Forwood.

CONTROVERSY

Far be it from us to turn traitor, but The Over-Seas Daily Mail (England) argues that Thomas A. Edison did not invent the incandescent lamp, and that Sir Joseph Swan did. The facts, says the British newspaper, cannot be disputed. As early as 1860 the late Sir Joseph produced a red glow in a carbon filament in an air exhausted glass bulb, and in December, 1878, he was showing perfected lamps in England. Even six months later, it goes on to assert, Mr. Edison's invention in America was admittedly in the laboratory stage.

Mr. Edison, you have the floor, sir.

INCIDENTALLY

SIR WALTER RALEIGH wasn't the first white man to use tobacco, or even to take it back to England from here, as some histories would have us believe. Raleigh hadn't even been to America when tobacco-smoking was introduced in Queen Lizzie's snooty set. It was Thomas Hariot, famous British mathematician sent by Raleigh to report upon the colonization and commercial possibilities of Virginia, who first tried the queer native habit of smoking tobacco, and enjoyed it.

Upon his return to Britain with samples, he was the first to indorse the weed, demonstrating its use. Then Raleigh took it up and subsequently popularized the habit.

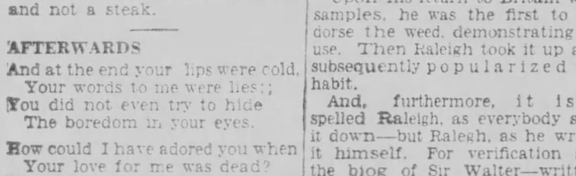
And, furthermore, it isn't spelled Raleigh, as everybody sets it down—but Raleigh, as he wrote it himself. For verification see the blog of Sir Walter—written by Martin Hume, hume ought to know.

SCHOOL BOARD OUSTER ASKED

Removal of Harry F. Davis, M. J. Thompson and P. H. Sandmeyer from office as school directors of Elizabeth Township was asked in a petition of ten taxpayers of the township filed in Common Pleas Court. Judge George V. Moore granted a rule to show cause why the petition should not be granted and fixed a hearing for December 5.

The petition alleged that Davis and Sandmeyer, without proper authority from the school directors, executed a voucher for $300 to a band and another for $135 to the Olympia Oakford Park Company. Davis and Thompson violated a provision of the school code in selling supplies to the school district, the petitioners alleged.

The petitioners were T. E. Callihan, W. H. McClure, James Paisley, Alfred Benedict, Charles F. Kretschmer, John Weigel, Theodore C. Opfer, Robert Stewart, Jr., S. L. Billick, and D. A. Heholt.



TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate" by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d." to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

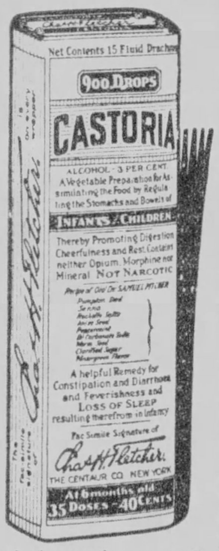
Restless Children



Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

ONE FOR OLD RUTGERS

LONDON—Lillian Foster, an American actress, slapped Hannen Swaffer, a dramatic critic, at lunch time in the Savoy Grill because she considered that his review of her play had been an attempt to "belittle" her. "I did what any other American would have done who had my spirit," says Miss Foster.

When a critic
Unpolitic—
English, too—don't like your play;
Gal, get busy
Sock him dizzy
For the good old U. S. A.

For 'twill teach him,
If you reach him

DAILY EXCERPT FOR "PALACES OF SIN"

By "COLONEL" DICK MARLE

RUTH WILLMORE was just rounding into ripe womanhood and was deeply loved by a number of honorable men. She had no desire to leave her home, consequently she had no longing to investigate "society." Ruth had read of fine city ladies, and gallant men, but her "Michigan home," with her country lovers was a "paradise" for her.

The fatal "die" had been cast, however, as her Uncle by marriage had been elected to office from the great State of New York.

Of course the Willmore family were glad to know that "Uncle Theodore" had been chosen to a seat in Congress, but none ever dreamed that his selection meant that poor Ruth was so soon to be given over to the yawning chasm of society!" And yet—

You Meet Septics in the movies!

There is a certain fastidiousness which habits of cleanliness cannot achieve alone. The person you sometimes suspect of carelessness may have bathed within the hour.

If you are a septic, soap and water will not solve the difficulty. Nor will any refreshant neutralize unpleasant vaporings of the body, or the breath for any length of time.

Nobody is septic by nature. It is a condition anyone can correct. Just a few days are sufficient to take the taint out of perspiration, and render one's breath as pure as can be, and this perfect personal cleanliness made permanent. Ask any doctor—or nurse—about Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

You may not know whether you are a septic. Try Stuart's Calcium Wafers, and see! If there is any stagnant matter in the system, everything will speedily be sweet and clean. Your skin will be less acrid; color improved; this colonic correction even brightens eyes and whitens teeth! And you will never need another draggy cathartic from the time you have learned to prevent even semi-constipation by just occasionally taking a tiny calcium wafer.

MAKE THIS TEST

A five day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for Stuart's Calcium Wafers, and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them—the test size for pocket is 10c. Or the family size, 60c.

No Paper Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day, a national holiday, there will be no editions of the Sun-Telegraph. All the news of the holiday, as well as Friday's happenings, will be told in Friday evening's issues.

The Sun-Telegraph hopes all its readers will have a happy Thanksgiving Day tomorrow!

Be Thankful Tomorrow

And Work That Next Thanksgiving May Bring Greater Thankfulness.

"Oh, that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men."

The people of this country have a special reason for thanks on this Thanksgiving Day that reminds us each year of our great good fortune and of our many possessions.

That we exist at all is a miracle.

That the climate of our earth and the temperature of our blood are regulated so that life is possible is everlasting cause for thankfulness for those that want to be alive.

We have the heat of the infernal region below our feet. Absolute zero, hundreds of degrees below freezing, is over our heads, above the atmosphere.

And we go peacefully about our business undisturbed.

Our nation is the richest and most powerful in the world. We should be thankful for that.

Millions that foolishly gambled have learned a lesson. They have been taught by the only real school, experience, that nobody gets anything for nothing.

They should be thankful for that.

Crops are good, the nation is in earnest, strong, at peace with the world and able to keep peace by making itself respected.

Every American should be thankful for that.

As a nation we want nothing that is not our own. We intend and we are able to keep what is our own.

That which is our own grows in value every day and every year. We should be thankful for that.

Above all, many of us, perhaps a majority, have not done all that we do, have wasted some opportunities and ignored others. But we have time ahead of us.

Another year and many years stretch ahead. Each day give an opportunity for useful work, for greater self respect for weaknesses overcome, for prosperity increased.

Our mistakes of our own, we are to blame for them.

And our many blessings are the gifts of generous Providence, in the world's most fortunate land. We should be thankful.

Prudence Must Be First In Shaping of Budget

Council, for the immediate future, will have before it the most important duty of the year, that of fixing the budget for 1930. It will need all of its wisdom and realization of its duty to taxpayers as well as its relation to the administration to shape appropriations in such a manner as to be satisfactory to the citizens and city department heads too. The latter, through Mayor Charles H. Kline, have sent estimates calling for the expenditure of $27,533,350. That represents a taxation of 26 mills on land and 13 mills on buildings. The increase in estimates over appropriations for the present year totals $1,938,750.

Mayor Kline, in his message accompanying the estimates, states the raise represents less than one mill, and that there could be a decrease from the amount allotted this year if the matter of increase of salaries for firemen and police, demanded by a vote of the people, and for other employes receiving small salaries, did not have to be met.

The people, of course, will stand back of Council in granting merited increase in pay, yet they will expect the city legislators to be prudent in looking after the interests of those who pay the bills. Service, of course, must be paid for. But department heads are prone to ask for more than they need rather than less. Council, of course, knows that and we feel sure that it has the courage to apply the pruning knife wherever it is necessary. If it shall be insistent that money be appropriated only for that which is absolutely essential to the proper conduct of city affairs, no taxpayer shall have reason to complain.

In short, economy is the watchword.

Death Calls Comedian

Hitchcock Leaves Behind Long Trail of Happy Memories.

It is a duller world for the passing as it was a brighter for the coming of Raymond Hitchcock, beloved comedian of the American and the international stage.

There may be others to attempt but none to perform as he performed in "Hitchy Koo," "The Yankee Consul," "Old Soak," "The Man Who Owns Broadway" and many other successes.

His was the merriment that set the theater in a roar and with laughter of such healthy, wholesome kind its echoes could be taken home and recalled in any company.

His genial mirth was of the man himself and not a thing apart. It was no merely antic disposition reserved for the footlights, but a native, natural humor as joyous in private as in public life. No painters have chosen him as subject for a study of the proverbially sad comedian.

He was sometimes sick, but never sad. Up to the very moment of the final call he was in jovial spirits and his last words were muttered in the key of kindly jest.

His friends were legion and they multiplied with every performance. They became his friends the moment it was realized that the man and the comedian were one and the same lover of life and all that love to live it.

Raymond Hitchcock has passed on, but he leaves behind a long, long trail of some of the happiest memories associated with the stage of his time. He was both light and lightness and unique in his faculty for entertaining the public.

The world owes much—much more than it sometimes acknowledges—to its great comedians. They are the lamps that lighten the dull moments of life and that dispel its gloom with their mirth and merriment. Of such noble company Raymond Hitchcock was a distinguished member.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

For Mercy's Sake

A WEEPING French jury discharged a young Englishman who had shot his own mother in Paris.

"Bugs" Baer

That's jolly good sportsmanship. But he might have given her a gun and made a duel out of it.

There has been an epidemic of this mercy business around the works this year and it's getting monotonous.

When a good Samaritan rides up on a bucking broncho we prefer to walk.

Where there is margin there is hope. There is no man living who has the power to constitute himself the final judgment unless he happens to be on a packed jury.

There have been times when sultans delivered a thousand sacks of wives on the wharfs of the Bosporus for immediate export.

There have been eras when feudal barons held the prerogative of life and death over their organized serfs.

If Humpty Dumpty wants to make an omelet of himself, let him go. But to push him off the wall is not an act of mercy.

We have been sick very often and we like sympathy. But we do not want anybody to feel sorry enough to smack us with a baseball bat.

When we get a sharp pain over the right eye we want medicine. Even if the doctor cannot cure it we don't want him to tatoo our skull with a blackjack in an effort to make the headache even all around.

Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands call for more collateral. It's getting dangerous to ask a stranger the location of a street because he is liable to shoot you because he doesn't want to see you lost in an inhospitable city.

The man who pulls a trigger ain't working for the Life Extension Bureau. If you happen to have a pain or an ache don't tell the family because the old folks are liable to go into a mercy huddle and you'll be the next guy to carry the football.

Of course a crying jury is not responsible for its verdicts. And when a jury rains in Paris, it pours. The young Englishman not only forgot to make it a contest by giving his mother a gun, but he didn't even give her a 10-yard start.

If that's mercy, we will go in for the finer things of life, such as rubbing elbows with porcupines.

We have seen many pills in many bottles but none of them were made of lead. When they start handing in a verdict of mercy with intent to kill, the furniture factories might as well start making dining room sets of electric chairs.

TOO MANY MOSES

By Herbert Kaufman

THE little birds who frequent telephone wires, and learn what's going on between mouthpieces, begin to whisper that the Senate captured a Wall street MOUSE, and not a MOUNTAIN, when Messrs. Glass, Borah, Caraway, et al., summoned Mr. Fred Kent for inquisition.

It appears that Mr. Kent is NOT the authorized oracle of finance that scareheads tend to indicate.

While still more or less related to the Bankers' Trust, he no longer wields any batons of high command, or occupies a regular seat in its supreme councils.

Neglect to so EMPHASIZE that fact is the more surprising, in view of reputed intention on his part to preface any utterances at Washington with a statement that his conclusions were those of an Emeritus Professor, rather than an ACTIVE member of the corporation faculty—the expression of independent, rather than ASSOCIATE convictions.

IN which case, his widely broadcast opinions on Federal Reserve technique, tariff blocs and political balances of power, would hardly seem to wear shoulder-straps.

And their SIGNIFICANCE should be estimated accordingly.

Considering the territorial animosities ALREADY aroused by Mr. Joseph Grundy's evaluation of the South's and West's economic importance—and in the light of the President's effort to abort any FURTHER schisms between the contributing factors to national stability, it's just as well to correct the record.

Prosperity stands no danger, except of being RUMORED to death. The times are only critical in that there are too many SELF-ELECTED Moses proposing to lead us into, instead of out of bewilderments, which chiefly exist in speculative imaginations.

TO accuse Congress of deflating security values, by legislative delay, is as arrant nonsense as to indict the money masters of deliberately slaughtering a million lambs to fatten their institutional fortunes.

The Hawley Bill was defeated because industry demanded greater privileges than its representatives were willing to grant agriculture. And the farming states, for ONCE, stood firm for constituent rights.

The intra-party splits, necessary to secure that equalization, will likely continue into the next session—unless the interim develops an administration strategist of Mark Hanna or Nelson Aldrich stature.

Meanwhile, White House conferences are daily issuing CLOUD-BROOMS to sweep the skies of gloom.

THE concerted investment programs of railroads, manufactures and the construction trades, totaling the vastest sums ever expended, in a given period, upon replacement, extension and business promotion, guarantee continuance of full-till output, general employment, sustained consumption, and forward marches in all departments of commerce.

The labor chiefs have expressed satisfaction with current wages and undertake to restrain monkey-wrench throwing.

The re-discount rate is down; cheap cash is again available for all sound ventures; and smut in the Argentine is boosting wheat prices back to liquidating quotations.

A minority has suffered severe disappointment, and fewer dollars than expectation had stowed in air-castle strong-rooms—but we're still billions AHEAD of budgeted expenditures, and the Treasury is affluent enough to afford a drastic cut on income taxes.

If provocateurs of pessimism and regional friction will kindly quit braying and let sober judgment talk, ticker tape, dividends and government will soon reflect betterments.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

I'VE been looking over the new fashions.

The "romantic mode," they call it. Have you noticed 'em? They are worth thinking about—plenty.

Long, limp, langorous lines—

Traily skirts, swooping about the ankles—

Tricky corselettes that lace in your waist line . . . or what should be your waist line—

Sloppy, loppy turbans falling away from your newly bleached complexion and your freshly plucked eyebrows, making you look like a cross between a china egg and an asparagus salad—

Everything swirly and swoony, slinky and swishy—

The romantic mode. I WONDER IF THE STYLE DESIGNERS WILL GET BY WITH IT?

If they put it across, it's going to do more than revolutionize our wardrobes . . . it's going to revolutionize our lives.

Tennis and swimming and golfing, they'll be as extinct as the dodo if we are to wear contraptions like these. All a girl can do in one of these outfits is to swoon or maybe crochet.

Here, for years and years, women have been dressing like a bunch of museum specimens—AND BLAMING IT ON THE MEN—SAYING AS HOW WE DASN'T DRESS REASONABLE BECAUSE WE WERE NOTHING BUT CHATTELS. So we went mincing and simpering around, trailing 30 yards of dry goods and all the female ailments there were.

Then at last we achieved equality—dropped our chignons and pantalettes, laced corsets and starched petticoats . . . cut out the languishing and swooning and "going off into declines" . . . and at last looked and acted human.

The last five years have been great! Women have worn the sanest clothes and done the most sensible things that they have ever worn or done since they started being civilized. They have been able to breathe and walk and run and swim and work and have babies like real human beings. They have been able to look intelligent. For at least five centuries a lady didn't dare look intelligent. She couldn't . . . and keep her hair in place. But with the advent of bobbed hair she found she could use her face—and did! Just try indulging in a good hearty laugh while wearing one of these new hats and see how you look. You look like something just coming out of ether. I know. I tried it.

Well, as I was saying, just as we were getting regular here they come with this Back To Bustles movement. And I'll tell the world that I think it's the silliest stunt I have seen in 46 mighty silly years. If women stand for this humanity should give them the razz until the judgment day.

However, I suppose the style designers will get by with it. They generally do, women being what they are. But, if they do, I hereby warn my editors I'm going to get me a nice, close fitting suit of tatto 'n' hie me out to Africa 'n' go native. For I'll be so ashamed of my sex I simply won't be able to stick around.

Text for Today

I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound: everywhere and in all things I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need. I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.—Philippians, iv:12, 13.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

FOR the web—unlike the telephone web of a city—is a double one. Any nerve contains fibers of two kinds, motor fibers, that carry impulses outwards, and sensory fibers, that bring impulses inwards. These two kinds of fiber are bound up together to form nerves, their structure is similar and the physical nature of their impulses is similar, but they differ in the direction in which the impulses travel, and in the origins, destinations and functional meanings of these impulses.

The sense-organs, the intelligence agents, in which the sensory nerve fibers end, are of many and various kinds. There are sense-organs scattered about in the muscles, in the joints and indeed in every tissue of our bodies, reporting the state of affairs there. So the central government is informed of the positions and movements of our limbs and sometimes, when there is discontent in the thorax or abdomen, it feels hunger or indigestion.

H. G. Wells

These sense-organs, which watch and report on the other tissues, may be called internal sense-organs.

Contrasting with the internal sense-organ there is a second sort of sense-organ which takes note of circumstances external to the body state.

This second group, the external sense-organs, may be further divided into two; there are some, such as the organs of feeling and taste, that report on objects and events in the immediate neighborhood of our bodies, and there are others, the organs of sight, hearing and smell, by means of which the central nervous system is informed of more distant events.

Let us consider the structure and working of a very simple contact sense-organ, a hair. Our hairs feel. If a match is pressed against one of the fine hairs on the back of the hand we feel a tickling, and that is one of the most sensitive forms of touch.

A hair is a more or less cylindrical rod of horny dead cells; it arises from and it grows by a supply of fresh cells from a "root" lying fairly deep in the skin; it runs to the surface along a special tube, the "hair-follicle," and then projects into the outer world. The tube of the follicle does not fit tight, and near where it opens to the exterior there is a little belt of branching nerve-fibers which end in swollen blobs.

Now since the hair is loose in its tube, the slightest touch or push upon it tickles these swollen blobs and at once an impulse goes off towards the nervous centers.

This impulse says nothing explicit. It is, so to speak, a rap—nothing more.

If, for example, an impulse comes along a fiber that supplies a hair-follicle, it is led to a center which interprets it as a sensation of touch, and if it comes along a fiber from the sensitive layer of the eye, it is led to another center which interprets it as a sensation of light.

A point of general interest is that if the pressure upon that very simple sense-organ the hair is sustained, the stream of messages soon dies away in the nerve. Nervous impulses generally result from a change of conditions; permanent conditions do not go on producing them. The desirability of that is evident.

The impulses traveling along the optic nerve are more like this, a dying report: "everything quiet—quiet—quiet—quiet." Lifting suddenly to an arresting announcement—"hello! something moving there on the right!"

With all the sense-organs that produce precise sensations, a constant unvarying stimulus has little effect, but a change sets the impulses storming. Our skins are meant to feel not temperature but changes in temperature.

PAIN, TEMPERATURE AND TOUCH.

If we dab about on the skin with the point of a warm pin, we find that the warmth can only be felt at scattered points; there are warm-sensitive areas with intervening areas where warmth is not perceived. Similarly with a cold pin; the sense of cold is restricted to definite areas. Now the warm-sensitive areas and the cold-sensitive do not correspond with each other.

Some points are sensitive to warmth and not to cold, some to cold and not to warmth, some to neither. Therefore there must be two distinct kinds of sense-organ, one for the warmth sensation and one for the cold sensation.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—No place is so gay in summer and drear in winter as Coney Island. Like a bear, it goes into winter hibernation in late September and has the forlorn futility of a deserted mining camp. On the depopulated streets are seen only care takers and night watchmen.

There is something eerie about the gaunt skeletons of myriad merry making devices—the loop-the-loop, the roller coaster, the spidery ferris wheel and dips of death. Acres of dead light bulbs stand like so many eyeless sockets. And always one hears the sad, monotonous pounding of the surf.

Surf avenue is, during the season, the gaudiest thoroughfare in the world. A million people drift through it on a Fourth of July holiday. But with the arrival of the melancholy days it becomes dull and coated with a thin mist—gray and ghostly.

Those little shacks devoted to ring-the-cane and prize pitch games are tightly shuttered. Candy pulling machines, pop corn ovens and mechanical drink mixers are stilled. Ghastly figures stressing social ills in wax museums are sheeted and doors are padlocked.

Merry go rounds have been shorn of their brightly glided chargers and mechanical orchestras are swathed in tarpaulin. Freak show banners, faded and whipped by wind and rain, are flopping strips. Left over dogs roam in packs and howl at night.

Hundreds of "grease joints," or hot dog stands, are stark in emptiness. Cooch show platforms are piled high in front of Steeplechase. The concessionaires, like birds, have winged to warmer climes to await the reopening of the showman's paradise.

Nearly all the tiny bungalows are closed, although there are a sprinkling of faithful followers who remain in Coney in all seasons. Some of these are the museum "exhibits" who do not care to travel and who find Coney a pleasant cloister during the off season. * * *

In the past year, eight badly wanted fugitives have been tapped on the shoulder by detectives while writing messages at telegraph office counters. In all crime haunts a close check up is made of such places. Nearly always the guilty will send cryptic messages to associates for funds.

Three of the new types of Broadway bad men, tabloided as "holding gangland in terror," were pointed out recently. They were as sartorially brisk as a super bond salesman and one could not help but notice their carefully manicured hands. And I wonder what Bat Masterson would think!

* * *

The new "bad men" often come from not only prosaic but respectable callings. The fabled easy money breaks down their moral stamina. They are willing to chance the inevitable end—prison or assassination—for a dip into quick profits.

I am told reliably that a certain rich New Yorker has what he calls a "jewelry valet." His duties are concerned solely in keeping his various watches wound and in order, selecting scarf pins, shirt studs, cuff links, cigaret cases and pocket lighters. This, along with the Park avenue lady who has three chauffeurs on daily duty and two at night, offers a new high in luxury.

And I wonder if there are others who study the desserts on a French menu carefully and then invariably order vanilla ice cream. * * *

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

BECAUSE your stenographer may be past the age of greatest attractiveness do you make a visible difference in your treatment of her in comparison to the younger and prettier girls in your department?

To treat her like a piece of office furniture because she is plain or old is not very considerate. She is entitled to respect and is probably far more competent than the younger and better looking girls who are your helpers.

Perhaps she has served you well and capably for several years.

She is a sort of habit with you, to which you are mechanically polite.

The fact that you have been a hard boss may be the reason for many of the wrinkles in her face and the silver threads in her hair.

But you do not give any thought to these facts. You wish she were as attractive as some of these other women. You make no effort to conceal the fact that she is not as pleasing to you as the other typists.

Efficiency, not attractiveness should be your standard.

How do you estimate value in your office?
